Prime Minister Meets Cabinet Members and Authorities From Ireland

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Prime Minister Lloyd George today held conversations with members of his cabinet, and civil and military authorities in Ireland, relative to the situation which has arisen as a result of thfe latest note to the British government from Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader. The prime minister met his colleagues at Inverness, near Gairloch, Scotland, where he has been spending a brief vacation. It was believed the Irish situation would be talked over preliminary to the meeting of the cabinet at Inverness tomorrow.

Although London newspaper continued today to counsel patience and forebearance in dealing with the Irish question, there were certain indications that the Irish controversy had virtually reached a crisis, and that tomorrow's meeting of the British ministry might prove historic. There were many who believed that Mr. de Valera and his colleagues at Dub-

STOREKEEPERS IN POLICE COURT

Lowell Men Are Charged With Violation of State Prohibition Laws

Four More Warrants Sworn Out and More Arrests Are Predicted

The names of three defendants were called in the district court this morning on charges of violating the state prohibition laws, and four more arrests are officially predicted, as the result of week-end activities on the part of the new, enlarged liquor squad. Paul J. Kokolias was fined $100 for unlawful sale. A bottle of Jamaica ginger was purchased at his Moody street variety store Saturday night by the officers. The case of Simon Harrigan was continued to September 8. It is alleged that he also sold "jakie" at his Bridge street store. William Allard, who the officers claim sold a half pint of moonshine Saturday night at a dwelling on Marshall street, failed to appear. A relative offered a doctor's certificate to the effect that the defendant was ill and would be unable to leave his bed for several days. Judge Enright, however, ruled that the certificate was not valid as it had not been sworn to, nor did it specify the cause of illness. Allard was therefore defaulted, but it was explained that the physician by making out a properly worded and sworn certificate might have the default removed.

Warrants will be sworn out against four additional local residents, in connection with the week-end work of the liquor force, declared Sergeant Michael H. Winn, head of the squad, this morning. Some time before the end of the week arrests will follow, he stated. One of the defendants will be haled before the court as the result of a visit to a local near beer saloon, according to Winn, who also said that the other three alleged offences involved unlawful liquor dealings in private residences.

NEW U.S. NOTE ON MANDATES

Government Has Addressed Communication to All the Allied Powers

Understood to Refer to Classes A and B as Administered Under League

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The United States government has addressed a new note to all allied powers on the subject of mandated territories. Official announcement that the note had been dispatched last week was made today at the state department.

The note was described as covering in full the question of mandates although department officials declined to discuss its contents until they had received assurances it had reached the various governments to which it had been sent. Replies were expected within 24 hours, officials said, and arrangements were being made for the publication of the document within that time.

The communication was understood to refer specifically to class A and B mandates as administered under the League of Nations and to reiterate the position of the United States government with regard to rights to mandated territories.

WAS STRUCK BY POLICE CHIEF'S AUTO

Anthony Duke, aged 25 years and residing at 24 Wall street, is confined to St. John's hospital, suffering from a fracture of the collar bone and other minor injuries as a result of being struck by an automobile operated by Supt. Redmond Welch of the local police department yesterday morning. The accident occurred at the corner of East Merrimack and Davidson streets at about 10 o'clock. The superintendent claims that Duke, who was riding a bicycle, turned into Davidson street from East Merrimack street without giving the proper signal and that the collision was unavoidable. Duke's condition is not considered serious.

FIELD DAY AT SPALDING PARK

American Association For Recognition of Irish Republic Holds Big Event

Stirring Address by Sister-in-Law of Late Lord Mayor of Cork

Big Parade Starting From South Common Was Feature of the Day

The field day at Spalding park yesterday, held under the auspices of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, was a magnificent success. The feature of the occasion was the stirring address of Miss Anna Walsh, sister-in-law of the late Lord Mayor MacCurtain of Cork. It is really wonderful to hear the eloquence of the Irish girls who come here to plead the cause of their country's freedom. Miss Walsh did not make any attempt at oratory but she alternately moved her audience to tears and the highest pitch of enthusiasm by her recital of the sad events of the recent warfare and the heroism of all the people, men, women and children. The parade starting from the South common at 10.30

MISS ANNA WALSH

PROBATION OFFICER

Local Newspaper Man Will Succeed Edw. F. Slattery

Joseph L. Cronin, a local newspaper man, has been appointed probation officer for the local district court to succeed Edward F. Slattery, who will retire Oct. 1. Mr. Cronin's appointment was made by Judge Thos. J. Enright of the district court and it is expected the new appointee will assume his new duties Oct. 1.

Mr. Slattery has been probation officer for the local court for a great many years, and although he is still enjoying the best of health and still able to perform the duties which the office requires he is forced to retire on pension by a state law, which provides that all county employes must retire on pension after having attained the age of 70 years.

Mr. Cronin, the new probation officer, has been employed by the Courier-Citizen as police and district court reporter for a great many years. He is married and is making his home at 445 High street. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus and several other fraternal and social organizations.

MISS BUTLER IN HYSTERICS

Attempts to Reach Prisoner, Accused of Assaulting Her, During Hearing

Demonstration Comes as Girl Testifies of Attack Made by Three Negroes

BARNSTABLE, Sept. 6.—Miss Gertrude Butler, who charges that she was assaulted by three Cape Verde negroes while returning from a dance at Buzzard's Bay, about three weeks ago, became hysterical today, while testifying at a hearing in the case of Joseph Andrews, one of her alleged assailants. She made an effort to reach the prisoner but was restrained by court attendants. She was removed from the room with some difficulty.

She was repeating her story of the attack on herself and her escort, William Eldredge, when she made the demonstration. Eldredge followed as witness. They had told their story in court previously last week, when John Dies and Benjamin Gomez, two other negroes alleged to have been concerned in the attack, were held for the grand jury.

GET DIRECT SENTENCES

Alleged Drunken Operators of Motor Vehicles Sentenced in District Court

Two alleged drunken operators of motor vehicles were sentenced to jail in the district court this morning by Judge Thomas J. Enright, as a part of the latter's campaign against this form of offence. Joseph Corbin pleaded not guilty. Officer Clyde Aldrich told of arresting the defendant at Smith and Westford streets after the latter had stalled his car. On August 15 Corbin was arrested for drunkenness and released. Two months in the house of correction was the sentence. On an appeal Corbin was held in bonds of $200. George Bristol stalled his motorcycle on First street Sunday evening, testified Officer Hamilton. When the officer went to the spot, he stated he found a bottle of moonshine in the sidecar. Bristol drew two months, and also appealed. Bonds were in the sum of $200.

Saro Risorta was fined $10 for operating an auto on Central street without a license. He stalled his car three times, thus attracting the attention of the arresting officer. He explained to the court that he was practicing so he could get a license. William F. Adie, charged with the same offence, had his case filed because of the fact that he is the sole support of his mother.

o'clock, was a feature of the day. It was led by a platoon of police under command of Sergt. Frawley and Chief Marshal Thomas Delehanty, with whom were Stephen Flynn and Michael Sharkey, prominent workers in the movement. The Irish Pipers' band of Worcester also at the head of procession played inspiring airs including the leading Irish marches such as "Garryowen," "The Wearing of the Green," "The Soldiers' Song" and others now popular in Ireland. The band was under the leadership of Christopher O'Leary and John A. Larkin, state director from the fourth congressional district and Michael Fleming, a newspaperman of Worcester, accompanied the musicians. There was a program of field sports that interested the young people in particular including as it did a football game between the St. Enda's of Lowell and the Tipperary team of Boston. The latter is a leader of the Gaelic Athletic league of Massachusetts. The contest ended in a tie between the two teams.

Over 500 members of the different councils under their respective officers marched in the parade carrying American flags and banners properly inscribed advocating the purchase of American goods in preference to those imported. Arriving at Spalding park the crowd found many midway features conducted by the different councils of the A.A.R.I.R. and these did a thriving business during the entire day.

Miss Walsh started her address in Gaelic and then spoke in English. She declared that the Irish people will suffer extermination rather than accept any halfway modicum of settlement that would leave the main question still unsettled. It is now death or freedom.

Miss Walsh arrived from Boston shortly after 3 o'clock and after addressing the crowd had to rush back to the Boston common, where she also addressed another audience. Accompanell central board of Lowell, who after O'Brien of Chicago, and Miss Nora Cryan and Mrs. John J. Clowrey of this city.

The big meeting was opened by John Barrett, president of the O'Connell central board of Lowel, who after a brief message of hope introduced James O'Sullivan as the presiding officer.

Mr. O'Sullivan discussed the dominion status offered by Lloyd George and said it is not what the people want and it falls short of the dominion government as applied in Canada. He then presented Miss Walsh. d

"I don't want to tell you of all the raids" she continued "but I want to speak of one. After several raids we moved to my sister's, Mrs. MacCurtain's and I was there when Thomas was elected alderman. In the shouting and cheering that night I wept, for I did not know on what mountainside he was sleeping. Two weeks later, on the 20th of March, we knew he was elected lord mayor by the processions of drums and pipers going by his window and I felt that would mean his end.

"A night soon after when he stole home, 246 men with blackened faces surrounded our home. There were 246 paid murderers to get one Irish volunteer. My sister thought it was the customary raid and as she opened the door for them nine fiends rushed by her. I heard them say, 'Hold that one anyway and soon after I heard them say, 'Come out MacCurtain.' My sister appealed to one of them if he had any mother. In her delicate condition that night they killed not only MacCurtain but his two children who were born dead. The other five children were screaming in terror upstairs.

"I heard the shot from my room and from the groaning in the landing I knew that they had shot the lord mayor. His wife came up after they let her go and she said, 'Cheer up, Tom boy, you are dying for Ireland. A smile came over his pallid face and as his life's blood ran over my night clothes he looked up and said 'Unto thy hands O Lord I commend my spirit' and another soul went forth to join the gallant band of 1916. Now another procession goes by his door but this time the silence is only broken by the sobs of the women and by the muffled drums playing, "Wrap the Green Flag Round Me," as they bore his body to the republican plot.

"I stood at his graveside as I heard Terence MacSwiney's farewell words and soon after I visited the graveside again and saw not only the grave of Thomas MacCurtain but that of Terence MacSwiney, his lifelong friend and succeeding lord mayor. The plot was nearly empty then but it is full now. I tell you all this merely to bring it properly before your mind and to make an effort to have you prevent it if it should be threatened again. Our martyrs are calling to us not to give in and you can bring victory in a short time without you shedding a drop of blood. Impress the need of recognition upon your congressman and senators. There can be no peace until there is a withdrawal of these troops."

"The recognition of the republic which was baptised with the blood of the martyrs of 1916 is what we desire," continued the speaker, "and it is upon that we will insist when any plenipotentiaries meet the representatives of England again, and it is for the supporters in America to get busy and hasten that recognition as soon as possible before more innocent blood will be spent by the drunken ruffians of England who roam through the country at will.

"We want peace in Ireland but we want a just peace, and if hostilities are again resumed every rivulet in the boreens and every road in the land will flow red with the blood of our patriots before we give in. We have pledged ourselves to Ireland's cause and we will not surrender until every man, woman and child is exterminated. It is death before disgrace."

The speaker aroused her audience to great enthusiasm by the recital of Ireland's struggle and what the people are suffering in their fight for freedom.

After a graceful response to the applause with which she was received Miss Walsh made brief remarks in Gaelic and changing to English said.

"I have heard a great many people say that Ireland has been made a splendid offer and that she should accept it. They tell us we have the same privilege as that enjoyed by Canada but we have not. Under that offer we would not have the right of secession enjoyed by Canada and Australia and surely we do not want that. Anyway we are not fighting for home rule. If we accepted it we would be bound to the British empire forever. We cannot secede from the British empire because we never became a part of it and are not going to become a part of it now. England came to our shores as an invader and in repelling that invader our people have handed down the fight to us.

"We cannot hand down that fight to posterity now. It must be finished for good. When the last man is gone in Ireland the women are ready to take their places and when they are gone too, then the children of Ireland will be ready. The children are learning sad lessons today. They are learning the lessons of reprisals and funerals, lessons that will linger in their hearts and that will enlarge as they grow older. Ireland is fighting this fight alone and the world looks on, and if Ireland has to fight again she will be ready to fight even if alone, and ready to go down in glory rather than surrender their nationhood.

"We are not asking America to establish a republic of Ireland. We have done that ourselves. It was baptized with the blood of the Irish martyrs of 1916. All we ask of America is to recognize that republic without military interference of any kind. I have not come to beg to America. I have come to remind her what she owes to Ireland. When America wanted recognition herself she sent Benjamin Franklin to our people and we not merely gave our sympathy, but we gave our practical sympathy in the way of bread and blood."

Miss Walsh then told of the terrible sufferings of the Irish people during the past five years, dealing with the heroic efforts of the Irish republican army, the men and boys who laid down their lives willingly for the cause of freedom and the patient and heroic women who in silence endured the terrible suspense. She paid a tender tribute to the noble spirits like Patrick Pearce, the first president of the Irish republic and the others who had suffered martyrdom in order that Ireland might take her place among the nations of the earth.

Miss Walsh recited some of the terrible incidents of the recent struggle under the raids and the atrocities of the Black and Tans. Practically everyone in the vast audience was moved to tears as she told of the raids and the murders under cover of darkness and the protection of the curfew law. Her own house, she said, was raided 20 times and for six months her family slept with heavy coats ready to run out at a moment's notice.

At the conclusion of her address Miss Walsh was presented a beautiful string of pearl beads, the gift of the women engaged in the movement. Miss Nora Cryan made the presentation to which Miss Walsh made an appropriate response.

Mr. Luke Shields of Boston made a fine address, urging the wisdom of buying American made goods in preference to imported in order that there may be a greater demand for domestic work for the thousands of unemployed who are walking the streets of American cities today unable to find employment.

Mr. Michael J. Sharkey, on behalf of the committee presented a set of resolutions which urged the recognition of the Irish republic by the United States and the support of the Irish cause until complete independence has been secured.

THE SPORTS AND BOOTHS

The football game between the St. Enda's of Lowell and the Tipperary team of Boston provided a lot of amusement and excitement for an hour or more. The play somewhat resembles that of soccer and it furnishes an abundance of thrills for both spectators and players. Many of the assembled thousands had never seen a game of Gaelic football before and they enjoyed it to the full. The game was divided into two periods of half an hour's duration and at the end of the last half the score was tied. Both sides were well satisfied, for although there was a lot of friendly rivalry in evidence the two teams were about evenly matched and the outcome was satisfactory to the crowd.

The winners of the other field events were as follows: 100 yard dash, Simon Dean, first; John Flynn, second; 220 yard race, first, John Flynn and Simon Dean, second; Margaret O'Connor and Evelyn Purcell, second; hop, step and jump, first, James Andromedas, and Mr. Cote, second; fat man's race first Timothy Reardon and second, James Clancy; half mile race, first, James Crowe and second, Patrick Mullane; five mile marathon, won by "Billy" Salmon and second, John Sousa.

The councils in charge of the various booths and stands are as follows: Oliver Plunkett council of St. Peter's parish, dolls and candy, Mr. McInerney; George Washington council, of the Sacred Heart, baskets, Mr. Brennan; Paul Kiltredge council of the Immaculate Conception, sandwiches and coffee, Mr. Kane; General Guiney council of St. Michael's, silverware; Nathan Hale council of St. Patrick's, ice cream and cake; Lafayette council of St. Columba's, tonic; Gen. Shields council, of Chelmsford Centre, fish pond and balloons; St. Margaret's blankets.

SAYS IT SAVED HER FROU OPERATION

LUDLOW WOMAN GAINS 12 POUNDS AND SAYS SHE HASN'T A TRACE OF FORMER TROUBLE

"I firmly believe Tanlac has saved me from an operation," said Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, 58 Windsor street, Ludlow, Mass.

"About five years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach. I kept trying to find relief, always with disappointing results, and finally I was told I had cancer of the stomach, and that I should go to a hospital and have an operation. But I had such a horror of the operating table that I just worried along, suffering awfully, and hardly hoping to ever be well again. I was so run down that often for two or three days at a time I couldn't do a bit of my housework, and just a few steps walking would tire me out completely. I had no appetite, nothing tasted good or agreed with me, and I couldn't sleep well. At times I had indigestion so bad I could hardly stand it, and my kidneys bothered me a great deal, too.

"Some of my friends told me about Tanlac, and it certainly has proved a godsend to me. Why, besides getting rid of all my suffering, I've actually gained twelve pounds in weight, and am eating and sleeping good just like I did years ago. I feel so well I go about my housework singing, and I can't help but praise Tanlac every chance I get."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

An entertaining combination of mystery and fun is "D.D.H.," the headline attraction at B. F. Keith's theatre this week and judging from the big reception it received at yesterday's two performances it should meet with great success for the rest of thhe week.

To disclose just what "D. D. H." is here would mean less pleasure for those who intend to see it during the week. It isn't a ouija board, nor a talking machine, nor a picture nor an animal. However, it is a perfect haven of fun and mirth. It's unusual—so unusual that it rightfully is awarded first place on the week's bill of attractions.

An Irish act that touches the high spots of prettiness and melody is that presented by Robert Reilly, "the immaculate Irish gentleman," supported by Molly Kennedy and Little Larry. Reilly sings the sweet songs of Erin in a manner all his own and in costumes of the long ago he tells a pretty love story with a waltz melody running through it. Miss Kennedy, one of his assistants is very sweet to look upon and Larry, his boy partner, is a capable youth. The trio make a capable team.

Jean McCoy and Ralph Walton in their comedy skit "A Few Minutes With Ouija," have an out-of-the-ordinary act full of fun, much of it of the slapstick variety. Their repartee is good and every now and then is emphasized by a vigorous slap. The act isn't exactly a boxing match, but some of the blows struck would do credit to the gentlemen of the ring.

"Once a Thief" is a playlet that starts off with seemingly serious intent, but winds up in rollicking comedy. Thomas P. Jackson plays the leading role and gives his lines with the skill of a veteran. Miss Jean Russell makes an excellent partner.

Lowe, Feeley & Stella, two girls and a man, have a singing, dancing and general comedy act. The Airplane Girls open the bill with clever trapeze work and the Garcinetti brothers are novelty hat throwers.

One of the features of the Pathe News pictures this week is the appearance of "Roundy" Roane, the Lowell boy who is travelling in France with the American Legion delegation. Roane is shown in a group of legionaires who are unveiling a statue. Topics of the Day and a travelogue complete the bill.

STRAND THEATRE

Three good numbers constitute the program at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. They are "The Heart of Maryland," with Catherine Calvert in the title role, "The Beautiful Gambler" featuring Grace Darmond in the leading part, and "The Goat" a Buster Keaton comedy. In addition, there are interesting pictures of current events as well as enjoyable musical numbers.

"The Heart of Maryland" is the story of a young woman who is engaged to an officer in the federal army. When the Civil war breaks out, the young officer is forced to fight against his father, who is a general in the confederate army. The story develops a little romance, which is carried on very cleverly.

"The Beautiful Gambler" is a western play of great merit. It shows the contrast between the west and the east and of course, as in all other plays, it features a love story which has all the vigor and action that one could possibly desire. Buster Keaton in "The Goat," a new contribution is a genuine laugh provoker. This is a snappy number and one that will surely please lovers of good comedy. The other numbers are also very enjoyable.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

For Paramount week the Merrimack Square theatre management has arranged a program of exceptional merit and of more than average quality of entertainment, judging from the offerings which were shown to large crowds on the holiday. Two of Paramount's stars most popular in Lowell, Ethel Clayton and Elsie Ferguson, are introduced in vehicles particularly adapted to their abilities. Miss Clayton is starred in "Wealth," a dramatic story of modern life that made an intense appeal, while Miss Ferguson is seen in "Footlights," a story of the stage that leaves the usual stereotyped path traveled by most stories of the theatre.

The story of "Wealth" has to do with Mary McLeod, a young artist, who goes to a cabaret to seek a type for a drawing of "Wild Women." There she is attracted by Philip Dominick, a dashing young millionaire whose exploits are daring. Some weeks later, Mary is aboard a train en route home. She discovers her pocketbook has been left behind. Dominick represents himself to the conductor as her brother and she takes his drawing room for the night while Philip retires to the smoking car. A romance develops, ending in marriage. Philip's mother, upon whom he is dependent for money, defeats the match, determines to break

ANOTHER DARING STUNT

Immense Crowd Sees Human Fly Scamper Up Side of Chalifoux Building

Attracted by the startling feats which Sergeant George E. Polley, the human fly, performed Friday evening in scaling the Sun building, an immense crowd began to gather yesterday morning in anticipation of his climb of the Chalifoux building, which was scheduled for noon and came off according to plans. The famous "artist of the impossible" successfully negotiated the dangerous walls of the structure, made doubly hazardous by the elaborate ornamentation, and reached the top in quick time. To top things off, Polly treated the gasping spectators to the sight of a man unconcernedly riding a bicycle along the very edge of the roof, with but the fraction of an inch at times between him and death on the pavement below.

Two hours prior to the time set for the feat, people had begun to assemble in Merrimack square. Gradually the crowd grew more dense, and when the various city clocks chimed the hour of noon, one solidly packed mass of humanity extended in every direction. Promptly on time, as is his commendable custom, Sergeant Polley appeared upon a window sill of the building preparatory to his task. He addressed the crowd briefly, and then descended to the street, from which he started to mount. When he had gotten well under way, it was discovered by his manager, Llew Davis, that an infant in a baby carriage had been for some mysterious reason left temporarily by its mother on the sidewalk directly beneath the point at which Polley was then climbing. The child and its carriage were placed in a nearby doorway, but when another start was about to be made, the parent of the baby appeared and emitted a cry which caused the spectators, already under nigh nervous tension, to jump. She had discovered that the child was not where it had been put. She was soon reassured, however, and Polley continued his ascent.

THE HUMAN FLY ON FLAG POLE

Varying the climb with hair-raising frills such as pretended falls, the daredevil sergeant finally attained the fourth floor, where for a time he seemed to be in difficulty. A far-projecting cornice barred his path upwards, and several attempts were required before a supreme effort enabled him to get his leg over the cornice. There was a great deal of applause for this surprising feature of the exhibition, as many no doubt thought that Polley would be unable to pass this cornice, which appeared too much for any man, however amazing. At the edge of the roof, however, an even more seemingly impossible task was awaiting the famous war vet. The edge of the roof came out for a distance of several feet above Polley's head. Many attempts to lean out and grasp the edge proved fruitless. Then, to the astonishment of the watchers, Polley launched himself into the air, and seized the edge, hanging there at arm's length with nothing between him and the sidewalk far below. Now he was holding on with a single arm, while his legs dangled over space. But the usual thing happened. Polley took hold of the edge with both hands, tensed his muscles, swung his body to and fro, and finally threw a leg over the edge and a moment later stood safe and sound on the roof. The bicycle ride followed. Polley seemed quite calm as he pedalled along, but the hearts of all others were in their mouths. The only real peril he encountered, Polley said afterwards, was at one point where his fingers became caught in the cornice ornamentation. His legs were becoming cramped as he vainly sought to free them. He at last succeeded in doing this in the nick of time. "That's the only time there was any danger," according to Polley; but those who saw him were inclined to the opinion that if they were attempting the stunt they would sort of feel somewhat in danger throughout the feat.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS REOPEN MONDAY

Announcement of the re-opening of the parochial schools next Monday, September 12, was made in a number of the local Catholic churches Sunday. Parents were warned that they must present the baptismal certificates of children who are to enter school for the first time this fall.

It was announced at the Sacred Heart church that enrolment for the university extension classes to be held during the fall and winter months in the parochial school hall would be held next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Classes will be formed in elementary arithmetic, accounting, English, foods and nutrition and dressmaking if the registration warrants it.

Members of various societies received communion in the Catholic churches and there was a large attendance at all the masses.

ALLEGED DISTURBERS HELD FOR HEARING

The aftermath of the fracas Saturday night aboard a Lakeview one-man car came up in court this morning when William McLaughlin, William J. Hanlon and Edward T. McKenna appeared as defendants. McKenna and Hanlon were charged with larceny, assault and battery, and drunkenness while the last of these three charges was lodged against McLaughlin. It is alleged that James P. Ryan, motorman of the car, was assailed, and $11 that he dropped during the excitement was taken. Each of the trio was held for a hearing September 13.

LOWELL OFFICERS AT HAMPTON BEACH

Officer Alfred J. Cooney of the local vice squad, and Officer Patrick H. Clark, left this city Sunday for Hampton beach, where they will remain on special duty during the carnival which is being held there this week. The authorities of the resort made special request for the services of the two local officers, because of their wide experience in work in the suppression of vice and illicit booze dealings. The police department here found it possible to release the two officers for this duty.

Ultimatum to Irish Hinted

lin would be given a certain limited time in which they could either accept or reject the British government's offer of Dominion status for Ireland as a basis for a settlement of the ancient controversy.

A party of American tourists has sent anonymously to the premier and the cabinet a box of cigars. Accompanying the cigars was a note of personal esteem and of appreciation of Prime Minister Lloyd George's efforts to "settle the age-long Irish problem." Hope was expressed that "Ireland and Great Britain might soon smoke together the pipe of peace."

De Valera's Reply

The Irish republican reply, which was given out yesterday, says the differences between Great Britain and Ireland can only be reconciled on the principle of government by consent of the governed and on this basis we are ready at once to appoint plenipotentiaries." The communication reads:

"We, too, are convinced it is essential that some definite and immediate progress should be made toward a basis upon which further negotiations can usefully proceed, and recognize the futility of 'a mere exchange' of argumentative notes. I shall therefore refrain from commenting on the fallacious historical references in your last communication. The present is the reality with which we have to deal.

"The conditions of today are resultant of the past. Accurately summing up and giving in simplest form the essential data of the problem these data are:

"First: The people of Ireland, acknowledging no voluntary union with Great Britain and claiming as their fundamental and natural right to choose freely for themselves the path they shall take to realize their national destiny, have, by an overwhelming majority, declared for independence and set up a republic and more than once have confirmed their choice.

"Second: Great Britain, on the other hand, acts as though Ireland were bound to her by a contract of union that forbids separation.

"The circumstances of the supposed contract are notorious. Yet, on the theory of its validity, the British government and parliament claimed to rule and legislate for Ireland, even to the point of partitioning Irish territory against the will of the Irish people and killing or casting into prison every Irish citizen who refuses allegiance. The proposals your government submitted in the draft of July 20 are based fundamentally on the latter premises. We rejected these proposals and our rejection is irrevocable. They are not an invitation to Ireland to enter into a free and willing partnership with the free nations of the British commonwealth. They are an invitation to Ireland to enter in the guise of and under conditions which determine a status definitely inferior to that of these free states.

"Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand are all guaranteed against domination of the major state, not only by acknowledged constitutional rights which give them equality of status with Great Britain and absolute freedom from the control of the British parliament, but by the thousands of miles which separate them from Great Britain. Ireland would have guarantees neither of distance nor of right. The conditions sought to be imposed would divide her into two artificial states, each destructive of the other's influence in any common council, and both subject to military, naval and economic control by the British government.

"The main historical and geographical facts are not in dispute, but your government insists on viewing them from your standpoint and we must be allowed to view them from ours. The history you interpret as dictating union we read as dictating separation. Our interpretation of the fact of 'geographical propinquity' is no less diametrically opposed. We are convinced that ours is the true and just interpretation and as proof are willing that a neutral and impartial arbitrator should be the judge. You refuse and threaten to give effect to your view by force. Our reply must be that if you adopt that course we can only desist as generations before us have resisted. Force will not solve the problem and it will never secure the ultimate victory over reason and right.

"If you again resort to force, and if victory be not on the side of justice, the problem that confronts us will confront our successors. The fact that for 750 years the problem has resisted solution by force is evidence and warning sufficient. It is true wisdom, therefore and true statesmanship, not only false idealism, that prompts me and my colleagues. Threats of force must be set aside. They must be set aside from the beginning as well as during actual conduct of the negotiations.

"The respective plenipotentiaries must meet untrammelled by any conditions save the facts themselves, and must be prepared to reconcile subsequent differences, not by appeals to force, covert or open, but by reference to some guiding principle of government by consent of the governed, and do not mean it as a mere phrase. It is a simple expression of the test to which any proposed solution must respond if it is to prove adequate, and it can be used as the criterion for the details as well as for the whole. That you claim it is a peculiarly British principle, instituted by the British and now the very life of the British commonwealth should make it peculiarly acceptable to you.

"On this basis, and this only, we see hope of reconciling the considerations which must govern the attitude of Great Britain's representatives with the consideration that must govern the attitude of Ireland's representatives and on this basis we are ready at once to appoint plenipotentiaries."

Arms For Unionists

BELFAST, Sept. 6—Unionists employed by a large concern near the scene of the recent rioting in this city held a meeting last night and were given arms with which to protect themselves if attacked. Routes were indicated to the men with the advice that they should use them for reaching and leaving their place of employment. It was declared that the meeting was a sequel of the speech of Owen O'Duffy at Armagh on Sunday, in which Mr. O'Duffy declared the boycott against Ulsted would be tightened by the Sinn Fein and if that was unsuccessful in bringing Ulster into a united Ireland, "we will bring lead against them."

Charles Harvey, wounded during the rioting of last week, died this morning. He was the 19th victim of the disorders.

WHY YOU NEED IRON—

To make you strong and "brainy" and put the power into your blood to overcome disease germs

PRACTICAL ADVICE ON HOW TO DEVELOP GREAT ENERGY AND ENDURANCE

The food you eat contains carbon. When your food is digested it is absorbed from the intestines into the blood. When the carbon in your food comes in contact with the oxygen carried by the iron in your blood, the carbon and oxygen unite and by so doing they give off tremendous energy, thereby giving you great force, strength and endurance. Without iron your blood carries no oxygen and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food, so that what you eat does you no good—you do not get any strength from it. It is like putting coal into a stove without a fire. You cannot get any heat unless the coal unites with the fire.

The strongest weapon with which to prevent and overcome colds, pneumonia, kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervous prostration, in fact almost any disease or disease germs, is plenty of good, rich, pure blood, strength, energy and endurance, and the greatest energy carrier in the body is organic iron, not metallic iron which people usually take, but organic iron like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples and like the iron contained in what is known as organic Nuxated Iron, which may be had from almost any druggist.

If you have been taking metallic iron without benefit such is no proof that organic Nuxated Iron will not help you. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength, energy and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time. It is such an extremely valuable product that even the Pope at Rome wrote especially of its merits in a communication to the Pharmacie Normale. It has been used and highly recommended by former United States senators, members of congress, judges of United States courts, many physicians and prominent men.

Over 4,000,000 people are now using it annually. Satisfactory results are guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Sold by all druggists in tablet form only.—Adv.

CHEMISTS IN SESSION

International Conference Expected to Be Attended By 3000 Delegates

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Chemists of Great Britain, Canada and the United States began an international conference here today which was heralded as the greatest meeting in the history of their science and industry. More than 2000 of them were expected to attend the series of addresses, symposiums and exhibits which will continue through September 10, embracing all phases of chemical work, with particular emphasis on post-war problems.

The following seven days will be devoted to the seventh national exposition of the chemical industries.

Prominent among those scheduled to address the gathering were Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Sir William J. Pope, president of the society of chemical industry of Great Britain, a number of chemistry professors from universities of the United States, England and Canada and heads of research departments in many industries of the three countries.

The British and Canadian delegations came here from Montreal, where the Society of Chemical Industry of Great Britain recently held a convention. In New York they were joined by the American division of their organization and hundreds of members of the American Chemical society.

Unemployment among chemists was scheduled as one of the foremost topics for discussion. In this connection chemists expressed hopes of absorbing many of the unemployed graduates of chemical schools in research work in preparation for expected freshening of industrial activity.

Tariff legislation affecting the chemical industry in America also was booked for consideration.

A broad field of chemical endeavor is represented in the various symposiums. These will include subjects as new as vitamines which, like appendicitis may always have existed but were late in being recognized.

Mothers Used To Say

give me the good old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new fangled patent medicines on the market. I remember that when I had indigestion, was Constipated, had a Headache or my stomach was out of order, my mother would give me an old and reliable remedy called SEVEN BARKS and it would straighten me out in no time, so I always keep a bottle in the home for emergencies.

Colds and Grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get overworked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When the stomach is out of order, the kidneys and liver not working properly, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver and kidneys, regulate the flow of bile, expel distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion.

For nearly half a century SEVEN BARKS has been recognized as one of the most reliable remedies for correcting and preventing disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is absolutely safe, made from the extracts of roots and herbs, scientifically blended.

If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results. Your druggist keeps it, or will get it for you.—Adv.

SCIENCE CAN NOW END CORNS

Such Troubles Are Out-of-Date. Millions Know This Now

A famous expert, years ago, solved the whole corn problem.

The method is Blue-jay—the plaster or the liquid. It stops pain instantly. Soon the whole corn gently loosens and comes out.

Now folks who pare or pad corns do themselves injustice. So do users of old methods, harsh and crude.

Blue-jay is modern. It is approved by authorities. It is easy, simple, quick and sure.

Just apply it and forget it, and watch what becomes of the corn. After that, you will never let a corn pain twice.

CO-EDS SHINE SHOES TO BUILD PRACTICE HOUSE

LANSING, Sept. 6.—This is the story of the house the co-eds built. They shined shoes in public, at ten cents a shine; they sold lemonade, served lunches, did housework and all manner of things, but they raised a thousand dollars and built the house.

Determination on the part of the co-eds at the Michigan Agricultural college built "The Flower Pot." That is its trade name. Literally, it is a "practice house" for senior students in the home economics course. It ranks as one of the two or three campus practice houses in the country.

The "Flower Pot" is a tea room built in a ramshackle building on the M.A.C. campus. It has a dining-room and a kitchen and some homely homemade fixtures. Breakfast, luncheon and dinner are served. The food is furnished largely from the M.A.C. farm and by the boys and girls' clubs which are conducted throughout the state under the direction of the extension department of the college. Senior students, starting in September, will do all the work. It is called a practice house because the students after nearly completing their course in home economics in the kitchen of the college buildings can try out their art in the kitchen of the Flower Pot. The tea room ois to be a non-profit-making institution when it gets well under way. That is it will be non-profit making except for the few needy girls, who are attempting to work their way through college and will be allowed to do so in the kitchen and dining-room of the Flower Pot.

About $1,000 was needed to convert the old building into a tea room. The students and alumni who wanted a practice house didn't have the thousand. So, led by members of the Omicron Nu, an honorary home economics sorority, the co-eds went out into the highways and byways of the college campus, sold lemonade, shined shoes and did various things until the money was raised.

LAFAYETTE-MARNE DAY CELEBRATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The country today celebrates Lafayette-Marne day. Many cities have arranged civic ceremonies appropriate to the day that marks the birth of Lafayette and the seventh aniversary of the first battle of the Marne in 1914.

The keynote of the celebration this year, the Lafayette Day National committee announced, would be found in the message of President Harding to the committee at last years' celebration.

"Twice has France contributed to our liberty," he said. "Once when Lafayette came to the aid of America in her fight for independence, again when France stood as a bleeding bulwark for the freedom and democracy of the world against the military onslaught of an autocracy.

"The name of Lafayette brings to our hearts the name of France,—it calls forever to our gratitude. If the opportunity ever comes to me I will represent the American people in giving practical proof of our national friendship. Our true friendship may only be effectively expressed in deeds rather than in words, in a relationship that will stand rather than fail, in workable machinery of international good will and good faith. Such a relationship can only have permanence and value to France when it is approved not by a part but by the whole of the American people.'

Andrew Jackson, president of the United States, in his general order of June 21, 1534, announcing to the army the death of Lafayette, the last surviving major-general of the war of the revolution, said of him "his memory will be second only to that of Washington in the hearts of the American people."

12,000 SEE STAFFORD FALL TO HIS DEATH

NORTH ADAMS, Sept. 6—While 12,000 horrified persons looked on, Eugene N. Stafford, 34, of the Stafford Balloon Co., East Dorchester, a parachute jumper, fell 600 feet to his death yesterday.

The webbing holding him to a double parachute broke and allowed him to drop like a plummet to a pit of stones in the yard of Joseph Hargreaves, 600 yards across the river to the north of the Fair grounds. Stafford was giving an exhibition as one of the features of the last day of the Hoosac Valley Agricultural fair.

His skull was fractured and his body terribly mangled.

On Friday evening, Joseph Gannon, Stafford's partner in the company, was injured in making a parachute drop when his parachute failed to open. Unable to make further flights, Stafford took his place.

Stafford cut loose from the balloon when about 1000 feet in the air, and the first parachute of a double hitch opened.

He had dropped about 300 feet when he opened the second one. Suddenly he was seen to fall free of the second parachute and plunged down like a plummet. He turned half over in the air and struck on his face on the rocks. Doctors hurried to the scene, but death had been instantaneous.

DAMAGED BY FIRE

Lively Blaze in Middlesex St. Restaurant and Store

The Colonial K. A. restaurant at 290 Middlesex street and the New England Hat and Cap shop, located next door to the restaurant, were damaged by fire last evening to the extent of several hundred dollars. The tenement located over the restaurant and occupied by Lawrence Walsh and his 12-year-old daughter, was also badly damaged.

The blaze originated in the kitchen of the restaurant and was discovered by a boy about 9.30 o'clock. An alarm was sent in from box 215, but when the firemen reached the premises they found it a very difficult job to get at the fire because of obstruction in the rear of the building, where the flames were raging. Several lines of hose were finally started and streams of water were directed on the blaze which at one time looked very threatening. The flames worked their way through the partitions of the restaurant into the hat shop and then through the ceiling to the Walsh tenement and into the attic. The fire was put out, however, before it reached the room. The building damaged by the fire are owned by Isaac Bernstein.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.

"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.

"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUITTY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

Dante, So. Dakota.—"I would have pains and cramps every month until I could hardly stand it and could not do my work at all at that time and often had to go to bed. I went to a physician, but he did not do me much good and said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and thought I would give it a trial. Now I feel lots better and don't have to give up and go to bed, and can do all my work. You may use these facts as a testimonial, and I will answer with pleasure all letters I receive, and you may be sure I will praise your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. ARTHUR J. Bilious? Take NR Tonight

Nature's Remedy Is Better and Safer Than Calomel. Clears Out System Without Griping. Stops Sick Headache. Guaranteed.

Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc., are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain real or lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the purpose being to bring about healthy and harmonious action of all the organs of digestion and elimination. It acts promptly and thoroughly, yet so mildly and gently that there is never the slightest griping or discomfort.

But that is not all. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) have a beneficial effect upon the entire body. By improving the process of digestion and assimilation, the nourishment is derived from food, the blood quality is enriched, vitality is increased and the whole system strengthened.

Once you get your body in this splendid condition, you need not take medicine every day—just take an NR Tablet occasionally when indigestion, biliousness and constipation threaten, and you can always feel your best. Remember keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

CHILE MAY QUIT LEAGUE

Third Session of Assembly Opens at Geneva Under a Threatening Cloud

Report of Threatened Withdrawal Denied by Head of Chilean Delegation

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 6—(By the Associated Press)—The third session of the second Assembly of the League of Nations opened here today under a threatening cloud. Reports were circulated widely this morning that the Chilean delegation would withdraw from the league if the question of Tacna and Arica, the disputed provinces now being administered by Chile, should be placed on the agenda of the assembly as requested by Bolivia.

These reports were categorically denied by Augustin Edwards, head of the Chilean delegation, who was said to have made the threat of withdrawal. Senor Edwards asserted he had made no statement to either the newspaper correspondents or delegates to the effect that his delegation was considering withdrawal. He said he would make his only statement on the subject to the assembly when the question comes up.

Animated conferences were held around the Chilean delegation for some time before the assembly was called to order. Arthur J. Balfour, the British representative, had an earnest talk with Senor Edwards, after which the Chilean delegation conferred at some length. H. A. Van Karnebeek of Holland, who yesterday was elected president of the assembly, relieved the tension somewhat by proposing that the assembly complete its organization by naming commissions for the election of vice-presidents before taking up the agenda involving Tacna and Arica.

A prolonged debate on the procedure to be followed ensued and occupied most of the morning session. President Van Karnebeek proposed that the afternoon also be devoted to the work of organization, thus throwing over to tomorrow consideration of Bolivia's request that the Tacna-Arica question be placed on the agenda. Meanwhile efforts are being made to secure the consent of Chile and Bolivia to the appointment of a commission to study the question.

Best Home Treatment for All Hairy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)

Every woman should have a small package of delatone handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marring hairy growths. To remove hair or fuzz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered delatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real delatone.—Adv.

HAD PAIN IN THE BACK

"I had such severe pains in my back that I could not lie straight in bed," said Mrs. R. L. Scott of 22 Columbia street, Oneonta, N.Y., whose complete recovery should encourage every sufferer. "I was so nervous," she continued, "that my sleep was broken. I had very little appetite and suffered severely from indigestion. If I walked up stairs my heart beat rapidly. My complexion was poor and my lips were white.

"My mother had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills years ago and after I had tried several other medicines without getting more than temporary relief, I began to take the pills. I felt better in about ten days so I continued the treatment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills proved to be just the medicine I needed. I have no more pains, my nerves are steady and I sleep well. My appetite is good and my complexion has improved so much that my friends have remarked how much better I look. I certainly feel well and I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to others."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's today, or write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y., enclosing 60 cents, and a box will be sent you, postpaid. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.—Adv.

THE FATE OF M'CARTHY

James J. Adjudged Intoxicated Within the Hallowed Precincts of the Law

He came up smiling! But he went down arrested! That, in brief, is the strange story of James J. McCarthy, whose name was called for drunkenness by the clerk of the district court this morning during the course of the session. McCarthy arose from the spectators' benches, advanced with the broadest of broad grins upon his flushed countenance, beamed upon the court officers, and advancing towards the judge, raised his hand in a debonnaire salute. He then turned, still grinning as though delighted, and honored Assist. Clerk George Toye with a salute as well. Whether he would have accorded further recognition to various officials will never be known, for at this point Judge Enright thundered, "Take that man downstairs and make out another complaint of drunkenness against him." McCarthy was locked up for his appearance tomorrow morning on twin charges of inebriation, one within the hallowed precincts of the law. His counsel retired apparently somewhat nonplussed when McCarthy began his eccentric behavior before the tribunal which was to judge him.

Young Men Released

Two young men arrested as suspicious characters in connection with a break which occurred Sunday night at a store on upper Gorham street, were released by Judge Enright this morning after a warning. They were found wandering about in the small hours, and were taken in tow by the officer on the beat.

Many Defaults Ordered

Today's district court session was featured by the unusual number of defaults ordered by the judge. Jeremiah J. Horgan and William J. Carney, charged with drunkenness, were defaulted when they failed to answer the calling of their names, and William Allard, charged with a liquor law violation was also declared defaulted.

Neighborhood Quarrel

September 16 seems likely to be a thrilling day in the district court. A neighborhood fracas, which resulted in eight complaints of assault and battery will then be thrashed out. Men and women are involved in the trouble, and all are both witnesses and defendants.

Brooklyn Lady Suffers Breakdown After Husband's Death

Mrs. Anna O'Hara of 4644 Evergreen Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., was in a serious condition until she began taking Wincarnis.

"During my husband's illness I had practically worn myself out through work and worry," said Mrs. O'Hara recently. "And so when he passed away, I had almost reached a state of complete collapse. I could hardly eat anything for days afterwards. I would feel so weak and exhausted during the day that it was all I could do to get about, and yet when night came I could get no sleep. I was fearfully nervous—the least little thing would make me jump. And this had kept up for days and days.

"I happened one day to read about Wincarnis and decided to try it, and it certainly has done wonders for me. By the time I had taken about half of the bottle I began to improve wonderfully and by the time I had taken the whole bottle my appetite had come back. I was much less nervous and was getting quite some sleep at night. I really cannot praise Wincarnis enough. I have taken only a few bottles and now I am entirely well. My insomnia is gone. I have a good appetite and my nerves are fine. I really feel like a new woman."

Wincarnis is put in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold in Lowell by Burkinshaw Drug Co., 416-418 Middlesex st., and all first class druggists. Write for free instructive booklet, etc. —Adv.

DRUNKENNESS ARRESTS OVER WEEK-END

Twenty-eight drunkenness arrests were made over the week-end. There were eight releases prior to the opening of court this morning. William R. O'Brien got two months in jail. So did Joseph Kasparowicz, who was already on probation.

Thomas J. Kelleher drew a Massachusetts reformatory suspended sentence.

Dennis Murphy, a one-legged man, was "arrested for his own safety," according to the officer who took him into custody. "I was afraid he'd get killed," said the officer, who said Murphy has been lying around intoxicated, and begging money. "I've only been that way for about a month," said Murphy in pleading for another chance. He drew a suspended sentence. A number of other suspended sentences were also imposed.

Michael Walsh, in for the fifth time on drunkenness charges, was fined $15. Walsh has formerly been accused of having "Peeping Tom" proclivities, but today he was charged only with the common or garden variety of drunkenness, without the inquisitive complication which was said to have accompanied his weakness when he recently appeared in court.

Joseph Burke, who said someone gave him the hooch which knocked him for a goal, was fined $10, as was John O'Lek, said to have annoyed women going to church at six o'clock Sunday morning. O'Lek was arrested on the North common by Officer John Mahan. The defendant was somewhat hazy about the whole affair. He couldn't remember whether or not he had been out all night. Several other cases were filed or otherwise disposed of.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. George Z. Lauziere and Miss Yvonne Morin were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Joseph A. ARE BACK FROM EUROPEAN TOUR

Undertaker and Mrs. Amedee Archambeault and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Begin of this city, returned yesterday from a two-months' European tour. Mr. J. B. Pelneault, who was with them, will not return to Lowell for a couple of weeks, for upon landing at Montreal, Que., last Sunday he left on a trip along the Seguenay river with one of his former employes, Eugene Labrie of Merrimack street.

Mr. and Mrs. Archambeault report an ideal voyage. They visited points of interest in England, France, Belgium and Italy and viewed many of the scenes of battle. While in Naples they witnessed the funeral of Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, and prior to that they were given an audience by Pope Benedict.

The party left here for Montreal in the latter part of June and in the early part of July they sailed for Europe. They first visited England and then went to France and Belgium. Later they visited various places in Italy and returned to France and Belgium. The long voyage was accomplished without the slightest mishap and the only thing the tourists complained about was the quality of food and water, especially in Italy, where they claim they pay more attention to beer and wine than to food and water.

SOME CHARTER PHASES

The petitions brought under the initiative provision of the present charter have directed the attention of the people to a feature of the charter that had previously received but little attention. In this respect at least the referendum on the paving proposition and municipal gas will have served a good purpose.

Heretofore, it has too rarely happened that the average voter paid much attention to any provision of the charter. With the new charter up for consideration, it is important that it should receive careful study and that the electorate should deal with it in a manner that will serve the best interests of the city. It has been produced by a body of business men who gave it months of careful consideration. We believe it is well devised for the government of a city such as Lowell. There is no partisan feature in it, as in this respect, care was taken not to favor one political party more than another.

Under the old double-headed charter partisan government was the rule and although it was condemned at the time, still it had its good points. If an administration by one party failed to give satisfaction the voters would put it out of power and elect men of the opposing party. Thus each political party was held responsible for the acts of its members. This had a sort of restraining power for the reason that each party wanted to make a better showing than its rival. There are no such restraints under the present charter.

The new charter, however, settles responsibility for results in a very definite manner and that is probably one of the best features of any charter. The mayor is to have considerable power, but not more than was vested in that official under the old charter. With such a charter it is hoped that voters will be able to secure a chief executive who will be competent from training and experience to handle the affairs of the city in a capable and enlightened manner.

Under the present charter, there seems to be more difficulty with the street department than any other and it may have been for that reason that the charter commission in the new instrument provides for a board of public works. Something of this kind has often been talked of and has even been asked of the legislature, but never obtained. Should the new charter be adopted, it is expected that our streets will be continually under the care of experts who understand street work and who will be required to show results. With such an arrangement, the city will be sure to get its money's worth, the appropriations made will be used to the best advantage in improving the streets and highways of the city.

There are other features of the new charter which are highly commendable and which, we believe, will overcome the defects of the present charter. The average voter may remark that when the present charter was first introduced the board of trade and the newspapers praised it very highly and were in a measure responsible for its adoption. That statement is true. It came heralded by some very prominent men as having lifted the city of Galveston from her very ruins and saved her people suffering from a disaster of great magnitude. It was reasoned that if a commission form of government did so much for Galveston and some other cities, it would work equally well for other cities. But Galveston adopted the commission form when misery was brooding over the homes of her people; and the men appointed on the commission were the ablest that could be found. With such men in charge of the city's affairs it was the men and not the charter who brought about the excellent results. It was found to the regret of various municipalities, that the very same charter in the hands of uncompetent men became a veritable menace. We have had our experience under it and we now see its defects. The commission charter works well if you elect first class men under it; but it works very badly if you elect any but first class men. The new charter is framed to overcome this defect and to protect the city's interests at all points. With a mayor who will be expected to be a man of business experience and also a man of integrity, the city's interest should be protected. But if the mayor should happen to be a political trickster looking for an opportunity to fool the people and rob the city, then it would devolve upon the council to protect the city's interest and that it could do quite effectively under the provisions of the new charter. The council under certain conditions can remove the mayor's appointees despite his veto, which indicates that he does not possess the power to do as he pleases. The charter provides a number of checks and balances that are calculated to protect the rights of the people at all times and under all circumstances, if those provisions be applied.

THE MUSCLE SHOALS AFFAIR

It appears that the big interests are opposed to Henry Ford's proposition to secure the government property at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee river. Nobody seemed to have any special interest in Muscle Shoals until Mr. Ford made the proposition to take over the property. Then the log-rolling began and is still active against the transfer of the property to Mr. Ford.

The opposition in this case is something like what was directed against Ford when he became a candidate for the United States senate from Michigan. The republican party resorted to the most disgraceful method of corrupting the ballot in order to secure his defeat. So far did they go that their own candidate was sentenced to prison, although it is probable that he will never be required to serve the sentence. Mr. Ford offered to lease the government dams subject to renewals, provided the government would complete them and install machinery to produce 600,000 horse-power. He offers to pay six per cent. on the $20,000,000 which he estimates will be necessary to complete this work or 3 4-5 per cent. on $40,000,000, which is Mr. Ford's estimate of the whole government investment. He offers to give the government 200 horse-power to operate the locks. Mr. Ford would also take over the nitrate plants which cost the government $70,000,000 with other property, making a total of $85,000,000. For this property Mr. Ford's offer is said to be much too low for acceptance although if the government property were allowed to go to waste, very little would be said of the original cost. It is probable that other interests may offer more than Mr. Ford, simply to prevent him from securing the property. The whole affair is rather involved, but it can readily be seen that Mr. Ford's offer will probably result in enabling the government to get a fair price for the property which nobody seemed to want until he made an offer for it. It is claimed that the government, even in view of the disarmament program, should hold some of the nitrate plants for producing explosives in case of war, but Mr. Ford claims he can use them to give American farmers cheaper fertilizer. It is quite probable that Mr. Ford would develop the plant at Muscle Shoals to a greater extent and with more benefit to the country than would any of the interests that are opposed to him. He has his faults like other men; but he is accustomed to doing big things and if he had the property at Muscle Shoals, he would probably utilize it in a way that would be profitable both to himself and the country.

REDUCE PRICE OF GAS

With unemployment so widespread as it is in Lowell, the high price of illuminating gas is peculiarly oppressive and aggravating to those whose resources have been depleted by lack of work. We do not know what the Gas company is waiting for. The Sun had been publishing articles showing why the price of gas should be reduced; but we dropped it on being told by officials of the company that a reduction would soon be made. It is true, that no date or amount was mentioned; but The Sun felt that the promise implied an early date and we so stated at the time. It is now nearly two months since then and during that period, various cities of the state have made a reduction in the price of gas.

It is not surprising that public sentiment should be turning against the gas company and if a clamor is raised and the initiative provision of our charter invoked in favor of a municipal gas plant, the company has but itself to blame. We do not favor municipal ownership, but we will say to the Gas company that it is daily swelling the list of its enemies by maintaining the price of gas far above the average for the cities of the state.

A very substantial reduction is now in order and should be announced forthwith.

TARIFF ON HOT-DOGS

Hot-dogs are threatened by the tariff. For 50 years sausage-casings have been on the free list. Now it's proposed to protect them by tariff, though 90 per cent. are imported.

A. W. Kemfer, representing the sausage-casing importers, says the tariff would add half a cent a pound to the cost of making sausages, which would be pyramided to three cents a pound by the time the sausages reached the retailer. And what would he add?

This, brethren, is what is known as indirect or "painless" taxation. The ultimate consumer pays—several times over!

OUR DEBT

What to do with the national debt. That worries many. Gentlemen with blue glasses think it can never be paid off.

American mines last year yielded $6,707,000,000, says the Geographical Survey. Three and a half years of that would pay off every penny of the national debt.

The debt could be wiped out overnight if every American contributed $224.81. To carry it requires interest of only $5.85 a year for each of us.

Like most problems: Not as serious as it seems.

TWO GRAVES

A man will be buried in two different graves, probably for the first time in history.

The probated will of Prof. George Trumbull Ladd, of Yale, provides for cremation of his body and burial of part of his ashes under a camphor tree he planted in Nagasaki, Japan.

That would interest Attila the Hun, who died in the year 453. He thought he had devised for himself the most unique funeral of all times, by ordering his burial in a gold coffin and execution of the burial party so that the grave's location would forever be a secret.

LAMP MYSTERY

Another old mystery is solved. For centuries, archeologists were puzzled by perpetual lamps often found burning when they opened Egyptian tombs thousands of years old.

Now it's discovered that these lamps have wicks soaked with chemicals that don't burst into flame until struck by fresh air when the tomb is entered.

Time solves all mysteries.

ONE-MAN CARS

With but one door to a car, and that unoperable without a sledgehammer, the occupants must certainly be in a sorry plight in case of fire. That accident to the one-man car at Swampscott will doubtless lead to greater security in the future. Here in Lowell, we understand, the one-man cars have an emergency rope which, if pulled, will open the rear door. That should be known to the passengers as well as the company.

AS TO INSURANCE

Heirs of Wallace L. Pierce, Boston grocer, are paid $555,000 insurance—the largest death claim in a year.

How much cash is a human life worth? Generally it depends on how much you bet the insurance company that you'll die before it thinks you will.

The fatalities among aviators, parachute jumpers and others who persist in performing hair-raising stunts, are quite alarming. Still, others are always ready to take the places of those who fall and to try even more exciting stunts.

It is now in order to take a look into the coal bin and see how it is to be replenished.

It was a glorious Labor day.

SEEN AND HEARD

Now for the real 'labor days."

About this time of the year most people decide where they won't go on their next vacation but when next summer comes they'll proceed to go to just that place.

That array of stills in the police station would indicate that the brewery has had many successors since its passing.

The Devil a Monk Was He

Two Scotchmen were on a raft adrift on a stormy sea. Angus knelt and began to pray. "O Lord," he said, "I ken I've broken maist of Thy commandments. But, O Lord, if I'm spared this time, I promise—" Here, Andrew interrupted him. "I, widun commit yoursel' ower far, Angus," said he, "I think I see land."—Glasgow Herald.

His Choice

"Posterity will raise a monument to you for your services!" exclaimed the admiring friend.

"I hope not," protested Senator Sorghum. "I'd rather take my chances with the editorial writers than the art critics."—Washington Star.

Business Methods

When the agent brought Mrs. Tarley her fire insurance policy he remarked that it would be well for her to make her first payment at once.

"How much will it be?" she asked.

"About $190. Wait a minute and I'll find the exact amount."

"Oh, how tiresome!" she exclaimed. "Tell the company to let it stand and deduct it from what they will owe me when the house burns down."—Fall River News.

The Power of the Dog

There is sorrow enough in the natural way,
From men and women, to fill one day;
But when we are certain of sorrow in store,
Why do we always arrange for more?
Brothers and sisters, I bid you beware
Of giving your heart to a dog to tear.

Buy a pup, and your money will buy
Love unflinching, that cannot lie—
Perfect passion and worship fed
By a kick in the ribs or a pat on the head.
Nevertheless it is hardly fair
To risk your heart for a dog to tear.

When the fourteen years which Nature permits
Are closing in asthma, or tumor, or fits,
And the vet's unspoken prescription runs
To lethal chambers or loaded guns,
Then you will find—it's your own affair,
But—you've given your heart to a dog to tear.

When the body that lived at your single will,
When the whimper of welcome is stilled (how still.)
When the spirit that answered your every mood
Is gone—wherever it goes—for good,
You will discover how much you care,
And will give your heart to a dog to tear.

We've sorrow enough in a natural way
When it comes to burying Christian clay.
Our loves are not given, but only lent,
At compound interest of cent per cent.
Though it is not always the case, I believe,
That the longer we've kept 'em, the more do we grieve,
For, when debts are payable, right or wrong,
A short-time loan is as bad as a long.
So why in heaven (before we are there)
Should we give our hearts to a dog to tear?

—RUDYARD KIPLING.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"There he is!" shouted a childish choice. "Naw, that ain't him," was the contemptuous reply. "Yes, it it is, too." "Naw, see there, that's him." "Aw, it ain't neither, that's him." The youngsters were talking, of course, of Sept. George E. Polley, better known as the Human Fly. The time was a few moments before George took his little excursion to the top of the Sun building, and subsequently to the top of the flagpole. Approximately one-half of the world's total child population had gathered at the edge of the huge throng—the edge nearest the Sun building, you may be sure—and were discussing the identity of the various individuals who emerged, or who stood conversing within the doorway. Among those who were honored by being mistaken for Polley was the writer. It so happened that I was wearing a suit of blue serge, such as had been worn by the human fly in the afternoon before the climb. This was enough to give me a fleeting notoriety as I stood hatless at the door of the Sun office, unwilling to disappoint the boys who gazed upon me with admiration. I looked upwards, and remarked carelessly, "Well, I guess I'll get started." Just then, Polley himself appeared, and I received what is known as the razoo. Such is gratitude, when one seeks to give a thrill to one's fellow humans.

"Hello, Bill!" the Elks will say this Christmas, when they get their bill for their charitable activities. They won't mind their charities being expensive, because their outing recently was so expansive. They had a good time, and at the same time obtained the funds for a good time for the poor. Funny, all the members had an outing except the baseball players, and they had innings. I presume all the Elks read that definition of an Elk done in rhyme by a Sun reporter after the outing last week.

In these days of aviation, when you ask anyone if they have ever seen a human fly, they are liable to come back with the merry quip, that they have. Brother Polley certainly climbed all Brother Polley certainly climbed all over the place. He wasn't the only one who climbed, either. One chap who was looking rather wilted after watching the immortal stunt was told by a companion that he looked as if he had made the ascent with Polley. "Not I, I do" was his fervent response. Really, the name of human fly isn't elegiate. A fly has glue on its feet, but Polley had nothing except sneakers. Him sure a sticker, nevertheless. Some of, perspiring with excitement as we watched the daredevil ascent, felt like human flypaper. Polley has fallen three times, twice from buildings, and once in love. The last was not least, he says. The first hundred years are the hardest in handling climbing, but we'll bet his manager dies before Polley does, if his heart acts the same way ours does when watching his stunts. Polley isn't a parrot, but he's certainly a bird. Polley rides a bicycle around the edges of roofs. He ought to have that bicycle insured, for if he ever fell he'd smash it all to pieces.

Whenever I employ myself
In reading books and such,
I certainly enjoy myself;
Yes, very, very much.
From books of every quality,
I garner fun enough
From those of sheer frivolity
Or those of sterner stuff.

But I shall never sense again
That magic thrill, indeed,
Nor know the bliss intense again
That came when mother'd read
Of ogres huge and thunderful,
And princesses and kings,
And princes brave and wonderful,
And fairy queen with wings!

Amid the books I'm treasuring
I love to loaf and browse,
But in that gentle pleasuring
I never can arouse,
That joy in grim or merry tales
Which once I used to know,
In listening to fairy tales
Some thirty years ago!

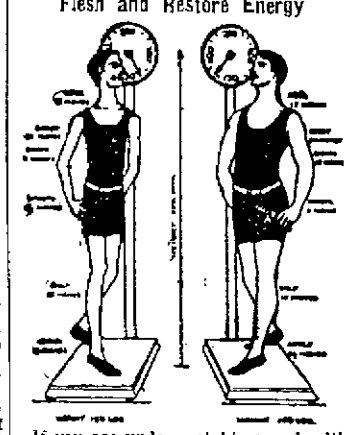
DO YOU LACK WEIGHT AND VITALITY

The Way to Build Solid Healthful Flesh and Restore Energy



If you are under weight, your health is sub-normal. Are you gaining or losing? Thin people who desire to immediately acquire good, healthful, solid flesh, who want to restore hollow and sunken cheeks with strong and healthy tissues and gain in energy and vitality should take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS with their meals.

MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS are concentrated yeast containing Vitamines, which science says are the "Soul of the Food." Vitamines are destroyed in common cooking. If you are emaciated, under-nourished, weak, haggard, and lack energy and endurance, you do this: Weigh and measure yourself—next take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS—two tablets with each meal—weigh and measure yourself at the end of one week and continue to take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS regularly until you are satisfied with the weight you have attained.

The result is not a matter of opinion, it is a matter of facts. The mirror, scales and tape measure will tell the story.

MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS will positively put on flesh and increase energy when taken with each meal. MEDIC-YEEST should not be used by anyone who is opposed to acquiring normal weight. Results are absolutely guaranteed by the manufacturer or money refunded. Be sure and remember the name, MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS.

Fred Howard and A. W. Dows carry MEDIC-YEEST. Your own druggist has MEDIC-YEEST or can quickly procure it for you. Make written note of the name—there is nothing else like it.—Adv.

GOMPERS RAPS ADMINISTRATION

People Got Exactly What They Decided They Wanted, Says A. F. of L. Head

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6—When the American people voted the present national administration into office, they got exactly what they decided they wanted, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, told a gathering at the Labor Day celebration yesterday.

"Before that election," he said, "I issued a statement in which I stated the issues that were involved, so far as labor was concerned, and I said that the people would get exactly what they voted for. They made their choice between the candidates and parties and they have got what they decided upon.

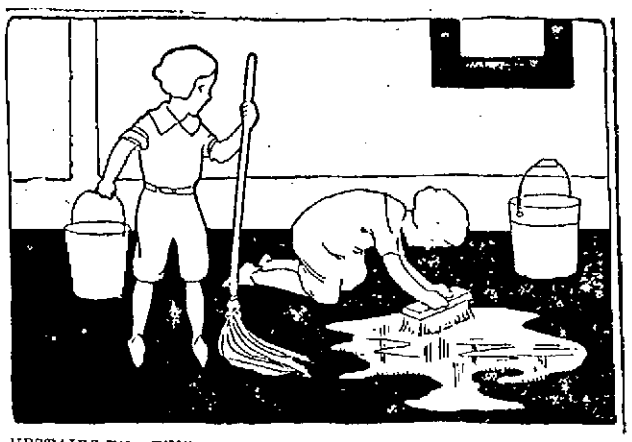
"A year ago today there was scarcely a handful of men in this great country out of employment. Now there are more than five millions out of work. Whom will you blame for this condition?"

He declared that not a single bill, so far as he knew, had been introduced in the present congress for the benefit of the working people; that not a single thing had been done to protect the workers in their constitutional rights.

He charged that the commercial and industrial interests are trying to set up an industrial autocracy and in this connection, particularly arraigned the chamber of commerce of the United States.

Adventures of the Twins

THE ESCAPE



UPSTAIRS THE TWINS WERE AS BUSY AS ROMAN CANDLES ON THE FOURTH OF JULY

The Nuisance Fairies promised to be very good and very quiet and to stay downstairs, while Nancy and Nick cleaned their second floor. And they kept their word. Even when Howly Thunder noticed something and winked at his best friends, Jumpy Lightning and Old Man Flood, nodding his head at the same time toward the front door, he did it ever so quietly.

And when Jumpy Lightning and Old Man Flood saw what he meant, they nodded back quietly, too. This was what they saw. The Twins had slammed the door but they had not locked it. The way was clear for all the Nuisance Fairies to escape.

Upstairs the Twins were as busy as Roman candles on the Fourth of July. They swept and dusted and scrubbed and cleaned and made beds and moved furniture and soon had everything shining.

"Somebody's going to have a big surprise," said Nancy, surveying their work with pride. "I think they deserve something nice for being so good, don't you, Nick. Let's call them all up."

Nick was about to agree when a distant roaring reached their ears.

A queer, mixed, rumbling sound. The Twins rushed to the window and looked down to the earth, far, far below. What a sight met their eyes! The Nuisance Fairies had escaped, every mother's son of them, and they were quarreling: Old Man Flood had Sizzly Dry Weather by the neck trying to choke him, while Jack Frost hopped around on one foot and laughed.

Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning were fighting Mr. Storm, and Mr. Storm was raging mad. "Get out both of you. I don't need you now that summer is over. Get out," he cried.

The next thing the Twins saw was Sprinkle-Bow striding into their midst and doing all he could to stop them.

"Quick!" said Nick, "we must go down and help him."

Dies as Result of Injuries

BOSTON, Sept. 6—Thomas Skullen of Medford, driver of an automobile which struck a train at Scituate, last night, died at a hospital here today. Two others who were in the machine, Mrs. Barton Leonard and Roland Spencer, were said to be in a critical condition.

OAKLAND SPORT MODEL

A real sport car—snappy, good looking, distinctive—the kind of a car a young man raves about and an older man covets—this is what the Oakland Motor Car company offers its dealers in announcing the new Oakland sport model.

The Oakland six sport model is, first of all, a practical car. It combines the sturdy construction and economical operation of the famous Model 31-C chassis with a body design which has a quality of finish and richness of appointment such as have never before been offered in any other car at anywhere near its price.

Almost as light as a roadster, and correspondingly easy to handle and economical to operate, this car has ample seat room for four persons. When the rear seat is not being occupied, it provides abundant space for luggage or for carrying business equipment. The finish is rich and durable. The body color is a light maroon, with fenders finished in black—a most attractive combination.

The sport model is mounted on the same dependable chassis as that which carries other models of today's Oakland six. It has the same powerful six cylinder overhead valve motor, the same springs, the same sturdy frame.

BARBERS SEE BENEFICIAL RESULTS OF PETROLEUM

Noonan's Hair Petrole Keeps Scalp Free From Dandruff and Helps Save the Hair

Barbers say that the stimulating effects of Noonan's Hair Petrole on the scalp is why it has become so popular. The men who know and who really care for their hair continually ask for this treatment, because they see the beneficial results of this petroleum preparation in keeping the scalp free from dandruff and in helping save what hair they have. It is such a delightful hair dressing to use that it is as popular with women as with men. Barbers apply Noonan's Hair Petrole for 15 cents a treatment. For home use drug and department stores sell it in bottles for $1, or it can be obtained direct from the manufacturers, T. Noonan & Sons Co., 38 Portland st., Boston.—Adv.

"Marry Poor Man and Marry for Love," Says Heiress Who Did

BY ROY GIBBONS
(Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Enterprise)

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Sept. 1—"Give me a poor man any day for a husband. They're the only ones who can appreciate a woman. Rich husbands too often turn out to be disasters."

Thus Miss Edith Beavor Webb, the daughter of a New York millionaire, explained why she married George O. Miles, a groom and former jockey. They succeeded in keeping their marriage, June 14, a secret for more than two months.

They are living on the estate of Benjamin Behr, who employs Miles as overseer of the stables and trainer of blooded horses.

Forgiving Father

They have been forgiven by the bride's father, J. Beavor Webb, and he has invited them to cruise with him on his yacht this winter. This is the second time Webb has been called upon to do the forgiving act, for his eldest daughter, Louise, a year ago startled eastern society by marrying Thomas J. Leonard, a New York mounted policeman.

For a while since their marriage the Mileses talked fully and freely of their romance and their plans, when I visited them at their cottage, hiding behind a corn field and flanked by stables.

"I should worry what anyone thinks or says about my marriage," said the bride, right off the bat. "I want love—not money, or titles, or anything else. And George loves me a whole lot.

"I have my own home to take care of, and dishes to wash, and things to cook, and a husband who can appreciate a good meal. Say, I'd rather bake a good pie than wear a coronet!"

Miles a Good Shot

At this juncture Miles himself appeared from the direction of the stables. He wore a riding outfit and carried a rifle in his hands.

"Another reporter?" he greeted me. "Please let me handle him, dearie."

Mrs. Miles retired into the cottage. Miles lifted the rifle.

"Lots of rats in the barn," he said, tapping the gun. "Just killed seven." Pause, while he sized me up. Then, "I suppose you want to know how I got her?"

I pleaded guilty.

"Well, it was like this. I'm fond of horses, and so is my wife. I've followed them ever since I've been a kid. Miss Webb and I met a year and a half ago at a horse show down east.

Love at First Sight

"It was love at first sight. We became engaged—and corresponded—and got married. Simple enough, eh?" Miles smiled.

I know folks say a lot of nasty things," he went on. "But Edith and I don't care a rap. Why, some try to make me out a regular adventurer, but heaven knows I am far from that. We can live happily and in comfort on what I make. Her money means nothing to me—or her."

Mrs. Miles reappeared.

"The dishes are all done," she announced. "Oh, yes, of course I do all my housework. And I can cook—can't I, Georgie?"

"I'll say so," from Miles.

"I suppose George has told you by this time that our love of horses brought us together," continued the bride. "But that isn't all—we married because we really loved each other. And that's why my sister married a policeman, too."

The policeman, by the way, still is riding his beat in Central park, where Louise Webb met him.

"Some people are so silly," continued Mrs. Miles, "they imagine just because a girl has a little money she ought to import a husband. But the American home-grown ones are good enough for anybody."

Miles smiled broadly at this.

LAST WORD IN FALL BLOUSES

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—What are the proper blouses and shirt waists for fall?

Taree handsome new Forsythe models show lines which please young and old.

The tailored blouse differs very little from year to year. One change this year is the shirt bosom front. The model of dimity has a collar with tiny flutings, and fluting is also used on the turned-back cuffs.

Silk broadcloth is used in smart tailored waists. The very chic model with an almost Don Juan collar has a blue tie. An exquisite hand-made blouse with Peter Pan collar has a panel of drawn work with embroidered dots, also used on collar and cuffs. Tucks are on each side of the panel.

Even higher than Peter Pan goes the collar on the "man's shirt for women," of silk broadcloth. This strictly tailored mannish blouse has detachable collar and link cuffs.

A blouse especially designed for sweaters is known as the Forsythe sweater waist. It is of silk. Its long revere collar is especially adapted to wear outside a sweater.

Another sport waist is also of silk broadcloth and is built, with its pockets and long-lined open collar especially for the athletic girl.

HOLD GOLDEN JUBILEE

Members of l'Union St. Joseph Hold Forth at Revere Beach

The golden jubilee of l'Union St. Joseph, one of the oldest French fraternal societies of this city, was observed yesterday by the members of the organization with a mass at St. Joseph's church in the morning, followed by an outing at Revere beach.

The church service took place at 8 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., assisted by Very Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O.M.I., as deacon, and Rev. E. J. Carrier, O.M.I., as sub deacon. The sermon was delivered by Very Rev. Fr. Turcotte, O.M.I. During the mass, an appropriate musical program was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Telesphore Malo, Miss Lena B. Camire presiding at the organ.

At the close of the service, the members of the union and their friends repaired to Paige street, where they boarded special electric cars which conveyed them to Revere beach, where they spent a most enjoyable day. The officers of the union are Joseph P. Marchand, president; Alexis Dozois, recording secretary, and Camille Roussin, treasurer.

INTEGRITY LODGE GIVES DEMONSTRATION

An excellent demonstration of degree work was given in this city Saturday evening, by the degree team of Loyal Integrity lodge of Fall River. The exhibition was held in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street, in the presence of members of the five local lodges of the Manchester Unity. Later in the evening, the doors were thrown open to members of Victoria lodge of Odd Ladies and a varied entertainment program was given, those taking part being John Nickerson of Merrimack Valley lodge, Lisle Sewell of Excelsior lodge, Clayton brothers, Herbert Colwell of Excelsior lodge, and A. W. Henderson of Integrity lodge.

Among the distinguished guests present were the present and past officers of the Grand lodge and Massachusetts district. Grand Secretary J. S. B. Clark of Fall River, Provincial Secretary George W. Emsley of Lowell, Deputy Provincial Grand Master Walter Thomas of New Bedford, Deputy Provincial Grand Lady Mary E. Siddell of Lowell, Provincial Correspondent Secretary Harold J. Wentzell, Provincial Treasurer George W. Rockett of Malden, Past Provincial Grand Master Colin McSutyre of North Adams, P.P.G.M. Geoorge Emsley, Sr., P.P.G.M. Edward Maclay, P.P.G.M. James Smith, all of Lowell.

A light repast was served by the members of Victoria lodge of Odd Ladies of Lowell, after which dancing was enjoyed. On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, a soccer football game between the members of Unity lodge staff of Fall River and Lowell lodge members resulted in the score of 5 to 2 in favor of the Lowell team.

The success of the affair was due to the following committee: P.G.M. George W. Emsley, P.G. Samuel Kershaw, P.G. Lisle Sewell of Excelsior lodge, P.G. John Everett, P.G. John Foster of Wamesit lodge, P.G. George Maclay P.G. Sidney Fryer, P.G. William Friend of Integrity lodge, P.G. Robert Patterson, P.G. Fred Walker and P.G. James Broadbent of Merrimack lodge.

LOWELL WAR HEROES

Bodies of Three Martyr Soldiers Arrive Here From France

The bodies of three Lowell war heroes, Corp. Francis R. Owens, Corp. Joseph Worthy and Priv. Francis M. McOsker arrived in this city yesterday morning. The body of Corp. Owens was taken to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons, while that of Corp. Worthy was removed to the rooms of Undertakers C. H. Molloy Sons. The remains of Priv. McOsker were removed to the rooms of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

Corp. Owens enlisted October 5, 1917, and after spending three weeks at Camp Devens was assigned to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., with Co. A 320th Machine Gun Battalion. He saw active service in France and was killed in action October 16, 1918. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary J. Ward, and two brothers, John A. and Terrence F. Owens.

Corp. Worthy enlisted with Co. M, 101st Infantry, 26th division, and went to France in September, 1917. He was killed in action July 15, 1918. He leaves his father, Joseph Worthy; a sister, Mrs. Mary Brick; two brothers, John of this city, and Richard Worthy, U.S.N.

Priv. McOsker was a graduate of the Lowell high school and a former employe of the United States Cartridge company. At the age of 19 he enlisted with Company C, Sixth Mass. Infantry, and in August, 1917, was transferred to Headquarters Co., 101st regiment. He was killed in action July 13, 1918. He was a member of the Mathew Temperance Institute and the O.M.I. Cadets. He leaves his father, John McOsker.

BIG LABOR PARADE VIEWED BY 100,000

BOSTON, Sept. 6—About 4500 men and women, members of unions affiliated with the Boston Central Labor union, marched in yesterday's labor parade. More than 100,000 applauding spectators lined the route of the parade, along with the mayor of the city, the governor of the commonwealth and the representatives of the United States army and navy, who occupied reviewing stands.

The day was perfect for the marchers and while their number was not as large as in antebellum parades of organized labor, the lack was more than made up for by the beauty and originality of the floats which many of the unions had in line.

Y. M. C. I. CARNIVAL COMES TO A CLOSE

The Y.M.C.I. carnival which opened in the Kasino a week ago last night, came to a close last evening, with the biggest crowd of the entire week present. Fully 2000 people were on hand to enjoy the closing festivities. The carnival as a whole has been a decided success and a substantial amount has been raised in aid of the institute's building fund.

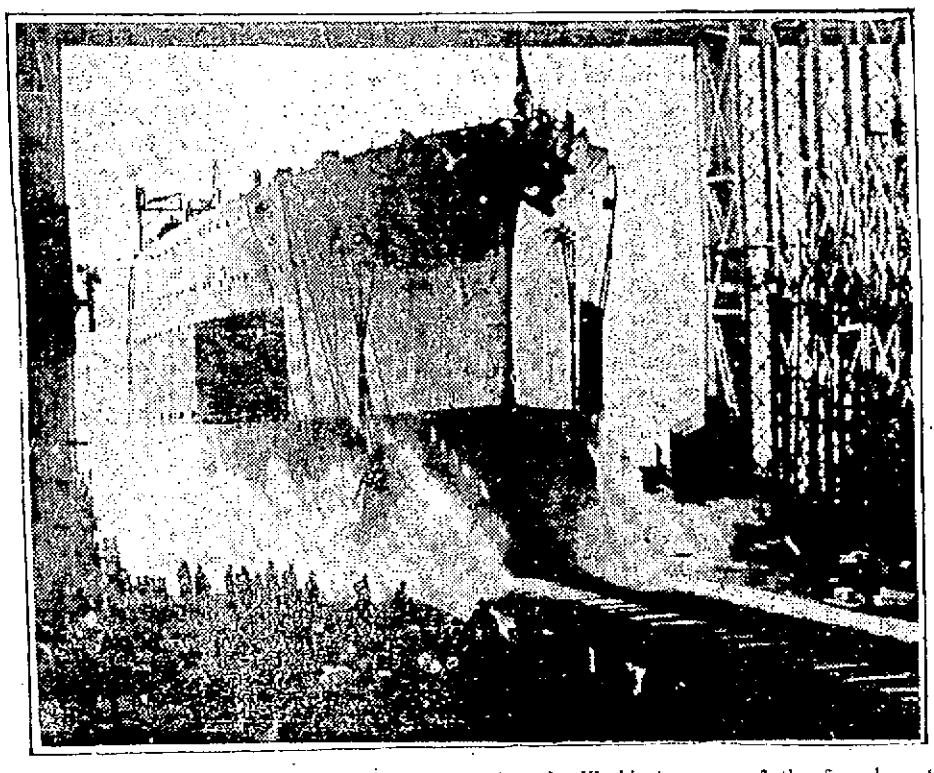
KING OF THE FIGHTERS CHRISTENED WITH WATER



Old salts shook their heads when the superdreadnaught Washington, one of the four largest battleships of the U. S. navy, was launched at Camden, N. J. That was because water was used to christen it. Jean Summers, 10, daughter of Congressman W. W. Summers of Walla Walla, broke a bottle of water from Washington rivers, on the bow.

Quiet Prevails In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 6—Quiet prevailed along the Boone-Logan county border early today. From Mingo county where some shooting was reported along the Tug river yesterday, and the day before, came reports that the situation yas not regarded as serious.

Advices from Spruce Fork ridge in eastern Logan county were that United States soldiers sent to that district were in complete control. Further trouble in that region was not looked for.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, in command of the federal forces sent into the state, announced that he was satisfied with what had been accomplished.

Coaching Great Aid to Pittsburgh Pirates

By GEORGE GIBSON, Manager, Pittsburg Pirates

Competent base line coaching is very essential to the success of any ball club seeking a pennant.

It's not a thing that can be delegated to any and every member of the club. To be a successful coacher, a man must have had years of baseball experience behind him.

He should have a knowledge of the game that can only be acquired by actual play.

He must be a close observer, and be able to store away in his memory the results of his observations.

He must carry in his mind a knowledge of the strength and weaknesses of all opposing players.

He must know to a dot the capabilities of each man on his own team. He must know their speed, their ability in sliding.

In a word, he must know whether the man on base is capable of making two bases on a hit, or whether he had better be held to one.

The two coachers should perfect their signals so that they are prepared to handle every angle that may come up.

In many cases the runner is absolutely dependent on the coacher to tell him what to do. His back is to the play, and if he is to make his best speed, he can't stop to see what's going on behind him.

That's where the coacher comes in. He can signal the runner what he is to do, leaving him free to give all his attention to making time.

Close cooperation between the ball players and the coachers is as essential as team work on the playing field.

(Copyright, 1921, by The Lowell Sun.)

Manager George Gibson, of the Pirates, says it's quality coaching that has put Pittsburgh at the top of the National league. And here's Bill Hinchman, Gibson's idea of an A1 coacher, as he looks on the baselines flagging a runner. Manager Gibson himself handles one corner for the Pirates, Hinchman the other. What's that? Oh, yes, Bill "chaws." All good coachers do.

Many things go towards making a pennant winning combination in baseball.

The batteries, defensive plays on the infield and outfield, the power on offense, all have an important bearing on the standing of the club.

But one of the essentials often is overlooked by managers, even those in the majors. That is the importance of good coaching.

Many clubs have no regular coachers. One man today, another tomorrow. The idea seems to be to use the first available man.

The Pittsburg Pirates, league leaders in the National and admittedly the best bet to cop on the old circuit, work on the theory that nothing is so important as coaching.

Throughout the season only two men have appeared on the base lines for them—Manager George Gibson and Bill Hinchman, both veterans with years of baseball experience.

Manager Gibson, in this story, written for The Sun, tells of the value of proper coaching, and of how it has been a vital factor in putting the Pirates at the head of the race and within sight of the flag.

RACES AT BATH HOUSE

Many Entrants for Labor Day Municipal Swimming Contests

The labor day swimming races at the municipal bath house were held yesterday afternoon with a large crowd of spectators in attendance. Walter Kendall, a Dracut youth about 15 years of age, took first honors in the 50-yard dash and second in the 250-yard race. His swimming was in every respect like that of a champion and he received much well deserved applause.

The first race was the 250 yard dash for all who cared to enter. People of all ages and sexes entered into the contest and there ensued a wild scramble across the river. E. Turcotte of Ellis street won first prize, a bathing suit, and Walter Kendall, winner of second place, was given a pair of cuff links.

The winners of the other races are as follows: 75 yards dash for girls, Mary Lambert of 75 Tremont street, first; Olive Miller, second. 75 yards dash for boys, Herbert Robbins of 88 Tyler park, first; Raymond Adams of 165 Lakeview avenue, second. Fifty-yard dash for boys under 15 years, Walter Kendall, first; Paul Merritt, second. Race for girls under 15 years, Gladys Cox of 12 Mt. Vernon street, first; Camille Hebert, second.

Charles MacReady was the director of the races. The judges were Chas. H. O'Neil, James E. Howe and Henry McCullough. Louis Turcotte acted as starter.

MIKE GIBBONS WANTS TO FIGHT EVERY NIGHT

BY ROY GROVE

So Mike Gibbons wants to fight 30 fights in 30 nights.

Out to splinter a record.

Boozefighters, in the old days, were like that. Just one battle after another. And you remember what they got?

Punished! Usually "thirty days."

Gibbons, too, will be punished if he carries out any such fool idea. Prizefighters, like baseball pitchers and race horses, need rest to keep in condition.

Even though Mike should not be physically wrecked by his strong-man stunt, and the possibility of that is great, he is certain to have to bear in the future the humiliation of having been beaten by second-raters who would have been easy pickling for him had he been in shape.

YESTERDAY'S

Morris Block, president of the San Antonio bay club, once let Tris Speaker get away in the yesterdays because he didnt think Spoke was worth $50 a month.

Block released Jeff Tesreau, also, because he didn't think Jeff was worth $55 a month.

Maybe they weren't. But Tesreau became a star with the Giants. And Speaker draws more salary every day in the year than Block figured he was worth in a month, some 15 years ago.

ADVICE

Abe Mitchell, the British golfer of long driving fame, has introduced a new slogan into the game.

It is—"Hit at the ball."

He says that the fault of the average golfer is that he pays more attention to his "follow through" than he does at walloping the ball.

Mitchell holds a record of driving for 314 yards.

FOOTBALL CROWDS INTO SUMMER SPORTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Old man football, the hardy veteran whose cavorting for the public comes in the cool, crisp days of autumn, crowded into the scene of summer sports today and the dull thuds of his training stunts caused baseball, tennis and yachting fans to turn for a moment from thoughts of national championships and world series.

Candidates for Harvard's 1921 squad were ordered out today at Cambridge by Head Coach Bob Fisher. About 90 candidates were expected to attend the opening practice. John F. (Chick) Meehan, the youthful mentor of Syracuse, will greet the advance guard of 1921 candidates this afternoon. At State college, Pa., more than three score candidates are working for the Penn State squad today under the direction of Coach Hugo Bezdeck and his assistants.

Rutgers candidates gathered today at New Brunswick, N. J., for their first scrimmage. West Virginia university's squad is in training at Deer Park, Md., under the direction of "Fat" Spears, the former Dartmouth mentor. Lehigh's aspirants will report tomorrow or Thursday at Bethlehem, Pa. Minus Benny Boynton, last year's star quarterback, the Williams college squad is gathering at Williamstown, Mass. Brown university's football men will report at Quonset, L. I., next Monday.

Ohio State, without eight of her great team of 1919 and 1920, will report on Sept. 15; Trinity's squad will report at Hartford, Conn., Sept. 14; Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., on Sept. 17; Centre of Kentucky, Sept. 15, and many others in the same week. Army, Yale, Pittsburgh, Maine, Georgia Tech, Dartmouth and many other college teams will be hard at work on or before Sept. 20.

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 6.—Harvard's football season, under way today at the Stadium when several veterans of last year's team and a small army of other aspirants for crimson gridiron honors, reported to Head Coach Bob Fisher for first practice, found Fisher faced with the necessity of filling several holes caused by the loss of last year's stars.

He may receive several likely recruits from sources outside 1920 freshmen and second elevens, one of them L. B. McCagg, Jr., captain of the crew. McCagg is expected to become a candidate for the eleven by way of returning the courtesy of R. Keith Kane, football captain, who manned an oar in the 'varsity boat when it was short of good material last spring.

Coach Fisher's assistants in preparing the players for this fall's campaign will include Eddie Mahan, former crimson star, as a backfield coach.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Candidates for the Boston college football team were to hold their initial workout today under the direction of Head Coach Frank W. Cavanaugh. About 50 candidates, including nine of last year's 'varsity eleven, were expected to report. Several of the leading members of that team, including Captain-elect Jack Heaphy, crack roving center, will be absent, however. The opening game of the season will be against Boston university, Oct. 1.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Sept. 6.—Light practice was scheduled for the University of Pennsylvania football squad today, in training here. The men were to have a run on the beach and in the afternoon were to drill on the lawn of the hotel at which they are quartered.

SOME JOB TO FIGURE CUTS IN KILBANE-FRUSH BOUT

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6.—The bird that figures up income taxes for a living is a piker alongside the gent who'll divvy up the proceeds of the Kilbane-Frush fight here Sept. 17.

For the net gate is to be cut so many ways it'll make boarding house pie slices look like a whole bakery.

All because there's a Wall street vein somewhere under the gray hairs of Champ Johnny Kilbane. Said he to Sammy Harris, manager of Danny Frush:

"Find a promoter who will pay me fifty thousand bucks and I'll fight your man."

Sammy straightway went out to find a daddy who could figure in five numbers, the heaviest pile of coin ever offered outside the heavy class.

There was Sam Deutsch, who could count out of his money bags forty thousand smackers. Johnny was consulted and articles were drawn up. Frush signed. Kilbane stalled.

Then appeared Tommy McGinty, who could raise the ante. He said sixty thousand simoleans—and Johnny signed his articles. In a hurry.

The promoters, each with a one-man fight on his hands, got into a wrangle. The boxing commission ruled that Detuesch, first on the ground, should have first call. But McGinty stood aloof—and Kilbane's name was on his articles while Deutschs were blank.

A council of war was held at which Deutsch and his friends and McGinty and his friends agreed to stage the affair together.

So Johnny will fight for $60,000. Frush will fight for $2500, and the promoters will—well, who can tell what promoters will do, anyhow?

Highland Daylights Take Two in a Row and Series from C.M.A.C.

Louis Lord's Highland Daylights, runners up in the Twilight league, made a good advance towards the city daylight championship, yesterday on the Textile Campus, by defeating the C.M.A.C. for the second consecutive time in their post season series.

On Saturday the Daylights set back the C.M.A.C. by the score of 16 to 7, while yesterday the score was 7 to 5. The first game of the series was rather one-sided and loosely played, but the holiday contest, was bitterly fought and replete with many spectacular plays. About 2000 fans were on hand and rarely has a more enthusiastic crowd attended a local game.

Pop Williams decided the game in favor of the Daylights, when in the eighth inning with the score tied at 4 to 4, and two on base, he poled a mighty drive over the center field fence, sending in the two runners and scoring himself and giving the Daylights the lead for the first time in the game with the count 7 to 4.

Up until that eighth inning, Duke Connors, had the Daylights well in hand. He had been pitching wonderful ball, and held his opponents hitless and runless for three innings. The first hit he allowed was Sullivan's home run in the fourth. This came with Bridgeford on base, and gave the Daylights two runs. Connors again tightened up, and not until the eight were the Daylights again able to score.

Long John Smith started for the Daylights, but after four innings he "resigned" and Mulno went to the hill. Mulno really saved the game, for Long John was not in his best form, and the C.M.A.C. succeeded in scoring four runs during his stay on the mound. But Smith went to second base, and his work there proved an important factor in the result. He was all over the field, making catches, stops and throws, with great accuracy and precision. It was not his day as a pitcher, but Oh my, how he did perform at the middle station.

Crowe at shortstop for the C.M.A.C. also played a classy game. He made many seemingly impossible stops, and his throws were perfect. He had ten chances and he accepted every one with the grace of a big leaguer. He also was very much in evidence with the willow, getting three peachy hits. McGowan at first contributed a fielding gem when in the eventful eighth he ran back and jumped into the air to pull down Mulno's drive. McGowan also performed well with the stick, getting two hits.

The C.M.A.C. scored a run in each of the first four innings. They got seven hits off Smith and the Long Fellow issued three free tickets and hit one man. Connors had his sweeping curves working well, and set down his opponents practically in order for three innings, not allowing a hit and permitting only three men to get on. In the 4th after Bridgeford got a life on McMahon's boot, Sullivan came through with the Daylights' 1st hit, a home run to the end of the right field fence. Score C.M.A.C. 4 Daylights 2. But Connors then tightened up and prevented further scoring in the inning. Mulno went in for the Daylights in the fifth and he performed brilliantly. He allowed but five hits and only one run, the latter coming in the ninth. With a string of goose eggs for both teams from the fourth up until the last half of the eighth, the C.M.A.C. players and fans were confident, but the picture soon changed and apparent defeat was converted into a glorious victory for the Daylights. It happened thusly: Purtell walked. Bridgeford singled. Sullivan was hit by a pitched ball and the sacks were crowded. The game was halted for a moment, while Pitcher Connors, went to the sidelines for a drink of water. A new one. He returned to the mound to find Long John Smith confronting him. Smith took a couple and then bounced a single over Breen's head and two runs counted. Slow fielding by Pare let Smith reach second and Sullivan. Then Williams came to bat and emulated Babe Ruth and the old game was broken up. Dolan followed with a single, but the next three men were retired. The C.M.A.C. made a rally in the ninth, but after scoring one run the side was retired and the Daylight players and fans left the field in happy mood and confident of beating any team in the city. The score:

NOTES

Umpire Cunningham, who handled the game alone did a fine job.

The crowd was one of the largest ever seen on the campus.

Pop Williams' home run was one of the longest hits ever made on the grounds. It went high over the fence and must have travelled considerable distance.

It was a hard game for Pitcher Connors to lose. He worked like a big leaguer in the early stages, but the ball he tossed to Williams was right in the groove, and it brought about his downfall.

Manager Lord said after the game that his team was now ready for the Lowell K. of C. the Centralvilles or any other club in the city. "I bar none" said Louis, "for I feel I have the best club ever organized in Lowell."

Crowe's work at shortstop, as well as his fine hitting, did much to keep the Daylights in check in the early stages. His stops and throws were perfectly executed.

2 MORE MAJOR LEAGUE RECORDS BROKEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—St. Louis and Brooklyn in the National League were the only major league teams to win two games yesterday, all the other clubs dividing double holiday bills. By their victories over Chicago, the Cardinals improved their third place position but were still 19 points behind the Giants, who in turn were nine points from the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates. Brooklyn's victories were against Philadelphia.

Two major league records were established yesterday. One of them was made by Pitcher Walter Johnson of Washington, who set a record of 2253 strikeouts by fanning six Philadelphia Athletic players. The old record which stood for years, was held by "Cy" Young, former Cleveland and Boston twirler who had 2250 strikeouts to his credit in 22 seasons in the majors. Johnson now is in his 17th consecutive year with Washington.

Elmer Smith, Cleveland rightfielder created the other record by making his seventh consecutive extra base hit for a total of 22 bases. He started his feat in Detroit Sunday, continuing yesterday when he hit safely in five times at bat in two games. Three of his hits yesterday were homers.

Cruise of the Boston Nationals made five hits in six times at bat in the double header with New York.

SIEGEL TO MEET MORLEY

BOSTON, Sept. 6—Nate Siegel and Mike Morley of Hartford have been signed by the Armory A. A. to box at Mechanics building September 13. This is in accordance with the ruling made by the Massachusetts Boxing commissioners, who declared Saturday that Siegel would have to fight Morley again before he would be allowed to meet Eddie Shevlin, because of the mad decision given in the Morley and Siegel fight in Salem August 13.

FIRST PRACTICE FOR SYRACUSE SQUAD

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 6—John F. (Chick) Mcehan starts first practice today for the Syracuse university football team. The youngest grid mentor of the big college elevens faces a prodigious task in whipping into shape an Orange team equal to the mighty football machines of recent years.

The giant All-American Alexander will be sorely missed at the center berth. Two new ends must be developed to fill the fleet shoes of Harry Robertson, Mickey Fullon and Andreas, veteran ends of last year.

Three seasoned linesmen will be on hand to bolster up the famed Orange push line. Big Bert Gullck, tackle and captain of this year's team is ready with his educated toe to boot out more victories for Syracuse. Tommy Thompson, the huge guard, has been playing tennis this summer to develop his speed. With his tremendous weight, he will prove very formidable to future opponents. Whitcomb, another giant guard, makes a great running-mate.

In the backfield Anderson, the hard plunging, hard hitting halfback makes a perfect combination with Fritz Foster, who, although erratic, made some spectacular runs last season. Bill Kellogg, fleet as a deer and elusive as a jack-rabbit, is ready to perform great deeds on this season's gridiron. Babe Frugone, the man of the hour at last year's Dartmouth victory, and Harry Herbert, both experienced men, stand in line for a fling at the quarterback position.

From the ranks of the freshmen eleven that won every game last year, every single man will be out fighting for a place on the varsity. The hard running Zimmerman will make keen competition for a backfield position. Moses, the diminutive yearling quarterback, may get a chance to use his extraordinary generalship in directing some varsity game this year.

Buck O'Neil, former Orange coach now at Columbia, and Glenn Warner, wizard of football and master coach, state that great things can be expected from Syracuse this year. Coach Meehan says little as usual but appears to be confident of turning out a representative Orange eleven.

FETTERMAN AVERAGED 99.8 MILES PER HOUR

UNIONTOWN, Penn., Sept. 6—W. Fetterman, driving a Deusenburg car, won the 225-mile automobile race at the speedway here yesterday afternoon. His average speed was 99.8 miles per hour. Jimmy Murphy was second; Alton Soules third, Eddie Miller fourth and Tommy Milton fifth. Fetterman's time for the race was 3h, 15m, 16s.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR LOCAL K. OF C. TEAM

The Lowell K. of C. defeated the Malden K. of C. Saturday afternoon at Spalding park, score 8 to 5. Davidson, the Lowell pitcher, performed wonderfully throughout the game. In the last inning he slowed up somewhat but was never in danger. The local batsmen were there with the old wallop and they bunched their hits in a way that brought across the maximum number of runs.

In Lowell's half of the first inning the first runs came across. Harris walked, stole second and came home on Foye's hit to left centre. Daly hit to right and then Sullivan made a home run. Three runs had scored in the inning. In the second Lowell got another when Draxon walked, and Harris and Foye both singled. Three more registered for the home team in the sixth.

In the fourth a three-bagger by Leary sent Coughlin scampering home with the visitors' first run and in the seventh Queen came home when Lowell infielders erred. In the ninth Berube tripled, Cassell, the next man up, duplicated but was out at home when he tried to stretch it to a homer. The score:

SINGLE G. AND PETER MANNING IN RACE

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 6—A special race between Single G, the season's best pacer, and Peter Manning, the premier trotter of the Grand Circuit tracks, was the feature of today's card at the Charter Oak Park track meeting. Followers of harness racing were keyed up with anticipation of a battle royal. The only drawback early in the day was the dubious weather outlook. The morning skies were drab in color and the wind favored rain. The track, judging from yesterday's racing, is fast. The first of the two heats has been set for 4 p. m.

The other races on the card are to be the Whirlwind purse of $4000 for 2.04 pacers, three heats, with 10 entries; the Nutmeg purse of $2000, for two year old trotters, 18 entries, and the 2.14 trot for $1200, three heats, with 22 horses named.

BOSTON ALL STARS DEFEAT ABBOTS

In an exciting game the Abbot Worsted team of Graniteville was defeated by the Boston All Stars yesterday afternoon at Abbott park, score 11 to 8. Dempsey and Connell of the Boston team covered themselves with glory by knocking out home runs. From the eighth inning until the 13th the score remained tie, but in the 13th the visitors succeeded in pushing three runs across, thereby winning the game.

SOCCER GAME

The Abbott Worsted Co. soccer team defeated the American Woolen company of Lawrence Sunday afternoon at Abbot field in Forge Village, score, 3 to 0. The lineup and summary of the game are as follows:

American Woolen Co.: Herald goal, Marsden rb, Caldwell lb, Glass rh, Foster ch, T. Gunter lh, Rennie ro, Gray ri, Watson cf, McGee il, P. Gunter ol.

Score: Abbots 3, American Woolen Co. 0. Goals: Ritchie 2, Kershaw. Referee: James Kelly. Linesmen: P. J. Darcy of Lawrence, Joe Costello of Forge Village. Time, two 5-minute periods.

TOMMY GIBBONS DEFEATS O'DOWD

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 6—Tommy Gibbons, light-heavyweight of St. Paul, scored a technical knockout over Dan O'Dowd of New York in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout yesterday. Gibbons had the New Yorker out on his feet, when the police stopped the fight.

Gibbon's victory over O'Dowd yesterday marks the 13th consecutive knockout victory for the St. Paul boxer.

TITLE STILL IN DOUBT

Both Wilson and Downey Claim Middleweight Championship

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Johnny Wilson of Boston and Bryan Downey of Cleveland, both still claimed the title of middleweight boxing champion of the world today, despite the fact they had their second fling at settling ownership of the crown in Tex Rickard's big arena at Jersey City, yesterday.

They fought 12 tame rounds, without an official decision, which is prohibited by the laws of New Jersey. Downey won the majority unofficial decision of the newspaper experts—but Wilson still holds the Rickard belt emblematic of the championship. Rickard previously had announced the belt would change hands only in case of a knockout. The fight did not even develop a knockdown.

Wilson, however, hasn't yet collected his share of the purse. The Jersey boxing commission instructed Rickard to withhould it pending an investigation of Wilson's ring tactics, which met with boos and cries of "Stalling" from the crowd. Downey forced the fighting most of the way, and was given the unofficial verdict in four of the 12 rounds. Wilson was credited with three and the others were declared even.

The argument over who was middleweight champion started recently in Cleveland, when the fighters met for the first time. In that battle Downey floored the titleholder twice, and claimed Wilson was down for 13 seconds but that the referee slowed the count to save Wilson. The referee later gave Wilson the decision on a foul, but the Cleveland boxing commission and the Ohio state body announced they recognized Downey as champion, supporting his knockout claim.

Downey entered the ring at 4.12 o'clock, his injured nose covered with a plaster. Wilson followed a minute later. Both were greeted with a ripple of applause. The referee ordered both fighters to take the tape off their hands for inspection. Both fighters were wearing adhesive tape instead of the required layer of bandages.

The men then wound their hands in the soft cotton bandages as required by the New Jersey boxing commission.

The refere was Jim Savage of Newark.

The weights were announced as: Wilson, the champion, Boston, 159 pounds; and Bryan Downey of Cleveland, O., the challenger, 154½ pounds.

Thirty-eight thousand persons occupied seats in the great pine bowl to witness the fight.

All the rear seats in the arena were vacant and the crowd appeared but a handful compared to that which witnessed the Dempsey-Carpentier fray on July 2.

There were many women present.

Round 2—They clinched and Wilson landed two light lefts on Downey's head. They exchanged lefts to the chin. There was little fighting on the part of either man, both working for an opening.

Round 7—Downey forced the fighting and had the better of an exchange at close quarters. Downey sent a straight right to the stomach. Wilson caught Downey with a left hook. They fought slowly.

Round 8—Downey landed two rights to the body and one to the jaw. Wilson hooked Downey with his left. They clinched repeatedly. Both missed many blows and were hooted by the crowd.

Round 9—Trying for a knockout Downey landed his right twice on the jaw and once in the stomach. He missed a swing to the head and nearly fell. Wilson landed a left and right swing to the body. Downey was landing body blows oftener. He rocked Wilson at the bell with a right to the jaw.

Round 10—Downey landed hard right and left to the body. Downey missed a right to the head and took several rights and lefts to the body. Downey missed and they went into a clinch at the bell.

Round 11—Downey rushed Wilson to the ropes and sent two hard rights to the jaw. Wilson sent a left hook to the stomach and they exchanged body blows at close quarters. Downey missed a right to the head and was hooked sharply by Wilson in the jaw. They exchanged rights, body blows and clinched.

Round 12—Downey was trying hard but his blows did not seem to hurt Wilson. He sent a hard right to the stomach. Downey landed a hard right to the jaw. They exchanged lefts to the stomach. They fell into a clinch and exchanged lefts and rights at the bell.

TO ACT THURSDAY

The New Jersey boxing commission will decide next Thursday afternoon whether Wilson's guarantee of $35,000 will be held up further.

"Wilson's unsatisfactory work prompted our action," said Charles McNair, a member of the commission. "He led 11 times in 12 rounds."

GOLF RESULTS OVER THE WEEK-END

Prizes for the best net scores in the 54-hole tournament at the Mt. Pleasant golf links over the week-end to A. E. Howard, Renton Mills, Adam Myrick and F. D. Langevin. The tournament brought out an exceptionally large number of entries, but there were many no-cards.

At the Vesper Country club links, Thomas Southam was declared the winner in the best selected 18-hole competition.

FIRST CALL FOR FOOTBALL PRACTICE

First call for practice for the Indians seconds football team has been issued for 7.30 o'clock this evening at Fisher's field. The manager of the team reports that he expects a ripping season this year and that he will play any team in the Indians' class.

HUDSON TEAM DEFEATED

Saturday afternoon at Abbott park, Graniteville, the Abbott Worsted company baseball team defeated the Hudson team, 6 to 5. The victory gave the Abbot team the series since it was the second straight win out of a possible three games. Senior, formerly of the Fitchburg New England league team, was in the box for the Hudson team. Ernest Williams twirled for the Abbot Worsted nine.

REMARKABLE CATCH IN LOCAL GAME

The St. Peter's A. A. added another victory to their long list yesterday when they defeated the North Ends in a brilliant game by the score of 6 to 5. The contest was played on the South common and was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd. A feature of the game was a remarkable catch by Carroll of the St. Peters. He was playing left field and after a long, hard run after the ball, fell and rolled over, and enveloped the pill while reclining on his back. The crowd voiced its appreciation of the wonderful stunt by vigorously applauding the player. The classy base running of Gath and the hitting of Harrington, Smith and Bernier, and the fine work of the North Ends' outfielders, were other features of the game.

The St. Peter's would like to tackle the pick of the Lowell fire department. "The firemen do not have to look to the C.M.A.C. for a game. We'll play 'em and beat them, too," say the St. Peter's players.

The standing of the City league is as follows:

	Won	Lost
St. Peter's	17	1
St. Columba's	12	5
Sharf Nobles	12	5
Oakleaves	8	12
Unity A. C.	5	15

U. S. DAVIS CUP TEAM MAKES CLEANUP

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 6.—American Davis cup tennis players defending the famous international trophy made their victory in the challenge round over Japan complete and decisive on the courts of the West Side club yesterday afternoon, when they won the remaining two singles matches of the five-match program.

William T. Tilden 2d, of Philadelphia, defeated Ichiya Kumagae in straight sets by scores of 9—7, 6—4, 6—1.

William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, won from Zenso Shimidzu three out of four sets, 6—3, 5—7, 6—2, 6—4.

These victories, coupled with the winning of two singles matches on Friday and the doubles match of Saturday gave Tilden and Johnston and R. Norris Williams of Boston and Watson M. Washburn of New York the doubles pair, five straight victories in a concluding round of the 1921 Davis cup matches which began last June with 12 nations in the role of challengers. These same five victories scored in retaining the trophy gave an identical final count with that made by virtually the same team in New Zealand at the beginning of the present year.

For National Unemployment Conference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Plans for the coming national unemployment conference to be held here this month, were understood today to be under consideration by administration officials.

Secretary Hoover, who was requested by the president to draw the plans for the meeting, was understood to have completed a tentative draft of the program with a slate of representative men from which Mr. Harding may select the conferees.

The administration is anxious to set to work quickly upon the unemployment program in order that necessary remedies may be evolved before winter. To this end, Mr. Hoover has expressed a hope that the president would be able to assemble the conference by the 15th or 20th of this month. To facilitate the work of the conference and avoid an unwieldy deliberate body, Mr. Hoover has expressed himself in favor of limiting the number of representatives as far as practicable.

Big Fire at Wentworth, N. H.

WENTWORTH, N. H., Sept. 6—Two stores and seven houses in the center of the town were destroyed by a fire which started here early today. The fire threatened to spread to other buildings and help was summoned from nearby towns. No one was reported injured. The cause of the fire, which started in the general store of H. F. Pero, has not been determined.

Barnes Defeats Hutchison

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—Annual competitions for a silver cup between the open golf champions of the United States and Great Britain will be suggested to the United States Golf Association by the Soundview Golf club where Jim Barnes, United States champion, yesterday defeated Jock Hutchison, holder of the British title by 5 and 4.

Officials of the club said today they hoped the trophy would be made as much of a fixture in golf as the Davis cup is in tennis.

LOWELL BOY WINS RACE AT VALLEY FALLS, R.I.

Albert Nehes of Lowell won the Sen. Reed Cup, by finishing first in the two-mile annual road race, held under the auspices of the K. of C. at Valley Falls, R. I., yesterday. There were 11 starters, including many prominent runners. Nehes was given three-fourths of a minute handicap, being third from scratch. He covered the distance in 1 minute, 61 and 1-2 seconds, which is considered good time for the course. The course is over a very rough and hilly road, with the final two laps within the park.

RING SPINNER FIXERS' HOLD FIELD DAY

Close to 1600 people attended the first annual field day of the Ring Spinner Fixers' union, which was held yesterday on the Aiken street grounds in West Centralville. The affair was successful in every way and proved very enjoyable to both children and adults. The day's program opened at 10 o'clock with a baseball game between the married and unmarried members of the union, and this proved a feature of the day. The contest was a keen one throughout and so close that ten innings had to be played, the single men winning by a score of 5 to 7.

In the course of the afternoon numerous sporting events, which included races for boys and girls, fat men, women and girls as well as interesting contests were carried out and suitable prizes were awarded the winners. At noon luncheon was served on the grounds by the committee in charge, which consisted of the following: Albert Couture, chairman; David Auclair, Frank Davis, Henri Fortier, Fred Labelle. John Mahoney had charge of the sporting events.

it off and marry her son to a wealthy society girl. Mary chafes under the parasitic conditions of her life and begs Philip to leave. A child is born, however, and Mrs. Dominick, her motherly instincts aroused, begs them to stay on. Despite careful nursing, the child dies.

From this point on, the action becomes increasingly absorbing and the eventual happiness of Philip and Mary is the pleasing denouement. Miss Clayton seems more beautiful than ever in this production and her supporting cast is exceptionally capable.

"Footlights," the other big feature for the first half of the week, presents Elsie Ferguson in a most fascinating story of the stage. Miss Ferguson who has been termed the most beautifully dressed woman on the screen, considers this one of the most delightful roles of her career. She wears no less than 30 gowns in her role of an American girl impersonating a Russian actress. Dainty morning dresses, luxuriant gowns for afternoon and evening, filmy negligee and daring sport costumes constitute her wardrobe.

Other features of the Paramount week bill include a most entertaining comedy and the International News.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Lowell had its second "first night" of the season last evening, when the Opera House was the scene of the new stock company's opening. With Keith's already under way, the debut of the new players definitely completed the renewal of the city's theatrical life. The usual holiday audiences were present to greet the members of the stock company, and to find out "what they had." Apparently all were well pleased, both by the vehicle and by the manner in which it was handled by the cast.

"Adam and Eva," a comedy drama in three acts by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, had been selected as the initial attraction of the season. The piece is light and amusing, and was interpreted with success. Miss Grayce Scott and William Howard are leading woman and leading man respectively. Both are new to Lowell's playgoers, who testified yesterday to their approval of Manager J. W. Schanke's selections.

In order of their appearance, the cast was as follows:

James King, a rich man.
Richard Castilla
Corinthia, his parlor maid,
Marion Coogan
Clinton de Witt, his son-in-law,
Clarence Chase
Julie de Witt, his eldest daughter,
Mabel Griffith
Eva King, his youngest daughter,
Grayce Scott
Aunt Abbey Rooker, his sister-in-law .....Ollie Minell
Dr. Jack Delamater, his neighbor,
Jack Matthews
Uncle Horace Pilgrim, his cousin
John Ravold
Adam Smith, his business manager
William Howard
Lord Andrew Gordon, his would-be son-in-law .....Kalman Matus

There is nothing very deep about "Adam and Eva." It is merely the customary fluffy comedy which gives an evening of relaxation and enjoyment, without imposing a tax upon the mental faculties. It is one of those pieces which depends for its success largely upon the dash and verve of the presenting company. Of course, Lowell's new stock company was on its mettle yesterday afternoon and evening, for first impressions are of importance in the theatre as elsewhere. Consequently, a pair of creditable performances were viewed.

Mr. Schanke addressed the audience last evening, between the second and third acts. He promised a well selected repertoire of plays, culled from the Broadway successes of the past season.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors, and all other persons interested in the estate of John McCann, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased to Helen L. McCann, of Lowell, the County of Middlesex, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourteenth day of September, A. D., 1921, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of August, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

F. M. ESTY, Register.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Middlesex, ss.
Lowell, Aug. 22, A. D., 1921.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday, the eighth day of October, A. D., 1921, at 10 o'clock a. m. at my office, 31 Central block, 53 Central street, in Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, all the right, title and interest that James Thomas of Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, (had not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the eighteenth day of October, A. D., 1919, at 4 o'clock and five minutes in the afternoon, being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, bounded: commencing at the corner of a passageway fifteen feet wide on Lewis street, and running northerly on said Lewis street forty-five feet; thence running easterly on land now or late of Mary Davis fifty-five feet; thence running southerly by lot eleven about forty-five feet to the passage-way; thence running westerly by said passage-way about fifty-five feet to the point of beginning; be the said measurements more or less or however otherwise bounded or described, and right of passage over said passageway, being the same premises conveyed to James Thomas and Charisola Thomas by Nickolas D. Spiropoulos, executor, by deed dated June 9, 1919, and recorded with Middlesex North District Registry Deeds, Book 610, Page 413.

BERNARD F. GATELY,
Deputy Sheriff.

PICTURE OF LELACHEUR-MAHONEY BRIDAL PARTY ON STEPS OF NEW ST. ANDREWS' CHURCH

FIRST WEDDING IN NEW ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The first wedding to be performed in the new St. Andrew's church in North Billerica took place yesterday morning when Mr. Paul J. LeLacheur, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. LeLacheur and Miss Gertrude Rita Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Mahoney two very popular young people of the North village, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The marriage was solemnized at a nuptial mass celebrated at 9.45 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. David J. Murphy. As the bridal party entered the church, Miss Etta Hoar, the organist, played Lohengrin's wedding march and as a recessional she played Mendelssohn's wedding march. At the opening of the service Miss Kathleen Jennings sang "O Salutaris." At the close of the mass Miss Jennings and Mr. Cummings sang in a duet Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The bride wore ivory satin with court-en-train, trimmed with chantilly lace; a veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Hortense LeLacheur, a sister of the groom who wore pink silk organdie trimmed with tulle, and picture hat to match. The best man was Mr. Louis J. Mahoney, a brother of the bride. Little Miss Harriet Mahoney sister of the bride, who acted as flower girl, was attired in blue silk organdie with pink mallne hat and carried a basket of sweet peas.

At the close of the mass the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents in Wilson street, where a wedding breakfast was served by Caterer Lydon to immediate relatives of the couple. Later Mr. and Mrs. LeLacheur, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on an automobile honeymoon trip to the White mountains. Upon their return they will journey south and will make their home at West Palm Beach, Fla., where the groom expects to start in business. Mrs. LeLacheur has been prominent in social circles of North Billerica while Mr. LeLacheur is a popular member of Billerica Post 116, American Legion, having served in the navy aboard the U. S. S. Pennsylvania during the world war.

THEY SAID I WAS TOO OLD TO GET BACK BEAUTY BUT—

I FOOLED THEM ALL—

I Did It With Kijja—A Remarkable Beauty Secret of Old Egypt—It Will Increase the Beauty of Any Woman of Any Age—Girls or Grandmothers

One fortunate day I read about a remarkable beauty secret of old Egypt called Kijja and I told some of my friends I thought I would try it; but they laughed at me and said I was too old, that women of my age who were so wrinkled and had such bad complexions could not hope to do anything for themselves. But again I read the following:—

"The very hot, dry climate in which the Egyptians lived and the scorching windstorms from off the desert were very trying on a woman's skin and complexion and these unfortunate climatic conditions made it absolutely necessary for them to search diligently for products to protect the skin and beautify their complexions or run the risk of losing their beauty. The wonderful success of the Egyptians in this respect is proven by the fact that notwithstanding their unfavorable geographical location the women have always been noted for the marvelous beauty of their skin and complexions and Egypt's great success in the art of embalming (a lost art to us) shows that in some respects she reached scientific heights which have never been duplicated in modern times. Cleopatra, even up to the time of her death, appears to have been just as fascinating as in youth."

After reading the above I went out and bought a bottle of Kijja. The first night I applied it to my face I was delighted and astonished. I had never looked so well before; and after using Kijja for three weeks—well you ought to have seen me. I fixed myself up and went out to meet my old friends who had laughed at me, and you ought to have seen the look of astonishment on their faces. I certainly fooled them all. Then they wanted to know how I did it, they had forgotten all about Kijja, and I left them guessing but now I feel I should tell the world so that others may benefit thereby.

By request the name of the writer of the above is withheld, but you can try Kijja, on an absolute guarantee, that if it does not produce sufficiently successful results in three days to prove absolutely that its continued use for a short time will marvelously enhance your beauty and make you look years younger; the manufacturers will refund your money.

Kijja (pronounced Ke-zzha) a remarkable Beauty secret of old Egypt, is for sale in Lowell by Green's and other drug stores and department stores.

ULTIMATUM MEANS WAR, SAYS DE VALERA

Girl Strikes Negro in Barnstable Court

Tomorrow's Meeting of British Cabinet Called to Act on Irish Reply, Expected to Prove Historic

ULTIMATUM TO IRISH HINTED

Many Believe De Valera Will Be Given Limited Time to Accept or Reject Offer

Americans Hope Britain and Ireland Will Soon Smoke "Pipe of Peace"

Prime Minister Meets Cabinet Members and Authorities From Ireland

DUBLIN, Sept. 6. (By the Associated Press.)--Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, declared in a statement to the press today that if England issued an ultimatum to the Sinn Fein no pretense would hide that it was an application of force, which must mean war and not peace.

The Irish leader referred to the British imperial statesmen as trying to sell Ireland second rate political margarine and as angry because Irishmen refuse to accept the butter label. He added: "Ireland wants butter. She will not be deceived into thinking she has it until she sees it actually delivered."

Crisis Imminent

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Prime Minister Lloyd George today held conversations with members of his cabinet and civil and military authorities in Ireland, relative to the situation which has ariscen as a result of thfe latest note to the British government from Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader. The prime minister met his colleagues at Inverness, near Gairloch, Scotland, where he has been spending a brief vacation. It was believed the Irish situation would be talked over preliminary to the meeting of the cabinet at Inverness tomorrow.

Although London newspaper continued today to counsel patience and forebearance in dealing with the Irish question, there were certain indications that the Irish controversy had virtually reached a crisis, and that tomorrow's meeting of the British ministry might prove historic. There were many who believed that Mr. de Valera and his colleagues at Dub-

STOREKEEPERS IN POLICE COURT

Four More Warrants Sworn Out and More Arrests Are Predicted

The names of three defendants were called in the district court this morning on charges of violating the state prohibition laws, and four more arrests are officially predicted, as the result of week-end activities on the part of the new, enlarged liquor squad. Paul J. Kokolias was fined $100 for unlawful sale. A bottle of Jamaica ginger was purchased at his Moody street variety store Saturday night by the officers. The case of Simon Harelgan was continued to September 8. It is alleged that he also sold "jakie" at his Bridge street store. William Allard, who the officers claim sold a half pint of moonshine Saturday night at a dwelling on Marshall street, failed to appear. A relative offered a doctor's certificate to the effect that the defendant was ill and would be unable to leave his bed for several days. Judge Enright, however, ruled that the certificate was not valid as it had not been sworn to, nor did it specify the cause of illness. Allard was therefore defaulted, but it was explained that the physician by making out a properly worded and sworn certificate might have the default removed.

Warrants will be sworn out against four additional local residents in connection with the week-end work of the liquor force, declared Sergeant Michael H. Winn, head of the squad, this morning. Some time before the end of the week arrests will follow, he stated. One of the defendants will be haled before the court as the result of a visit to a local near beer saloon, according to Winn, who also said that the other three alleged offences involved unlawful liquor dealings in private residences.

NEW U.S. NOTE ON MANDATES

Understood to Refer to Classes A and B as Administered Under League

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The United States government has addressed a new note to all allied powers on the subject of mandated territories. Official announcement that the note had been dispatched last week was made today at the state department.

The note was described as covering in full the question of mandates although department officials declined to discuss its contents until they had received assurances it had reached the various governments to which it had been sent. Replies were expected within 24 hours, officials said, and arrangements were being made for the publication of the document within that time.

The communication was understood to refer specifically to class A and B mandates as administered under the League of Nations and to reiterate the position of the United States government with regard to rights to mandated territories.

GIRL ATTACKS NEGRO IN COURT

Miss Butler Sets Upon Joseph Andrews During Hearing at Barnstable

BARNSTABLE, Sept. 6.—Joseph Andrews, one of three Cape Verde Island negroes, charged with assaulting Miss Gertrude Butler of Buzzards Bay, recently, was struck in the face by her while she was testifying at his hearing in the juvenile session of the lower court today.

Miss Butler was retestifying to events of the night three weeks ago when she said she and William Eldredge, her escort, were held up by the three negroes. Before others in the courtroom could prevent her, the witness jumped from the stand screaming and set upon Andrews.

She struck him a stinging blow in the face before officers interfered and took her from the room. After a brief delay, she resumed her testimony. Meanwhile Andrews had been given a seat farther from the witness stand.

Miss Butler and Eldredge were the only witnesses heard. At the conclusion of their testimony, Andrews was held for the grand jury on charges of criminal assault and highway robbery.

FIELD DAY AT SPALDING PARK

Stirring Address by Sister-in-Law of Late Lord Mayor of Cork

Big Parade Starting From South Common Was Feature of the Day

The field day at Spalding park yesterday, held under the auspices of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, was a magnificent success. The feature of the occasion was the stirring address of Miss Anna Walsh, sister-in-law of the late Lord Mayor MacCurtain of Cork. It is really wonderful to hear the eloquence of the Irish girls who come

AT TOMB OF WASHINGTON

Dual Anniversary of Birth of Lafayette and First Battle of the Marne

Pres. Harding Declares U.S.'s Indebtedness to the French Soldier Was Eternal

MOUNT VERNON, W. Va., Sept. 6.—The dual anniversary of the birth of Lafayette and the first battle of the Marne was celebrated with impressive ceremonies today at the tomb of Washington.

President Harding, unable to be present, sent a message declaring America's indebtedness to the French soldier was eternal and praising the "dauntless courage" of American soldiers in the second battle of the Marne. Similar messages were sent by Secretary of State Hughes and Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France.

Pres. Harding's Message

The president's message said:

"To Gen. Lafayette in no small measure the success of the Revolution was due. With no sordid motives, but inflamed with ardent sympathy and a passionate desire to help them, he

BANDIT FLEES FROM JAIL, COMPANION KILLED

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—Roy Gardner, mail train bandit, who escaped yesterday from the federal prison at McNeil island, near here, during a break in which one prisoner was killed, apparently has reached the mainland, one mile away, prison guards declared today, when their search of the island failed to reveal the missing man.

This was Gardner's fourth break for liberty, each time under sensational circumstances.

He escaped yesterday during a baseball game in the prison grounds. Everett Impyn, former Camp Lewis soldier, serving a life sentence, was shot and killed by guards as he fled with Gardner. Lawardus Bogart, another prisoner, was recaptured after he had been seriously wounded by rifle fire. Bogart was sentenced with Impyn from Camp Lewis.

During a tense moment in the baseball match Gardner, Impyn and Bogart made for the prison fence. Gardner cut the wire with a pair of wire cutters and passed through but his companions were shot down.

o'clock, was a feature of the day. It was led by a platoon of police under command of Sergt. Frawley and Chief Marshal Thomas Delehanty, with whom were Stephen Flynn and Michael Sharkey, prominent workers in the movement. The Irish Pipers' band of Worcester also at the head of procession played inspiring airs including the leading Irish marches such as "Garryowen," "The Wearing of the Green," "The Soldiers' Song" and others now popular in Ireland. The band was under the leadership of Christopher O'Leary and John A. Larkin, state director from the fourth congressional district and Michael Fleming, a newspaperman of Worcester, accompanied the musicians. There was a program of field sports that interested the young people in particular including as it did a football game between the St. Enda's of Lowell and the Tipperary team of Boston. The latter is a leader of the Gaelic Athletic league of Masachusetts. The contest ended in a tie between the two teams.

Over 660 members of the different councils under their respective officers marched in the parade carrying American flags and banners properly inscribed advocating the purchase of American goods in preference to those imported. Arriving at Spalding park the crowd found many midway features conducted by the different councils of the A.A.R.I.R. and these did a thriving business during the entire day.

Miss Walsh started her address in Gaelic and then spoke in English. She declared that the Irish people will suffer extermination rather than accept any halfway modicum of settlement that would leave the main question still unsettled. It is now death or freedom.

Miss Walsh arrived from Boston shortly after 3 o'clock and after addressing the crowd had to rush back to the Boston common, where she also addressed another audience. Accomnell central board of Lowell, who after O'Brien of Chicago, and Miss Nora Cryan and Mrs. John J. Clowrey of this city.

The big meeting was opened by John Barrett, president of the O'Connell central board of Lowell, who after a brief message of hope introduced James O'Sullivan as the presiding officer.

Mr. O'Sullivan discussed the dominion status offered by Lloyd George and said it is not what the people want and it falls short of the dominion government as applied in Canada. He then presented Miss Walsh.

After a graceful response to the applause with which she was received Miss Walsh made brief remarks in Gaelic and changing to English said.

"I have heard a great many people say that Ireland has been made a splendid offer and that she should accept it. They tell us we have the same privilege as that enjoyed by Canada but we have not. Under that offer we would not have the right of secession enjoyed by Canada and Australia and surely we do not want that. Anyway we are not fighting for home rule. If we accepted it we would be bound to the British empire forever. We cannot secede from the British empire because we never became a part of it and are not going to become a part of it now. England came to our shores as an invader and in repelling that invader our people have handed down the fight to us.

"We cannot hand down that fight to posterity now. It must be finished for good. When the last man is gone in Ireland the women are ready to take their places and when they are gone too, then the children of Ireland will be ready. The children are learning sad lessons today. They are learning the lessons of reprisals and funerals, lessons that will linger in their hearts and that will enlarge us they grow older. Ireland is fighting this fight alone and the world looks on, and if Ireland has to fight again she will be ready to fight even if alone, and ready to go down in glory rather than surrender their nationhood.

"We are not asking America to establish a republic of Ireland. We have done that ourselves. It was baptized with the blood of the Irish martyrs of 1916. All we ask of America is to recognize that republic without military interference of any kind. I have not come to beg to America. I have come to remind her what she owes to Ireland. When America wanted recognition herself she sent Benjamin Franklin to our people and we not merely gave our sympathy, but we gave our practical sympathy in the way of bread and blood.

Miss Walsh then told of the terrible sufferings of the Irish people during the past five years, dealing with the heroic efforts of the Irish republican army, the men and boys who laid down their lives willingly for the cause of freedom and the patient and heroic women who in silence endured the terrible suspense. She paid a tender tribute to the noble spirits like Patrick Pearce, the first president of the Irish republic and the others who had suffered martyrdom in order that Ireland might take her place among the nations of the earth.

Miss Walsh recited some of the terrible incidents of the recent struggle under the raids and the atrocities of the Black and Tans. Practically everyone in the vast audience was moved to tears as she told of the raids and the murders under cover of darkness and the protection of the curfew law. Her own house, she said, was raided 20 times and for six months her family slept with heavy coats ready to run out at a moment's notice.

"I don't want to tell you of all the raids" she continued "but I want to speak of one. After several raids we moved to my sister's, Mrs. MacCurtain's and I was there when Thomas was elected alderman. In the shouting and cheering that night I wept, for I did not know on what mountainside he was sleeping. Two weeks later, on the 20th of March, we knew he was elected lord mayor by the processions of drums and pipers going by his window and I felt that would mean his end.

"A night soon after when he stole home, 246 men with blackened faces surrounded our home. There were 246 paid murderers to get one Irish volunteer. My sister thought it was the customary raid and as she opened the door for them nine heads rushed by her. I heard them say, 'Hold that one anyway and soon after I heard them say, 'Come out MacCurtain.' My sister appealed to one of them if he had any mother. In her delicate condition that night they killed not only MacCurtain but his two children who were born dead. The other five children were screaming in terror upstairs.

"I heard the shot from my room and from the groaning in the landing I knew that they had shot the lord mayor. His wife came up after they let her go and she said, 'Cheer up,—Tom boy, you are dying for Ireland.' A smile came over his pallid face and as his life's blood ran over my night clothes he looked up and said 'Unto thy hands O Lord I commend my spirit' and another soul went forth to join the gallant band of 1916. Now another procession goes by his door but this time the silence is only broken by the sobs of the women and by the muffled drums playing, "Wrap the Green Flag Round Me," as they bore his body to the republican plot.

"I stood at his graveside as I heard Terence MacSwiney's farewell words and soon after I visited the graveside again and saw not only the grave of Thomas MacCurtain but that of Terence MacSwiney, his lifelong friend and succeeding lord mayor. The plot was nearly empty then but it is full now. I tell you all this merely to bring it properly before your mind and to make an effort to have you prevent it if it should be threatened again. Our martyrs are calling to us not to give in and you can bring victory in a short time without you shedding a drop of blood. Impress the need of recognition upon your congressman and senators. There can be no peace until there is a withdrawal of these troops."

"The recognition of the republic which was baptised with the blood of the martyrs of 1916 is what we desire," continued the speaker, "and it is upon that we will insist when any plenipotentiaries meet the representatives of England again, and it is for the supporters in America to get busy and hasten that recognition as soon as possible before more innocent blood will be spent by the drunken ruffians of England who roam through the country at will.

"We want peace in Ireland but we want a just peace, and if hostilities are again resumed every rivulet in the boreens and every road in the land will flow red with the blood of our patriots before we give in. We have pledged ourselves to Ireland's cause and we will not surrender until every man, woman and child is exterminated. It is death before disgrace."

The speaker aroused her audience to great enthusiasm by the recital of Ireland's struggle and what the people are suffering in their fight for freedom.

At the conclusion of her address Miss Walsh was presented a beautiful string of pearl beads, the gift of the women engaged in the movement. Miss Nora Cryan made the presentation to which Miss Walsh made an appropriate response.

Mr. Luke Shields of Boston made a fine address, urging the wisdom of buying American made goods in preference to imported in order that there may be a greater demand for domestic work for the thousands of unemployed who are walking the streets of American cities today unable to find employment.

Mr. Michael J. Sharkey, on behalf of the committee presented a set of resolutions which urged the recognition of the Irish republic by the United States and the support of the Irish cause until complete independence has been secured.

THE SPORTS AND BOOTHS

The football game between the St. Enda's of Lowell and the Tipperary team of Boston provided a lot of amusement and excitement for an hour or more. The play somewhat resembles that of soccer and it furnishes an abundance of thrills for both spectators and players. Many of the assembled thousands had never seen a game of Gaelic football before and they enjoyed it to the full. The game was divided into two periods of half an hour's duration and at the end of the last half the score was tied. Both sides were well satisfied, for although there was a lot of friendly rivalry in evidence the two teams were about evenly matched and the outcome was satisfactory to the crowd.

The winners of the other field events were as follows: 100 yard dash, Simon Dean, first; John Flynn, second; 220 yard race, first, John Flynn and Simon Dean, second; Margaret O'Connor and Evelyn Purcell, second; hop, step and jump, first, James Andromedas, and Mr. Cote, second; fat man's race first, Timothy Reardon and second, James Clancy; half mile race, first, James Crowe and second, Patrick Mullane; five mile marathon, won by "Billy" Salmon and second, John Sousa.

The councils in charge of the various booths and stands are as follows: Oliver Plunkett council of St. Peter's parish, dolls and candy, Mr. McInerney; George Washington council, of the Sacred Heart, baskets, Mr. Brennan; Paul Kittredge council of the Immaculate Conception, sandwiches and coffee, Mr. Kane; General Guiney council of St. Michael's, silverware; Nathan Hale council of St. Patrick's, ice cream and cake; Lafayette council of St. Columba's, tonic; Gen. Shields council, of Chelmsford Centre, fish pond and balloons; St. Margaret's blankets.

SAYS IT SAVED HER FROU OPERATION

LUDLOW WOMAN GAINS 12 POUNDS AND SAYS SHE HASN'T A TRACE OF FORMER TROUBLE

"I firmly believe Tanlac has saved me from an operation," said Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, 55 Windsor street, Ludlow, Mass.

"About five years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach. I kept trying to find relief, always with disappointing results, and finally I was told I had cancer of the stomach, and that I should go to a hospital and have an operation. But I had such a horror of the operating table that I just worried along, suffering awfully, and hardly hoping to ever be well again. I was so run down that often for two or three days at a time I couldn't do a bit of my housework, and just a few steps walking would tire me out completely. I had no appetite, nothing tasted good or agreed with me, and I couldn't sleep well. At times I had indigestion so bad I could hardly stand it, and my kidneys bothered me a great deal, too.

"Some of my friends told me about Tanlac, and it certainly has proved a godsend to me. Why, besides getting rid of all my suffering, I've actually gained twelve pounds in weight, and am eating and sleeping good just like I did years ago. I feel so well I go about my housework singing, and I can't help but praise Tanlac every chance I get."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

An entertaining combination of mystery and fun is "D.D.H.," the headline attraction at B. F. Keith's theatre this week and judging from the big reception it received at yesterday's two performances it should meet with great success for the rest of thhe week.

To disclose just what "D. D. H." is here would mean less pleasure for those who intend to see it during the week. It isn't a ouija board, nor a talking machine, nor a picture nor an animal. However, it is a perfect haven of fun and mirth. It's unusual—so unusual that it rightfully is awarded first place on the week's bill of attractions.

An Irish act that touches the high spots of prettiness and melody is that presented by Robert Reilly, "the Immaculate Irish gentleman," supported by Molly Kennedy and Little Larry. Reilly sings the sweet songs of Erin in a manner all his own and in costumes of the long ago he tells a pretty love story with a waltz melody running through it. Miss Kennedy, one of his assistants is very sweet to look upon and Larry, his boy partner, is a capable youth. The trio make a capable team.

Jean McCoy and Ralph Walton in their comedy skit "A Few Minutes With Ouija," have an out-of-the-ordinary act full of fun, much of it of the slapstick variety. Their repartee is good and every now and then is emphasized by a vigorous slap. The act isn't exactly a boxing match, but some of the blows struck would do credit to the gentlemen of the ring.

"Once a Thief" is a playlet that starts off with seemingly serious intent, but winds up in rollicking comedy. Thomas P. Jackson plays the leading role and gives his lines with the skill of a veteran. Miss Jean Russell makes an excellent partner.

Lowe, Feeley & Stella, two girls and a man, have a singing, dancing and general comedy act. The Airplane Girls open the bill with clever trapeze work and the Garcinetti brothers are novelty hat throwers.

One of the features of the Pathe News pictures this week is the appearance of "Roundy" Roane, the Lowell boy who is traveling in France with the American Legion delegation. Roane is shown in a group of legionaires who are unveiling a statue. Topics of the Day and a travelogue complete the bill.

STRAND THEATRE

Three good numbers constitute the program at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. They are "The Heart of Maryland," with Catherine Calvert in the title role, "The Beautiful Gambler" featuring Grace Darmond in the leading part, and "The Goat" a Buster Keaton comedy. In addition, there are interesting pictures of current events as well as enjoyable musical numbers.

"The Heart of Maryland" is the story of a young woman who is engaged to an officer in the federal army. When the Civil war breaks out, the young officer is forced to fight against his father, who is a general in the confederate army. The story develops a little romance, which is carried on very cleverly.

"The Beautiful Gambler" is a western play of great merit. It shows the contrast between the west and the east and of course, as in all other plays, it features a love story which has all the vigor and action that one could possibly desire. Buster Keaton in "The Goat," a new contribution is a genuine laugh provoker. This is a snappy number and one that will surely please lovers of good comedy. The other numbers are also very enjoyable.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

For Paramount week the Merrimack Square theatre management has arranged a program of exceptional merit and of more than average quality of entertainment, judging from the offerings which were shown to large crowds on the holiday. Two of Paramount's stars most popular in Lowell, Ethel Clayton and Elsie Ferguson, are introduced in vehicles particularly adapted to their abilities. Miss Clayton is starred in "Wealth," a dramatic story of modern life that made an intense appeal, while Miss Ferguson is seen in "Footlights," a story of the stage that leaves the usual stereotyped path traveled by most stories of the theatre.

The story of "Wealth" has to do with Mary McLeod, a young artist, who goes to a cabaret to seek a type for a drawing of "Wild Women." There she is attracted by Philip Dominick, a dashing young millionaire whose exploits are daring. Some weeks later, Mary is aboard a train en route home. She discovers her pocketbook has been left behind. Dominick represents himself to the conductor as her brother and she takes his drawing room for the night while Philip retires to the smoking car. A romance develops, ending in marriage. Philip's mother, upon whom he is dependent for money, detests the match, determines to break

Immense Crowd Sees Human Fly Scamper Up Side of Chalifoux Building

Attracted by the startling feats which Sergeant George E. Polley, the human fly, performed Friday evening in scaling the Sun building, an immense crowd began to gather yesterday morning in anticipation of his climb of the Chalifoux building, which was scheduled for noon and came off according to plans. The famous "artist of the impossible" successfully negotiated the dangerous walls of the structure, made doubly hazardous by the elaborate ornamentation, and reached the top in quick time. To top things off, Polly treated the gasping spectators to the sight of a man unconcernedly riding a bicycle along the very edge of the roof, with but the fraction of an inch at times between him and death on the pavement below.

Two hours prior to the time set for the feat, people had begun to assemble in Merrimack square. Gradually the crowd grew more dense, and when the various city clocks chimed the hour of noon, one solidly packed mass of humanity extended in every direction. Promptly on time, as is his commendable custom, Sergeant Polley appeared upon a window sill of the building preparatory to his task. He addressed the crowd briefly, and then descended to the street, from which he started to mount. When he had gotten well under way, it was discovered by his manager, Llew Davis, that an infant in a baby carriage had been for some mysterious reason left temporarily by its mother on the sidewalk directly beneath the point at which Polley was then climbing. The child and its carriage were placed in a nearby doorway, but when another start was about to be made, the parent of the baby appeared and emitted a cry which caused the spectators, already under nigh nervous tension, to jump. She had discovered that the child was not where it had been put. She was soon reassured, however, and Polley continued his ascent.

Varying the climb with hair-raising frills such as pretended falls, the daredevil sergeant finally attained the fourth floor, where for a time he seemed to be in difficulty. A far-projecting cornice barred his path upwards, and several attempts were required before a supreme effort enabled him to get his leg over the cornice. There was a great deal of applause for this surprising feature of the exhibition, as many no doubt thought that Polley would be unable to pass this cornice, which appeared too much for any man, however amazing. At the edge of the roof, however, an even more seemingly impossible task was awaiting the famous war vet. The edge of the roof came out for a distance of several feet above Polley's head. Many attempts to lean out and grasp the edge proved fruitless. Then, to the astonishment of the watchers, Polley launched himself into the air, and seized the edge, hanging there at arm's length with nothing between him and the sidewalk far below. Now he was holding on with a single arm, while his legs dangled over space. But the usual thing happened. Polley took hold of the edge with both hands, tensed his muscles, swung his body to and fro, and finally threw a leg over the edge and a moment later stood safe and sound on the roof. The bicycle ride followed. Polley seemed quite calm as he pedalled along, but the hearts of all others were in their mouths. The only real peril he encountered, Polley said afterwards, was at one point where his fingers became caught in the cornice ornamentation. His legs were becoming cramped as he vainly sought to free them. He at last succeeded in doing this in the nick of time. "That's the only time there was any danger," according to Polley; but those who saw him were inclined to the opinion that if they were attempting the stunt they would sort of feel somewhat in danger throughout the feat.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS REOPEN MONDAY

Announcement of the re-opening of the parochial schools next Monday, September 12, was made in a number of the local Catholic churches Sunday. Parents were warned that they must present the baptismal certificates of children who are to enter school for the first time this fall.

It was announced at the Sacred Heart church that enrolment for the university extension classes to be held during the fall and winter months in the parochial school hall would be held next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Classes will be formed in elementary arithmetic, accounting, English, foods and nutrition and dressmaking if the registration warrants it.

Members of various societies received communion in the Catholic churches and there was a large attendance at all the masses.

ALLEGED DISTURBERS HELD FOR HEARING

The aftermath of the fracas Saturday night aboard a Lakeview one-man car came up in court this morning, when William McLaughlin, William J. Hanlon and Edward T. McKenna appeared as defendants. McKenna and Hanlon were charged with larceny, assault and battery, and drunkenness while the last of these three charges was lodged against McLaughlin. It is alleged that James P. Ryan, motorman of the car, was assailed, and $11 that he dropped during the excitement was taken. Each of the trio was held for a hearing September 13.

LOWELL OFFICERS AT HAMPTON BEACH

Officer Alfred J. Cooney of the local vice squad, and Officer Patrick H. Clark, left this city Sunday for Hampton beach, where they will remain on special duty during the carnival which is being held there this week. The authorities of the resort made special request for the services of the two local officers, because of their wide experience in work in the suppression of vice and illicit booze dealings. The police department here found it possible to release the two officers for this duty.

lin would be given a certain limited time in which they could either accept or reject the British government's offer of Dominion status for Ireland as a basis for a settlement of the ancient controversy.

A party of American tourists has sent anonymously to the premier and the cabinet a box of cigars. Accompanying the cigars was a note of personal esteem and of appreciation of Prime Minister Lloyd George's efforts to "settle the age-long Irish problem." Hope was expressed that "Ireland and Great Britain might soon smoke together the pipe of peace."

De Valera's Reply

The Irish republican reply, which was given out yesterday, says the differences between Great Britain and Ireland can only be reconciled on the principle of government by consent of the governed "and on this basis we are ready at once to appoint plenipotentiaries." The communication reads:

"We, too, are convinced it is essential that some definite and immediate progress should be made toward a basis upon which further negotiations can usefully proceed, and recognize the futility of 'a mere exchange of argumentative notes. I shall therefore refrain from commenting on the fallacious historical references in your last communication. The present is the reality with which we have to deal.

"The conditions of today are resultant of the past. Accurately summing up and giving in simplest form the essential data of the problem these data are:

"First: The people of Ireland, acknowledging no voluntary union with Great Britain and claiming as their fundamental and natural right to choose freely for themselves the path they shall take to realize their national destiny have, by an overwhelming majority, declared for independence and set up a republic and more than once have confirmed their choice.

"Second: Great Britain, on the other hand, acts as though Ireland were bound to her by a contract of union that forbids separation.

"The circumstances of the supposed contract are notorious. Yet, on the theory of its validity, the British government and parliament claimed to rule and legislate for Ireland, even to the point of partitioning Irish territory against the will of the Irish people and killing or casting into prison every Irish citizen who refuses allegiance. The proposals your government submitted in the draft of July 20 are based fundamentally on the latter premises. We rejected these proposals and our rejection is irrevocable. They are not an invitation to Ireland to enter into a free and willing partnership with the free nations of the British commonwealth. They are an invitation to Ireland to enter in the guise of and under conditions which determine a status definitely inferior to that of these free states.

"Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand are all guaranteed against domination of the major state, not only by acknowledged constitutional rights which give them equality of status with Great Britain and absolute freedom from the control of the British parliament, but by the thousands of miles which separate them from Great Britain. Ireland would have guarantees neither of distance nor of right. The conditions sought to be imposed would divide her into two artificial states, each destructive of the other's influence in any common council, and both subject to military, naval and economic control by the British government.

"The main historical and geographical facts are not in dispute, but your government insists on viewing them from your standpoint and we must be allowed to view them from ours. The history you interpret as dictating union we read as dictating separation. Our interpretation of the fact of 'geographical propinquity' is no less diametrically opposed. We are convinced that ours is the true and just interpretation and as proof are willing that a neutral and impartial arbitrator should be the judge. You refuse and threaten to give effect to your view by force. Our reply must be that if you adopt that course we can only desist as generations before us have resisted. Force will not solve the problem and it will never secure the ultimate victory over reason and right.

"If you again resort to force, and if victory be not on the side of justice, the problem that confronts us will confront our successors. The fact that for 750 years the problem has resisted solution by force is evidence and warning sufficient. It is true wisdom, therefore, and true statesmanship, not only false idealism, that prompts me and my colleagues. Threats of force must be set aside. They must be set aside from the beginning as well as during actual conduct of the negotiations.

"The respective plenipotentiaries must meet untrammelled by any conditions save the facts themselves, and must be prepared to reconcile subsequent differences, not by appeals to force, covert or open, but by reference to some guiding principle of government by consent of the governed, and do not mean it as a mere phrase. It is a simple expression of the test to which any proposed solution must respond if it is to prove adequate, and it can be used as the criterion for the details as well as for the whole. That you claim it is a peculiarly British principle, instituted by the British and 'now the very life of the British commonwealth' should make it peculiarly acceptable to you.

"On this basis, and this only, we see hope of reconciling the considerations which must govern the attitude of Great Britain's representatives with the consideration that must govern the attitude of Ireland's representatives and on this basis we are ready at once to appoint plenipotentiaries."

Arms For Unionists

BELFAST, Sept. 6—Unionists employed by a large concern near the scene of the recent rioting in this city held a meeting last night and were given arms with which to protect themselves if attacked. Routes were indicated to the men with the advice that they should use them for reaching and leaving their place of employment. It was declared that the meeting was a sequel of the speech of Owen O'Duffy at Armagh on Sunday, in which Mr. O'Duffy declared the boycott against Ulsted would be tightened by the Sinn Fein and if that was unsuccessful in bringing Ulster into a united Ireland, "we will bring lead against them."

Charles Harvey, wounded during the rioting of last week, died this morning. He was the 19th victim of the disorders.

WHY YOU NEED IRON—

To make you strong and "brainy" and put the power into your blood to overcome disease germs

PRACTICAL ADVICE ON HOW TO DEVELOP GREAT ENERGY AND ENDURANCE

The food you eat contains carbon. When your food is digested it is absorbed from the intestines into the blood. When the carbon in your food comes in contact with the oxygen carried by the iron in your blood, the carbon and oxygen unite and by so doing they give off tremendous energy, thereby giving you great force, strength and endurance. Without iron, your blood carries no oxygen and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food, so that what you eat does you no good—you do not get any strength from it. It is like putting coal into a stove without a fire. You cannot get any heat unless the coal unites with the fire.

The strongest weapon with which to prevent and overcome colds, pneumonia, kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervous prostration, in fact almost any disease or disease germs, is plenty of good, rich, pure blood, strength, energy and endurance, and the greatest energy carrier in the body is organic iron, not metallic iron which people usually take, but organic iron like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples and like the iron contained in what is known as organic Nuxated Iron, which may be had from almost any druggist.

If you have been taking metallic iron without benefit such is no proof that organic Nuxated Iron will not help you. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength, energy and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time. It is such an extremely valuable product that even the Pope at Rome wrote especially of its merits in a communication to the Pharmacie Normale. It has been used and highly recommended by former United States senators, members of congress, judges of United States courts, many physicians and prominent men.

Over 4,000,000 people are now using it annually. Satisfactory results are guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Sold by all druggists in tablet form only.—Adv.

CHEMISTS IN SESSION

International Conference Expected to Be Attended By 3000 Delegates

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Chemists of Great Britain, Canada and the United States began an international conference here today which was heralded as the greatest meeting in the history of their science and industry. More than 3000 of them were expected to attend the series of addresses, symposiums and exhibits which will continue through September 10, embracing all phases of chemical work, with particular emphasis on post-war problems.

The following seven days will be devoted to the seventh national exposition of the chemical industries.

Prominent among those scheduled to address the gathering were Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Sir William J. Pope, president of the society of chemical industry of Great Britain, a number of chemistry professors from universities of the United States, England and Canada and heads of research departments in many industries of the three countries.

The British and Canadian delegations came here from Montreal, where the Society of Chemical Industry of Great Britain recently held a convention. In New York they were joined by the American division of their organization and hundreds of members of the American Chemical society.

Unemployment among chemists was scheduled as one of the foremost topics for discussion. In this connection chemists expressed hopes of absorbing many of the unemployed graduates of chemical schools in research work in preparation for expected freshening of industrial activity.

Tariff legislation affecting the chemical industry in America also was booked for consideration.

A broad field of chemical endeavor is represented in the various symposiums. These will include subjects as new as vitamines which, like appendicitis may always have existed but were late in being recognized.

Mothers Used To Say

give me the good old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new tangled patent medicines on the market. I remember that when I had Indigestion, was Constipated, had a Headache or my stomach was out of order, my mother would give me an old and reliable remedy called SEVEN BARKS and it would straighten me out in no time, so I always keep a bottle in the home for emergencies.

Colds and Grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get overworked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When the stomach is out of order, the kidneys and liver not working properly, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver and kidneys, regulate the flow of bile, expel distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion.

For nearly half a century SEVEN BARKS has been recognized as one of the most reliable remedies for correcting and preventing disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is absolutely safe, made from the extracts of roots and herbs, scientifically blended.

If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results. Your druggist keeps it, or will get it for you.—Adv.

SCIENCE CAN NOW END CORNS

Such Troubles Are Out-of-Date. Millions Know This Now

A famous expert, years ago, solved the whole corn problem.

The method is Blue-jay—the plaster or the liquid. It stops pain instantly. Soon the whole corn gently loosens and comes out.

Now folks who pare or pad corns do themselves injustice. So do users of old methods, harsh and crude.

Blue-jay is modern. It is approved by authorities. It is easy, simple, quick and sure.

Just apply it and forget it, and watch what becomes of the corn. After that, you will never let a corn pain twice.

CO-EDS SHINE SHOES TO BUILD PRACTICE HOUSE

LANSING, Sept. 6.—This is the story of the house the co-eds built. They shined shoes in public, at ten cents a shine; they sold lemonade, served lunches, did housework and all manner of things, but they raised a thousand dollars and built the house.

Determination on the part of the co-eds at the Michigan Agricultural college built "The Flower Pot." That is its trade name. Literally, it is a "practice house" for senior students in the home economics course. It ranks as one of the two or three campus practice houses in the country.

The "Flower Pot" is a tea room built in a ramshackle building on the M.A.C. campus. It has a dining-room and a kitchen and some homely homemade fixtures. Breakfast, luncheon and dinner are served. The food is furnished largely from the M.A.C. farm and by the boys and girls' clubs which are conducted throughout the state under the direction of the extension department of the college. Senior students, starting in September, will do all the work. It is called a practice house because the students after nearly completing their course in home economics in the kitchen of the college buildings can try out their art in the kitchen of the Flower Pot. The tea room ois to be a non-profit-making institution when it gets well under way. That is it will be non-profit making except for the few needy girls, who are attempting to work their way through college and will be allowed to do so in the kitchen and dining-room of the Flower Pot.

About $1,000 was needed to convert the old building into a tea room. The students and alumni who wanted a practice house didn't have the thousand. So, led by members of the Omicron Nu, an honorary home economics sorority, the co-eds went out into the highways and byways of the college campus, sold lemonade, shined shoes and did various things until the money was raised.

LAFAYETTE-MARNE DAY CELEBRATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The country today celebrates Lafayette-Marne day. Many cities have arranged civic ceremonies appropriate to the day that marks the birth of Lafayette and the seventh anniversary of the first battle of the Marne in 1914.

The keynote of the celebration this year, the Lafayette Day National committee announced, would be found in the message of President Harding to the committee at last years' celebration.

"Twice has France contributed to our liberty," he said. "Once when Lafayette came to the aid of America in her fight for independence, again when France stood as a bleeding bulwark for the freedom and democracy of the world against the military onslaught of an autocracy.

"The name of Lafayette brings to our hearts the name of France,—it calls forever to our gratitude. If the opportunity ever comes to me I will represent the American people in giving practical proof of our national friendship. Our true friendship may only be effectively expressed in deeds rather than in words, in a relationship that will stand rather than fail, in workable machinery of international good will and good faith. Such a relationship can only have permanence and value to France when it is approved not by a part but by the whole of the American people.'

Andrew Jackson, president of the United States, in his general order of June 21, 1834, announcing to the army the death of Lafayette, the last surviving major-general of the war of the revolution, said of him "his memory will be second only to that of Washington in the hearts of the American people."

12,000 SEE STAFFORD FALL TO HIS DEATH

NORTH ADAMS, Sept. 6.—While 12,000 horrified persons looked on, Eugene N. Stafford, 34, of the Stafford Balloon Co., East Dorchester, a parachute jumper, fell 600 feet to his death yesterday.

The webbing holding him to a double parachute broke and allowed him to drop like a plummet to a pit of stones in the yard of Joseph Hargreaves, 300 yards across the river to the north of the Fair grounds. Stafford was giving an exhibition as one of the features of the last day of the Hoosac Valley Agricultural fair.

His skull was fractured and his body terribly mangled.

On Friday evening, Joseph Gannon, Stafford's partner in the company, was injured in making a parachute drop when his parachute failed to open. Unable to make further flights, Stafford took his place.

Stafford cut loose from the balloon when about 1000 feet in the air, and the first parachute of a double hitch opened.

He had dropped about 300 feet when he opened the second one. Suddenly he was seen to fall free of the second parachute and plunged down like a plummet. He turned half over in the air and struck on his face on the rocks. Doctors hurried to the scene, but death had been instantaneous.

DAMAGED BY FIRE

Lively Blaze in Middlesex St. Restaurant and Store

The Colonial K. A. restaurant at 250 Middlesex street and the New England Hat and Cap shop, located next door to the restaurant, were damaged by fire last evening to the extent of several hundred dollars. The tenement located over the restaurant and occupied by Lawrence Walsh and his 12-year-old daughter, was also badly damaged.

The blaze originated in the kitchen of the restaurant and was discovered by a boy about 9.30 o'clock. An alarm was sent in from box 218, but when the firemen reached the premises they found it a very difficult job to get at the fire because of obstruction in the rear of the building, where the flames were raging. Several lines of hose were finally started and streams of water were directed on the blaze which at one time looked very threatening. The flames worked their way through the partitions of the restaurant into the hat shop and then through the ceiling to the Walsh tenement and into the attic. The fire was put out, however, before it reached the room. The building damaged by the fire are owned by Isaac Bernstein.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.

"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.

"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUITTY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

Dante, So. Dakota.—"I would have pains and cramps every month until I could hardly stand it and could not do my work at all at that time and often had to go to bed. I went to a physician, but he did not do me much good and said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and thought I would give it a trial. Now I feel lots better and don't have to give up and go to bed, and can do all my work. You may use these facts as a testimonial, and I will answer with pleasure all letters I receive, and you may be sure I will praise your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. ARTHUR J. Bilious? Take NR Tonight

Nature's Remedy is Better and Safer Than Calomel. Cleans Out System Without Griping. Stops Sick Headache. Guaranteed.

Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc., are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain real or lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the purpose being to bring about healthy and harmonious action of all the organs of digestion and elimination. It acts promptly and thoroughly, yet so mildly and gently that there is never the slightest griping or discomfort.

But that is not all. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) have a beneficial effect upon the entire body. By improving the process of digestion and assimilation, the nourishment is derived from food, the blood quality is enriched, vitality is increased and the whole system strengthened.

Once you get your body in this splendid condition, you need not take medicine every day—just take an NR Tablet occasionally when indigestion, biliousness and constipation threatens, and you can always feel your best. Remember keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

CHILE MAY QUIT LEAGUE

Report of Threatened Withdrawal Denied by Head of Chilean Delegation

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 6—(By the Associated Press)—The third session of the second Assembly of the League of Nations opened here today under a threatening cloud. Reports were circulated widely this morning that the Chilean delegation would withdraw from the league if the question of Tacna and Arica, the disputed provinces now being administered by Chile, should be placed on the agenda of the assembly as requested by Bolivia.

These reports were categorically denied by Augustin Edwards, head of the Chilean delegation, who was said to have made the threat of withdrawal. Senor Edwards asserted he had made no statement to either the newspaper correspondents or delegates to the effect that his delegation was considering withdrawal. He said he would make his only statement on the subject to the assembly when the question comes up.

Animated conferences were held around the Chilean delegation for some time before the assembly was called to order. Arthur J. Balfour, the British representative, had an earnest talk with Senor Edwards, after which the Chilean delegation conferred at some length. H. A. Van Karnebeek of Holland, who yesterday was elected president of the assembly, relieved the tension somewhat by proposing that the assembly complete its organization by naming commissions for the election of vice-presidents before taking up the agenda involving Tacna and Arica.

A prolonged debate on the procedure to be followed ensued and occupied most of the morning session. President Van Karnebeek proposed that the afternoon also be devoted to the work of organization, thus throwing over to tomorrow consideration of Bolivia's request that the Tacna-Arica question be placed on the agenda. Meanwhile efforts are being made to secure the consent of Chile and Bolivia to the appointment of a commission to study the question.

HAD PAIN IN THE BACK

"I had such severe pains in my back that I could not lie straight in bed," said Mrs. R. L. Scott of 22 Columbia street, Oneonta, N.Y., whose complete recovery should encourage every sufferer. "I was so nervous," she continued, "that my sleep was broken. I had very little appetite and suffered severely from indigestion. If I walked up stairs my heart beat rapidly. My complexion was poor and my lips were white.

"My mother had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills years ago and after I had tried several other medicines without getting more than temporary relief, I began to take the pills. I felt better in about ten days so I continued the treatment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills proved to be just the medicine I needed. I have no more pains, my nerves are steady and I sleep well. My appetite is good and my complexion has improved so much that my friends have remarked how much better I look. I certainly feel well and I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to others."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's today, or write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y., enclosing 60 cents, and a box will be sent you, postpaid. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.—Adv.

THE FATE OF M'CARTHY

James J. Adjudged Intoxicated Within the Hallowed Precincts of the Law

He came up smiling! But he went down arrested! That, in brief, is the strange story of James J. McCarthy, whose name was called for drunkenness by the clerk of the district court this morning during the course of the session. McCarthy arose from the spectators' benches, advanced with the broadest of broad grins upon his flushed countenance, beamed upon the court officers, and advancing towards the judge, raised his hand in a debonnaire salute. He then turned, still grinning as though delighted, and honored Assist. Clerk George Toye with a salute as well. Whether he would have accorded further recognition to various officials will never be known, for at this point Judge Enright thundered, "Take that man downstairs and make out another complaint of drunkenness against him." McCarthy was locked up for his appearance tomorrow morning on twin charges of inebriation, one within the hallowed precincts of the law. His counsel retired apparently somewhat nonplussed when McCarthy began his eccentric behavior before the tribunal which was to judge him.

Young Men Released

Two young men arrested as suspicious characters in connection with a break which occurred Sunday night at a store on upper Gorham street, were released by Judge Enright this morning after a warning. They were found wandering about in the small hours, and were taken in tow by the officer on the beat.

Many Defaults Ordered

Today's district court session was featured by the unusual number of defaults ordered by the judge, Jeremiah J. Horgan and William J. Carney, charged with drunkenness, were defaulted when they failed to answer the calling of their names, and William Allard, charged with a liquor law violation was also declared defaulted.

Neighborhood Quarrel

September 16 seems likely to be a thrilling day in the district court. A neighborhood fracas, which resulted in eight complaints of assault and battery will then be thrashed out. Men and women are involved in the trouble, and all are both witnesses and defendants.

Brooklyn Lady Suffers Breakdown After Husband's Death

Mrs. Anna O'Hara of 4644 Evergreen Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., was in a serious condition until she began taking Wincarnis.

"During my husband's illness I had practically worn myself out through work and worry," said Mrs. O'Hara recently. "And so when he passed away, I had almost reached a state of complete collapse. I could hardly eat anything for days afterwards. I would feel so weak and exhausted during the day that it was all I could do to get about, and yet when night came I could get no sleep. I was fearfully nervous—the least little thing would make me jump. And this had kept up for days and days.

"I happened one day to read about Wincarnis and decided to try it, and it certainly has done wonders for me. By the time I had taken about half of the bottle I began to improve wonderfully and by the time I had taken the whole bottle my appetite had come back. I was much less nervous and was getting quite some sleep at night. I really cannot praise Wincarnis enough. I have taken only a few bottles and now I am entirely well. My insomnia is gone. I have a good appetite and my nerves are fine. I really feel like a new woman."

Wincarnis is put in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold in Lowell by Burkinshaw Drug Co., 416-418 Middlesex st., and all first class druggists. Write for free instructive booklet, etc. —Adv.

DRUNKENNESS ARRESTS OVER WEEK-END

Twenty-eight drunkenness arrests were made over the week-end. There were eight releases prior to the opening of court this morning. William R. O'Brien got two months in jail. So did Joseph Kasparowicz, who was already on probation.

Thomas J. Kelleher drew a Massachusetts reformatory suspended sentence.

Dennis Murphy, a one-legged man, was "arrested for his own safety," according to the officer who took him into custody. "I was afraid he'd get killed," said the officer, who said Murphy has been lying around intoxicated, and begging money. "I've only been that way for about a month," said Murphy in pleading for another chance. He drew a suspended sentence. A number of other suspended sentences were also imposed.

Michael Walsh, in for the fifth time on drunkenness charges, was fined $15. Walsh has formerly been accused of having "Peeping Tom" proclivities, but today he was charged only with the common or garden variety of drunkenness, without the inquisitive complication which was said to have accompanied his weakness when he recently appeared in court.

Joseph Burke, who said someone gave him the hooch which knocked him for a goal, was fined $10, as was John O'Lek, said to have annoyed women going to church at six o'clock Sunday morning. O'Lek was arrested on the North common by Officer John Mahan. The defendant was somewhat hazy about the whole affair. He couldn't remember whether or not he had been out all night. Several other cases were filed or otherwise disposed of.

MATRIMONIAL

ARE BACK FROM EUROPEAN TOUR

Undertaker and Mrs. Amedee Archambeault and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Begin of this city, returned yesterday from a two-months' European tour. Mr. J. B. Pelneault, who was with them, will not return to Lowell for a couple of weeks, for upon landing at Montreal, Que., last Sunday he left on a trip along the Seguenay river with one of his former employes, Eugene Labrie of Merrimack street.

Mr. and Mrs. Archambeault report an ideal voyage. They visited points of interest in England, France, Belgium and Italy and viewed many of the scenes of battle. While in Naples they witnessed the funeral of Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, and prior to that they were given an audience by Pope Benedict.

The party left here for Montreal in the latter part of June and in the early part of July they sailed for Europe. They first visited England and then went to France and Belgium. Later they visited various places in Italy and returned to France and Belgium. The long voyage was accomplished without the slightest mishap and the only thing the tourists complained about was the quality of food and water, especially in Italy, where they claim they pay more attention to beer and wine than to food and water.

SOME CHARTER PHASES

The petitions brought under the initiative provision of the present charter have directed the attention of the people to a feature of the charter that had previously received but little attention. In this respect at least the referendum on the paving proposition and municipal gas will have served a good purpose.

Heretofore, it has too rarely happened that the average voter paid much attention to any provision of the charter. With the new charter up for consideration, it is important that it should receive careful study and that the electorate should deal with it in a manner that will serve the best interests of the city. It has been produced by a body of business men who gave it months of careful consideration. We believe it is well devised for the government of a city such as Lowell. There is no partisan feature in it, as in this respect, care was taken not to favor one political party more than another.

Under the old double-headed charter partisan government was the rule and although it was condemned at the time, still it had its good points. If an administration by one party failed to give satisfaction the voters would put it out of power and elect men of the opposing party. Thus each political party was held responsible for the acts of its members. This had a sort of restraining power for the reason that each party wanted to make a better showing than its rival. There are no such restraints under the present charter.

The new charter, however, settles responsibility for results in a very definite manner and that is probably one of the best features of any charter. The mayor is to have considerable power, but not more than was vested in that official under the old charter. With such a charter it is hoped that voters will be able to secure a chief executive who will be competent from training and experience to handle the affairs of the city in a capable and enlightened manner.

Under the present charter, there seems to be more difficulty with the street department than any other and it may have been for that reason that the charter commission in the new instrument provides for a board of public works. Something of this kind has often been talked of and has even been asked of the legislature, but never obtained. Should the new charter be adopted, it is expected that our streets will be continually under the care of experts who understand street work and who will be required to show results. With such an arrangement, the city will be sure to get its money's worth. the appropriations made will be used to the best advantage in improving the streets and highways of the city.

There are other features of the new charter which are highly commendable and which, we believe, will overcome the defects of the present charter. The average voter may remark that when the present charter was first introduced the board of trade and the newspapers praised it very highly and were in a measure responsible for its adoption. That statement is true. It came heralded by some very prominent men as having lifted the city of Galveston from her very ruins and saved her people suffering from a disaster of great magnitude. It was reasoned that if a commission form of government did so much for Galveston and some other cities, it would work, equally well for other cities. But Galveston adopted the commission form when misery was brooding over the homes of her people; and the men appointed on the commission were the ablest that could be found. With such men in charge of the city's affairs it was the men and not the charter who brought about the excellent results. It was found to the regret of various municipalities, that the very same charter in the hands of uncompetent men became a veritable menace. We have had our experience under it and we now see its defects. The commission charter works well if you elect first class men under it; but it works very badly if you elect any but first class men. The new charter is framed to overcome this defect and to protect the city's interests at all points. With a mayor who will be expected to be a man of business experience and also a man of integrity, the city's interest should be protected. But if the mayor should happen to be a political trickster looking for an opportunity to fool the people and rob the city, then it would devolve upon the council to protect the city's interest and that it could do quite effectively under the provisions of the new charter. The council under certain conditions can remove the mayor's appointees despite his veto, which indicates that he does not possess the power to do as he pleases. The charter provides a number of checks and balances that are calculated to protect the rights of the people at all times and under all circumstances, if those provisions be applied.

THE MUSCLE SHOALS AFFAIR

It appears that the big interests are opposed to Henry Ford's proposition to secure the government property at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee river. Nobody seemed to have any special interest in Muscle Shoals until Mr. Ford made the proposition to take over the property. Then the log-rolling began and is still active against the transfer of the property to Mr. Ford.

The opposition in this case is something like what was directed against Ford when he became a candidate for the United States senate from Michigan. The republican party resorted to the most disgraceful method of corrupting the ballot in order to secure his defeat. So far did they go that their own candidate was sentenced to prison, although it is probable that he will never be required to serve the sentence. Mr. Ford offered to lease the government dams subject to renewals, provided the government would complete them and install machinery to produce 500,000 horse-power. He offers to pay six per cent. on the $29,000,000 which he estimates will be necessary to complete this work or 3 4-10 per cent. on $48,000,000, which is Mr. Ford's estimate of the whole government investment. He offers to give the government 200 horse-power to operate the locks. Mr. Ford would also take over the nitrate plants which cost the government $53,000,000 with other property, making a total of $85,000,000. For this property Mr. Ford's offer is said to be much too low for acceptance although if the government property were allowed to go to waste, very little would be said of the original cost. It is probable that other interests may offer more than Mr. Ford, simply to prevent him from securing the property. The whole affair is rather involved, but it can readily be seen that Mr. Ford's offer will probably result in enabling the government to get a fair price for the property which nobody seemed to want until he made an offer for it. It is claimed that the government, even in view of the disarmament program, should hold some of the nitrate plants for producing explosives in case of war, but Mr. Ford claims he can use them to give American farmers cheaper fertilizer. It is quite probable that Mr. Ford would develop the plant at Muscle Shoals to a greater extent and with more benefit to the country than would any of the interests that are opposed to him. He has his faults like other men; but he is accustomed to doing big things and if he had the property at Muscle Shoals, he would probably utilize it in a way that would be profitable both to himself and the country.

REDUCE PRICE OF GAS

With unemployment so widespread as it is in Lowell, the high price of illuminating gas is peculiarly oppressive and aggravating to those whose resources have been depleted by lack of work. We do not know what the Gas company is waiting for. The Sun had been publishing articles showing why the price of gas should be reduced; but we dropped it on being told by officials of the company that a reduction would soon be made. It is true, that no date or amount was mentioned; but The Sun felt that the promise implied an early date and we so stated at the time. It is now nearly two months since then and during that period, various cities of the state have made a reduction in the price of gas.

It is not surprising that public sentiment should be turning against the gas company and if a clamor is raised and the initiative provision of our charter invoked in favor of a municipal gas plant, the company has but itself to blame. We do not favor municipal ownership, but we will say to the Gas company that it is daily swelling the list of its enemies by maintaining the price of gas far above the average for the cities of the state.

A very substantial reduction is now in order and should be announced forthwith.

TARIFF ON HOT-DOGS

Hot-dogs are threatened by the tariff. For 50 years sausage-casings have been on the free list. Now it's proposed to protect them by tariff, though 90 per cent. are imported.

A. W. Kemfer, representing the sausage-casing importers, says the tariff would add half a cent a pound to the cost of making sausages, which would be pyramided to three cents a pound by the time the sausages reached the retailer. And what would he add?

This, brethren, is what is known as indirect or "painless" taxation. The ultimate consumer pays—several times over!

OUR DEBT

What to do with the national debt. That worries many. Gentlemen with blue glasses think it can never be paid off.

American mines last year yielded $6,707,000,000, says the Geographical Survey. Three and a half years of that would pay off every penny of the national debt.

The debt could be wiped out overnight if every American contributed $224.91. To carry it requires interest of only $8.65 a year for each of us.

Like most problems: Not as serious as it seems.

TWO GRAVES

A man will be buried in two different graves, probably for the first time in history.

The probated will of Prof. George Trumbull Ladd, of Yale, provides for cremation of his body and burial of part of his ashes under a camphor tree he planted in Nagasaki, Japan.

That would interest Attila the Hun, who died in the year 453. He thought he had devised for himself the most unique funeral of all times, by ordering his burial in a gold coffin and execution of the burial party so that the grave's location would forever be a secret.

LAMP MYSTERY

Another old mystery is solved. For centuries, archeologists were puzzled by perpetual lamps often found burning when they opened Egyptian tombs thousands of years old.

Now it's discovered that these lamps have wicks soaked with chemicals that don't burst into flame until struck by fresh air when the tomb is entered.

Time solves all mysteries.

ONE-MAN CARS

With but one door to a car, and that unopenable without a sledgehammer, the occupants must certainly be in a sorry plight in case of fire. That accident to the one-man car at Swampscott will doubtless lead to greater security in the future. Here in Lowell, we understand, the one-man cars have an emergency rope which, if pulled, will open the rear door. That should be known to the passengers as well as the company.

AS TO INSURANCE

Heirs of Wallace L. Pierce, Boston grocer, are paid $555,000 insurance—the largest death claim in a year.

How much cash is a human life worth? Generally it depends on how much you bet the insurance company that you'll die before it thinks you will.

The fatalities among aviators, parachute jumpers and others who persist in performing hair-raising stunts, are quite alarming. Still, others are always ready to take the places of those who fall and to try even more exciting stunts.

It is now in order to take a look into the coal bin and see how it is to be replenished.

It was a glorious Labor day.

SEEN AND HEARD

Now for the real 'labor days."

About this time of the year most people decide where they won't go on their next vacation but when next summer comes they'll proceed to go to just that place.

That array of stills in the police station would indicate that the brewery has had many successors since its passing.

The Devil a Monk Was He

Two Scotchmen were on a raft adrift on a stormy sea. Angus knelt and began to pray. "O Lord," he said, "I ken I've broken maist of Thy commandments. But, O Lord, if I'm spared this time, I promise—" Here Andrew interrupted him. "I widna commit yourself ower far, Angus," said he, "I think I see land."—Glasgow Herald.

His Choice

"Posterity will raise a monument to you for your services!" exclaimed the admiring friend.

"I hope not," protested Senator Sorghum. "I'd rather take my chances with the editorial writers than the art critics."—Washington Star.

Business Methods

When the agent brought Mrs. Tarley her fire insurance policy he remarked that it would be well for her to make her first payment at once.

"How much will it be?" she asked.

"About $100. Wait a minute and I'll find the exact amount."

"Oh, how tiresome!" she exclaimed. "Tell the company to let it stand and deduct it from what they will owe me when the house burns down."—Fall River News.

The Power of the Dog

There is sorrow enough in the natural way,
From men and women, to fill one day;
But when we are certain of sorrow in store,
Why do we always arrange for more?
Brothers and sisters, I bid you beware
Of giving your heart to a dog to tear.

Buy a pup, and your money will buy
Love unflinching, that cannot lie—
Perfect passion and worship fed
By a kick in the ribs or a pat on the head.
Nevertheless it is hardly fair
To risk your heart for a dog to tear.

When the fourteen years which Nature permits
Are closing in asthma, or tumor, or fits,
And the vet's unspoken prescription runs
To lethal chambers or loaded guns,
Then you will find—it's your own affair,
But—you've given your heart to a dog to tear.

When the body that lived at your single will,
When the whimper of welcome is stilled (how still!)
When the spirit that answered your every mood
Is gone—wherever it goes—for good,
You will discover how much you care,
And will give your heart to a dog to tear.

We've sorrow enough in a natural way
When it comes to burying Christian clay.
Our loves are not given, but only lent,
At compound interest of cent per cent.
Though it is not always the case, I believe,
That the longer we've kept 'em, the more do we grieve,
For, when debts are payable, right or wrong,
A short-time loan is as bad as a long.
So why in heaven (before we are there)
Should we give our hearts to a dog to tear?

—RUDYARD KIPLING.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"There he is!" shouted a childish choice. "Naw, that ain't him," was the contemptuous reply. "Yes, it it is, too." "Naw, see there, that's him." "Aw, it ain't neither, that's him." The youngsters were talking, of course, of Sergt. George E. Polley, better known as the Human Fly. The time was a few moments before George took his little excursion to the top of the Sun building, and subsequently to the top of the flagpole. Approximately one-half of the world's total child population had gathered at the edge of the huge throng—the edge nearest the Sun building, you may be sure—and were discussing the identity of the various individuals who emerged, or who stood conversing within the doorway. Among those who were honored by being mistaken for Polley was the writer. It so happened that I was wearing a suit of blue serge, such as had been worn by the human fly in the afternoon before the climb. This was enough to give me a fleeting notoriety as I stood hatless at the door of the Sun office. Unwilling to disappoint the boys who gazed upon me with admiration, I looked upwards, and remarked carelessly, "Well, I guess I'll get started." Just then, Polley himself appeared, and I received what is known as the razoo. Such is gratitude, when one seeks to give a thrill to one's fellow humans.

"Hello, Bill!" the Elks will say this Christmas, when they get their bill for their charitable activities. They won't mind their charities being expensive, because their outing recently was so expansive. They had a good time, and at the same time obtained the funds for a good time for the poor. Funny, all the members had an outing except the baseball players, and they had fanlegs. I presume all the Elks read that definition of an Elk done in rhyme by a Sun reporter after the outing last week.

In these days of aviation, when you ask anyone if they have ever seen a human fly, they are liable to come back with the merry quip, that they have. Brother Polley certainly climbed all Brother Polley certainly climbed all over the place. He wasn't the only one who climbed, either. One chap who was looking rather wilted after watching the immortal stunt was told by a companion that he looked as if he had made the ascent with Polley. "But, I did" was his fervent response. Really, the name of human fly isn't adequate. A fly has glue on its feet, but Polley had nothing except sneakers. He's sure a flicker, nevertheless. Some of, perspiring with excitement as we watched the daredevil ascent, felt like human flypaper. Polley has fallen three times, twice from buildings, and once in love. The last was not least, he says. The first hundred years are the hardest in building climbing, but we'll bet his manager dies before Polley does, if his heart acts the same way ours does when watching his stunts. Polley isn't a parrot, but he's certainly a bird. Polley rides a bicycle around the edges of roofs. He ought to have that bicycle insured, for if he ever fell he'd smash it all to pieces.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Reading

Whenever I employ myself
In reading books and such,
I certainly enjoy myself;
Yes, very, very much.
From books of every quality,
I garner fun enough
From those of sheer frivolity
Or those of sterner stuff.

But I shall never sense again
That magic thrill, indeed,
Nor know the bliss intense again
That came when mother'd read
Of ogres huge and thunderful,
And princesses and kings,
And princes brave and wonderful,
And fairy queen with wings!

Amid the books I'm treasuring
I love to loaf and browse,
But in that gentle pleasuring
I never can arouse
That joy in grim or merry tales
Which once I used to know,
In listening to fairy tales
Some thirty years ago!

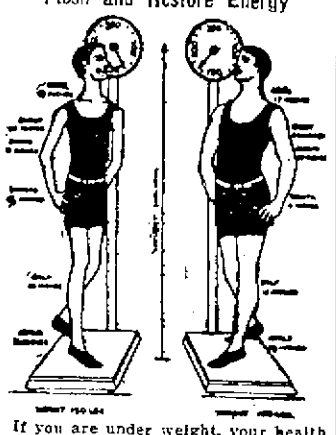
DO YOU LACK WEIGHT AND VITALITY

The Way to Build Solid Healthful Flesh and Restore Energy



If you are under weight, your health is sub-normal. Are you gaining or losing? Thin people who desire to immediately acquire good, healthful, solid flesh, who want to restore hollow and sunken cheeks with strong and healthy tissues and gain in energy and vitality should take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS with their meals.

MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS are concentrated yeast containing Vitamines, which science says are the "Soul of the Food." Vitamines are destroyed in common cooking. If you are emaciated, under-nourished, weak, haggard, and lack energy and endurance, you do this: Weigh and measure yourself—next take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS—two tablets with each meal—weigh and measure yourself at the end of one week and continue to take MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS regularly until you are satisfied with the weight you have attained.

The result is not a matter of opinion, it is a matter of facts. The mirror, scales and tape measure will tell the story.

MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS will positively put on flesh and increase energy when taken with each meal. MEDIC-YEEST should not be used by anyone who is opposed to acquiring normal weight. Results are absolutely guaranteed by the manufacturer or money refunded. Be sure and remember the name, MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS.

Fred Howard and A. W. Dows carry MEDIC-YEEST. Your own druggist has MEDIC-YEEST or can quickly procure it for you. Make written note of the name—there is nothing else like it.—Adv.

HELPLESS WITH RHEUMATISM

Until He Took "Fruit-a-tives" Or Fruit Liver Tablets

R. R. No. 1, LORNE, ONT.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. I treated with doctors and tried nearly everything without benefit.

Finally, I tried 'Fruit-a-tives'. Before I had used half a box, I saw improvement; the pain was easier and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

People Got Exactly What They Decided They Wanted, Says A. F. of L. Head

BALTIMORE, Sept. 6—When the American people voted the present national administration into office, they got exactly what they decided they wanted, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, told a gathering at the Labor Day celebration yesterday.

"Before that election," he said, "I issued a statement in which I stated the issues that were involved, so far as labor was concerned, and I said that the people would get exactly what they voted for. They made their choice between the candidates and parties and they have got what they decided upon.

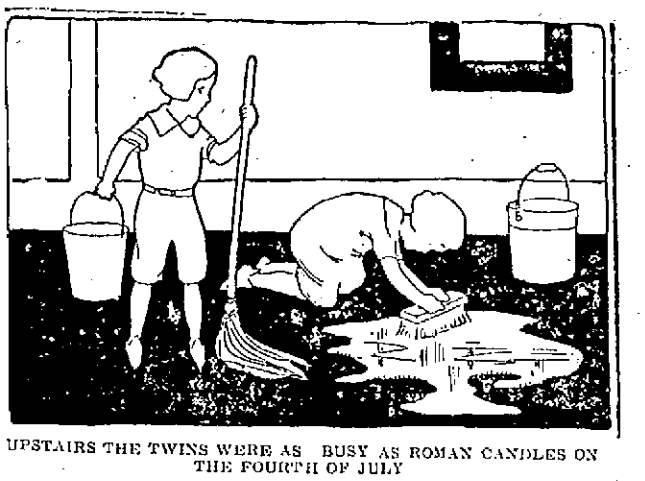
"A year ago today there was scarcely a handful of men in this great country out of employment. Now there are more than five millions out of work. Whom will you blame for this condition?"

He declared that not a single bill, so far as he knew, had been introduced in the present congress for the benefit of the working people; that not a single thing had been done to protect the workers in their constitutional rights.

He charged that the commercial and industrial interests are trying to set up an industrial autocracy and in this connection, particularly arraigned the chamber of commerce of the United States.

Adventures of the Twins

THE ESCAPE



UPSTAIRS THE TWINS WERE AS BUSY AS ROMAN CANDLES ON THE FOURTH OF JULY

The Nuisance Fairies promised to be very good and very quiet and to stay downstairs, while Nancy and Nick cleaned their second floor. And they kept their word. Even when Howly Thunder noticed something and winked at his best friends, Jumpy Lightning and Old Man Flood, nodding his head at the same time toward the front door, he did it ever so quietly.

And when Jumpy Lightning and Old Man Flood saw what he meant, they nodded back quietly, too. This was what they saw. The Twins had slammed the door but they had not locked it. The way was clear for all the Nuisance Fairies to escape.

Upstairs the Twins were as busy as Roman candles on the Fourth of July. They swept and dusted and scrubbed and cleaned and made beds and moved furniture and soon had everything shining.

"Somebody's going to have a big surprise," said Nancy, surveying their work with pride. "I think they deserve something nice for being so good, don't you, Nick. Let's call them all up."

Nick was about to agree when a distant roaring reached their ears.

A queer, mixed, rumbling sound. The Twins rushed to the window and looked down to the earth, far, far below. What a sight met their eyes! The Nuisance Fairies had escaped, every mother's son of them, and they were quarreling. Old Man Flood had Sizzly Dry Weather by the neck trying to choke him, while Jack Frost hopped around on one foot and laughed.

Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning were fighting Mr. Storm, and Mr. Storm was raging mad. "Get out both of you. I don't need you now that summer is over. Get out," he cried.

The next thing the Twins saw was Sprinkle-How striding into their midst and doing all he could to stop them.

"Quick!" said Nick, "we must go down and help him."

Dies as Result of Injuries

BOSTON, Sept. 6—Thomas Skullen of Medford, driver of an automobile which struck a train at Scituate, last night, died at a hospital here today. Two others who were in the machine, Mrs. Barton Leonard and Roland Spencer, were said to be in a critical condition.

OAKLAND SPORT MODEL

A real sport car—snappy, good looking, distinctive—the kind of a car a young man raves about and an older man covets—this is what the Oakland Motor Car company offers its dealers in announcing the new Oakland sport model.

The Oakland six sport model is, first of all, a practical car. It combines the sturdy construction and economical operation of the famous Model 34-C chassis with a body design which has a quality of finish and richness of appointment such as have never before been offered in any other car at anywhere near its price.

Almost as light as a roadster, and correspondingly easy to handle and economical to operate, this car has ample seat room for four persons. When the rear seat is not being occupied, it provides abundant space for luggage or for carrying business equipment. The finish is rich and durable. The body color is a light maroon, with fenders finished in black—a most attractive combination.

The sport model is mounted on the same dependable chassis as that which carries other models of today's Oakland six. It has the same powerful six cylinder overhead valve motor, the same springs, the same sturdy frame.

RAY CALDWELL SUSPENDED

BARBERS SEE BENEFICIAL RESULTS OF PETROLEUM

Noonan's Hair Petrole Keeps Scalp Free From Dandruff and Helps Save the Hair

Barbers say that the stimulating effects of Noonan's Hair Petrole on the scalp is why it has become so popular. The men who know and who really care for their hair continually ask for this treatment, because they see the beneficial results of this petroleum preparation in keeping the scalp free from dandruff and in helping save what hair they have. It is such a delightful hair dressing to use that it is as popular with women as with men. Barbers apply Noonan's Hair Petrole for 15 cents a treatment. For home use drug and department stores sell it in bottles for $1, or it can be obtained direct from the manufacturers, T. Noonan & Sons Co., 35 Portland st., Boston.—Adv.

LOWELL WAR HEROES

Bodies of Three Martyr Soldiers Arrive Here From France

The bodies of three Lowell war heroes, Corp. Francis R. Owens, Corp. Joseph Worthy and Priv. Francis M. McOsker arrived in this city yesterday morning. The body of Corp. Owens was taken to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons, while that of Corp. Worthy was removed to the rooms of Undertakers C. H. Molloy Sons. The remains of Priv. McOsker were removed to the rooms of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

Corp. Owens enlisted October 5, 1917, and after spending three weeks at Camp Devens was assigned to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., with Co. A, 320th Machine Gun Battalion. He saw active service in France and was killed in action October 16, 1918. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary J. Ward, and two brothers, John A. and Terrence F. Owens.

Corp. Worthy enlisted with Co. M, 101st Infantry, 26th division, and went to France in September, 1917. He was killed in action July 15, 1918. He leaves his father, Joseph Worthy; a sister, Mrs. Mary Brick; two brothers, John of this city, and Richard Worthy, U.S.N.

Priv. McOsker was a graduate of the Lowell high school and a former employe of the United States Cartridge company. At the age of 19 he enlisted with Company C, Sixth Mass. Infantry, and in August, 1917, was transferred to Headquarters Co., 101st regiment. He was killed in action July 13, 1918. He was a member of the Mathew Temperance Institute and the O.M.I. Cadets. He leaves his father, John McOsker.

WAS STRUCK BY POLICE CHIEF'S AUTO

Anthony Duke, aged 25 years and residing at 24 Wall street, is confined to St. John's hospital, suffering from a fracture of the collar bone and other minor injuries as a result of being struck by an automobile operated by Supt. Redmond Welch of the local police department yesterday morning. The accident occurred at the corner of East Merrimack and Davidson streets at about 10 o'clock. The superintendent claims that Duke, who was riding a bicycle, turned into Davidson street from East Merrimack street without giving the proper signal and that the collision was unavoidable. Duke's condition is not considered serious.

HOLD GOLDEN JUBILEE

The golden jubilee of l'Union St. Joseph, one of the oldest French fraternal societies of this city, was observed yesterday by the members of the organization with a mass at St. Joseph's church in the morning, followed by an outing at Revere beach.

The church service took place at 8 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., assisted by Very Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O.M.I., as deacon, and Rev. E. J. Carrier, O.M.I., as sub deacon. The sermon was delivered by Very Rev. Fr. Turcotte, O.M.I. During the mass, an appropriate musical program was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Telesphore Malo, Miss Lena B. Canire presiding at the organ.

At the close of the service, the members of the union and their friends repaired to Paige street, where they boarded special electric cars which conveyed them to Revere beach, where they spent a most enjoyable day. The officers of the union are Joseph P. Marchand, president; Alexis Dozois, recording secretary, and Camille Roussin, treasurer.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Joseph L. P. Aubut and Miss Marie Antonia C. Degagne were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. J. Bolduc, O.M.I. The bride wore white crepe de chine with veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Mr. Eugene Bolduc, while the groom's witness was Mr. Oscar Aubut. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 22 Decatur street, and this evening a supper and reception will be held at 84 Lilley avenue.

Genest—Brouillette

A pretty wedding took place this morning in the private chapel of St. Joseph's rectory when Mr. Herve Joseph Genest, son of former Councilman and Mrs. Arthur Genest, and Miss Marie L. Alice Brouillette, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brouillette of 630 Varnum avenue, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I. The bride was attired in white georgette crepe trimmed with chiffon, veil caught with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bridal roses. The couple were attended by their respective fathers. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents and later the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to Holyoke. Upon their return next Saturday they will be tendered a reception at the home of the groom's parents in Varnum avenue. They will make their home at 360 Varnum avenue.

Dubois—Rancourt

The marriage of Mr. Arthur Dubois and Miss Aurore Rancourt took place yesterday at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Henri and Joseph Dubois.

Bouchard—Cote

Mr. Joseph Bouchard of Methuen and Miss Bernadette Cote of this city were married yesterday morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I. The bride wore white crepe de chine with veil and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Elphege Cote, while the groom was attended by his father, Mr. Joseph Bouchard. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 221 Salem street, and later the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Methuen.

Brule—Matteau

At St. Joseph's rectory yesterday Mr. Joseph Napoleon A. Brule and Miss Marie Claire Matteau were united in the bonds of matrimony by Rev. Antoine A. Amyot, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Narcisse Clermont and Isaie Brule

Paradis—Castonguay

At a nuptial mass celebrated yesterday morning in the private chapel of St. Joseph's rectory, Mr. Joseph Philias Paradis and Miss Marie Anne E. Castonguay were married, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I. Mr. Charles Vrancoeur and Mr. Edmond Paradis acted as witnesses. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride in Aiken street.

Dufresne—Martineau

The marriage of Mr. Arthur Dufresne and Miss Fiora Martineau took place Sunday at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. J. Carrier, O.M.I. The bride wore crepe georgette with shadow lace trimmings, veil caught up with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of white pinks. The witnesses were Mr. Philias Dufresne, an uncle of the groom and Mr. Joseph Martineau, father of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, 4 Lavallee place and later the happy couple left on an automobile honeymoon trip through Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. Upon their return they will make their home at 439 Moody street.

RESPOND TO RIOT CALL

Policemen, Summoned by Wireless Telling of Mutiny, Break Up Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Policemen with riot guns, summoned by a radio message telling of mutiny, today broke up a fight between negro and white members of the crew of the shipping board freighter Chester Kiwanis, anchored off Staten Island.

They found Captain Charles Boothby barricaded in his cabin bruised and bitten. He attributed his injuries to white members of the crew.

The fight had been almost continuous since the freighter dropped anchor Saturday night and had been brewing since she left Boulogne, 12 days prevously. Captain Boothby's version was the whites had an erroneous idea he was favoring negroes in the distribution of work and the trouble culminated when they vowed to "get" him. None of the combatants was seriously injured and the captain said he desired no arrests made.

ENTERTAINED VISITORS FROM WEBSTER

Members of the Polish National church in Lakeview ave., headed by their pastor, Rev. J. F. Lesniak, acted as hosts to a delegation of about 60 members of the Polish National church of Webster yesterday. The meeting which first took place in the basement of the church in Lakeview ave., was a most pleasant one, as old acquaintances were renewed.

Rev. Fr. Lesniak was formerly pastor of the Polish National church in Webster, but for the past year or so has been acting as head of the local church. On July 4th, the members of the local church were guests of the Webster congregation and they were well entertained. Yesterday it was the turn of the Lowell church to entertain their Webster guests and they too did things royally.

The Webster delegation came over the road in touring cars and auto trucks, arriving in this city about 10 o'clock. They were tendered a brief reception in the basement of the church and later were served luncheon. At noon a trip was made through the most important districts of the city and later the party repaired to the Pelham park, a playground in Pelham, N. H., owned by the church. There sporting events were carried out and entertainment numbers were given. At 5 o'clock the guests and their hosts returned to the church, where supper was served and more entertainment numbers were given.

The visitors left this city at 7 o'clock last evening after extending their thanks to their hosts for the cordial reception accorded them. The local committee on the affair consisted of Rev. Fr. Lesniak and members of the parish headed by Miss Sophie Bonczar, who acted as chairman.

GET DIRECT SENTENCES

Alleged Drunken Operators of Motor Vehicles Sentenced in District Court

Two alleged drunken operators of motor vehicles were sentenced to jail in the district court this morning by Judge Thomas J. Enright, as a part of the latter's campaign against this form of offence. Joseph Corbin pleaded not guilty. Officer Clyde Aldrich told of arresting the defendant at Smith and Westford streets after the latter had stalled his car. On August 15 Corbin was arrested for drunkenness and released. Two months in the house of correction was the sentence. On an appeal Corbin was held in bonds of $200. George Bristol stalled his motorcycle on First street Sunday evening, testified Officer Hamilton. When the officer went to the spot, he stated he found a bottle of moonshine in the sidecar. Bristol drew two months, and also appealed. Bonds were in the sum of $200.

Saro Risorta was fined $10 for operating an auto on Central street without a license. He stalled his car three times, thus attracting the attention of the arresting officer. He explained to the court that he was practising so he could get a license. William F. Adie, charged with the same offence, had his case filed because of the fact that he is the sole support of his mother.

Transport Workers Union Take Possession of Offices of Harbor Board at Cork

CORK, Sept. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—Representatives of the Transport Workers' union this morning took possession of the offices of the harbor board, owing to the refusal of the board to grant the employes a minimum wage of 70 shillings a week, and the red flag was floating from the building at mid-day.

The transport men propose to run the business themselves and pay the wage demanded, but are encountering difficulties since the books and records are locked in the safes.

Sir James Long, secretary of the harbor board, declined as a public servant, to surrender the offices, but the transport workers insisted and he departed. A majority of the members of the board are republicans, as is the strike leader, but the Irish republican cabinet's labor ministry has been unable to effect a settlement.

The residents of Cork are expecting sensational developments and believe the Irish republican army may intervene. Meantime, the interests of the port are seriously affected.

PICTURE OF MISERY

Syzran, Russia, Was Once Most Colorful City Along Volga

SZRAN, Russia, Sept. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—There was a time when Syzran was the most colorful city along the Volga, but that time is gone. Today it is crowded with dust begrimed peasants, who group themselves into gray masses in their search for food. There was a time when the air was filled with a perfect babel of tongues—the languages of the Kalmucks, Mongols, Tartars, Chinese and Russians—but the crowds that throng the streets of the city now are mute. Even the laughter of children has been silenced in the despair that has settled over these tens of thousands who sit crossing themselves and waiting for what seems the inevitable.

Pictures of misery seen here are duplicated in Samara, Simbirsk, Saratoff, Tzaritzin and every other city in the famine-stricken valley of the Volga. Docks and railroad stations are piled high with belongings of refugees, driven from their land by drought and clouds of grasshoppers that destroyed even the meagre grain that had defied the heats of the terrible summer now drawing to a tragic close. Committees are trying to move the refugees to other points where there is some promise of food, but it is necessary to use the limited river and railroad transportation facilities to send seed grain into the country and bring bread to the famine districts.

Y. M. C. I. CARNIVAL COMES TO A CLOSE

The Y.M.C.I. carnival which opened in the Kasino a week ago last night, came to a close last evening, with the biggest crowd of the entire week present. Fully 2000 people were on hand to enjoy the closing festivities. The carnival as a whole has been a decided success and a substantial amount has been raised in aid of the institute's building fund.

PROBATION OFFICER

Local Newspaper Man Will Succeed Edw. F. Slattery

Joseph L. Cronin, a local newspaper man, has been appointed probation officer for the local district court to succeed Edward F. Slattery, who will retire Oct. 1. Mr. Cronin's appointment was made by Judge Thos. J. Enright of the district court and it is expected the new appointee will assume his new duties Oct. 1.

Mr. Slattery has been probation officer for the local court for a great many years, and although he is still enjoying the best of health and still able to perform the duties which the office requires he is forced to retire on pension by a state law, which provides that all county employes must retire on pension after having attained the age of 70 years.

Mr. Cronin, the new probation officer, has been employed by the Courier-Citizen as police and district court reporter for a great many years. He is married and is making his home at 445 High street. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus and several other fraternal and social organizations.

Quiet Prevails In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 6—Quiet prevailed along the Boone-Logan county border early today. From Mingo county where some shooting was reported along the Tug river yesterday, and the day before, came reports that the situation was not regarded as serious.

Advices from Spruce Fork ridge in eastern Logan county were that United States soldiers sent to that district were in complete control. Further trouble in that region was not looked for.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, in command of the federal forces sent into the state, announced that he was satisfied with what had been accomplished.

Probe Sinking of Former German Sub

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—The sinking of the former German submarine U-111, while she was being towed to a station off Lynnhaven, Va., for the bombing tests last June, was made the subject of investigation by a naval board of inquiry today. It was said that the U-111, which was to have been an object of attack from the air, developed a leak while in tow, and sank before she could be taken to shoal water. There was no one aboard at the time.

Schooner Sunk Off Cape Ann

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 6.—The sinking off Cape Ann of the fishing schooner Eva Avina and the escape of the six members of her crew after collision with the steamer City of Rockland from Maine ports for Boston, became known here today. Captain John A. Melloo of the schooner said she was run down during a heavy fog early Friday morning. The men scrambled into the rigging and were hauled aboard the steamer in slings. The sailing vessel sank in a few minutes. The Avina was of 18 tons.

Coaching Great Aid to Pittsburgh Pirates

Manager George Gibson, of the Pirates, says it's quality coaching that has put Pittsburgh at the top of the National league. And here's Bill Hinchman, Gibson's idea of an A1 coacher, as he looks on the baselines flagging a runner. Manager Gibson himself handles one corner for the Pirates, Hinchman the other. What's that? Oh, yes, Bill "chaws." All good coachers do.

By GEORGE GIBSON, Manager, Pittsburg Pirates

Competent base line coaching is very essential to the success of any ball club seeking a pennant.

It's not a thing that can be delegated to any and every member of the club. To be a successful coacher, a man must have had years of baseball experience behind him.

He should have a knowledge of the game that can only be acquired by actual play.

He must be a close observer, and be able to store away in his memory the results of his observations.

He must carry in his mind a knowledge of the strength and weaknesses of all opposing players.

He must know to a dot the capabilities of each man on his own team. He must know their speed, their ability in sliding.

In a word, he must know whether the man on base is capable of making two bases on a hit, or whether he had better be held to one.

The two coachers should perfect their signals so that they are prepared to handle every angle that may come up.

In many cases the runner is absolutely dependent on the coacher to tell him what to do. His back is to the play, and if he is to make his best speed, he can't stop to see what's going on behind him.

That's where the coacher comes in. He can signal the runner what he is to do, leaving him free to give all his attention to making time.

(Copyright, 1921, by The Lowell Sun.)

Many things go towards making a pennant winning combination in baseball.

The batteries, defensive plays on the infield and outfield, the power on offense, all have an important bearing on the standing of the club.

But one of the essentials often is overlooked by managers, even those in the majors. That is the importance of good coaching.

Many clubs have no regular coachers. One man today, another tomorrow. The idea seems to be to use the first available man.

The Pittsburg Pirates, league leaders in the National and admittedly the best bet to cop on the old circuit, work on the theory that nothing is so important as coaching.

Throughout the season only two men have appeared on the base lines for them—Manager George Gibson and Bill Hinchman, both veterans with years of baseball experience.

Manager Gibson, in this story, written for The Sun, tells of the value of proper coaching, and of how it has been a vital factor in putting the Pirates at the head of the race and within sight of the flag.

Highland Daylights Take Two in a Row and Series from C.M.A.C.

Louis Lord's Highland Daylights, runners up in the Twilight league, made a good advance towards the city daylight championship, yesterday on the Textile Campus, by defeating the C.M.A.C. for the second consecutive time in their post season series.

On Saturday the Daylights set back the C.M.A.C. by the score of 16 to 7, while yesterday the score was 7 to 5. The first game of the series was rather one-sided and loosely played, but the holiday contest, was bitterly fought and replete with many spectacular plays. About 2000 fans were on hand and rarely has a more enthusiastic crowd attended a local game.

Pop Williams decided the game in favor of the Daylights, when in the eighth inning with the score tied at 4 to 4, and two on base, he poled a mighty drive over the center field fence, sending in the two runners and scoring himself and giving the Daylights the lead for the first time in the game with the count 7 to 4.

Up until that eighth inning, Duke Connors, had the Daylights well in hand. He had been pitching wonderful ball, and held his opponents, hitless and runless for three innings. The first hit he allowed was Sullivan's home run in the fourth. This came with Bridgeford on base, and gave the Daylights two runs. Connors again tightened up, and not until the eight were the Daylights again able to score.

Long John Smith started for the Daylights, but after four innings he "resigned" and Mulno went to the hill. Mulno really saved the game, for Long John was not in his best form, and the C.M.A.C. succeeded in scoring four runs during his stay on the mound. But Smith went to second base, and his work there proved an important factor in the result. He was all over the field, making catches, stops and throws, with great accuracy and precision. It was not his day as a pitcher, but Oh my, how he did perform at the middle station.

Crowe at shortstop for the C.M.A.C. also played a classy game. He made many seemingly impossible stops, and his throws were perfect. He had ten chances and he accepted every one with the grace of a big leaguer. He also was very much in evidence with the willow, getting three peachy hits. McGowan at first contributed a fielding gem when in the eventful eighth he ran back and jumped into the air to pull down Mulno's drive. McGowan also performed well with the stick, getting two hits.

The C.M.A.C. scored a run in each of the first four innings. They got seven hits off Smith and the Long Fellow issued three free tickets and hit one man. Connors had his sweeping curves working well, and set down his opponents practically in order for three innings, not allowing a hit and permitting only three men to get on. In the 4th after Bridgeford got a life on McMahon's boot, Sullivan came through with the Daylights' 1st hit, a home run to the end of the right field fence. Score C.M.A.C. 4 Daylights 2. But Connors then tightened up and prevented further scoring in the inning. Mulno went in for the Daylights in the fifth and he performed brilliantly. He allowed but five hits and only one run, the latter coming in the ninth. With a string of goose eggs for both teams from the fourth up until the last half of the eighth, the C.M.A.C. players and fans were confident, but the picture soon changed and apparent defeat was converted into a glorious victory for the Daylights. It happened thusly: Purtell walked. Bridgeford singled. Sullivan was hit by a pitched ball and the sacks were crowded. The game was halted for a moment, while Pitcher Connors went to the sidelines for a drink of water. A new one. He returned to the mound to find Long John Smith confronting him. Smith took a couple and then bounced a single over Breen's head and two runs counted. Slow fielding by Pare let Smith reach second and Sullivan. Then Williams came to bat and emulated Babe Ruth and the old game was broken up. Dolan followed with a single, but the next three men were retired. The C.M.A.C. made a rally in the ninth, but after scoring one run the side was retired and the Daylight players and fans left the field in happy mood and confident of beating any team in the city. The score:

NOTES

Umpire Cunningham, who handled the game alone did a fine job.

The crowd was one of the largest ever seen on the campus.

Pop Williams' home run was one of the longest hits ever made on the grounds. It went high over the fence and must have travelled considerable distance.

It was a hard game for Pitcher Connors to lose. He worked like a big leaguer in the early stages, but the ball he tossed to Williams was right in the groove, and it brought about his downfall.

Manager Lord said after the game that his team was now ready for the Lowell K. of C. the Centralvilles or any other club in the city. "I bar none," said Louis, "for I feel I have the best club ever organized in Lowell."

Crowe's work at shortstop, as well as his fine hitting, did much to keep the Laylights in check in the early stages. His stops and throws were perfectly executed.

2 MORE MAJOR LEAGUE RECORDS BROKEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—St. Louis and Brooklyn in the National League were the only major league teams to win two games yesterday, all the other clubs dividing double holiday bills. By their victories over Chicago, the Cardinals improved their third place position but were still 42 points behind the Giants, who in turn were nine points from the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates. Brooklyn's victories were against Philadelphia.

Two major league records were established yesterday. One of them was made by Pitcher Walter Johnson of Washington, who set a record of 2233 strikeouts by fanning six Philadelphia Athletic players. The old record which stood for years, was held by "Cy" Young, former Cleveland and Boston twirler who had 2299 strikeouts to his credit in 22 seasons in the majors. Johnson now is in his 19th consecutive year with Washington.

Elmer Smith, Cleveland rightfielder created the other record by making his seventh consecutive extra base hit for a total of 22 bases. He started his feat in Detroit Sunday, continuing yesterday when he hit safely in five times at bat in two games. Three of his hits yesterday were homers.

Cruise of the Boston Nationals made five hits in six times at bat in the double header with New York.

SIEGEL TO MEET MORLEY

BOSTON, Sept. 6—Nate Siegel and Mike Morley of Hartford have been signed by the Armory A. A. to box at Mechanics building September 13. This is in accordance with the ruling made by the Massachusetts Boxing commissioners, who declared Saturday that Siegel would have to fight Morley again before he would be allowed to meet Eddie Shevlin, because of the mad decision given in the Morley and Siegel fight in Salem August 13.

FIRST PRACTICE FOR SYRACUSE SQUAD

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 6—John F. (Chick) Meehan starts first practice today for the Syracuse university football team. The youngest grid mentor of the big college elevens faces a prodigious task in whipping into shape an Orange team equal to the mighty football machines of recent years.

The giant All-American Alexander will be sorely missed at the center berth. Two new ends must be developed to fill the feet shoes of Harry Robertson, Mickey Fallon and Andreas, veteran ends of last year.

Three seasoned linesmen will be on hand to bolster up the famed Orange push line. Big Bert Gulick, tackle and captain of this year's team is ready with his educated toe to boot out more victories for Syracuse. Tommy Thompson, the huge guard, has been playing tennis this summer to develop his speed. With his tremendous weight he will prove very formidable to future opponents. Whitcomb, another giant guard, makes a great running-mate.

In the backfield Anderson, the hard plunging, hard hitting halfback makes a perfect combination with Fritz Foster, who, although erratic, made some spectacular runs last season. Bill Kellogg, fleet as a deer and elusive as a jack-rabbit, is ready to perform great deeds on this season's gridiron. Babe Frugone, the man of the hour at last year's Dartmouth victory, and Harry Herbert, both experienced men, stand in line for a fling at the quarterback position.

From the ranks of the freshmen eleven that won every game last year, every single man will be out fighting for a place on the varsity. The hard running Zimmerman will make keen competition for a backfield position. Moses, the diminutive yearling quarterback, may get a chance to use his extraordinary generalship in directing some varsity game this year.

Buck O'Neil, former Orange coach now at Columbia, and Glenn Warner, wizard of football and master coach, state that great things can be expected from Syracuse this year. Coach Meehan says little as usual but appears to be confident of turning out a representative Orange eleven.

RACES AT BATH HOUSE

Many Entrants for Labor Day Municipal Swimming Contests

The labor day swimming races at the municipal bath house were held yesterday afternoon with a large crowd of spectators in attendance. Walter Kendall, a Dracut youth about 15 years of age, took first honors in the 50-yard dash and second in the 250-yard race. His swimming was in every respect like that of a champion and he received much well deserved applause.

The first race was the 250 yard dash for all who cared to enter. People of all ages and sexes entered into the contest and there ensued a wild scramble across the river. E. Turcotte of Ellis street won first prize, a bathing suit, and Walter Kendall, winner of second place, was given a pair of cuff links.

The winners of the other races are as follows: 75 yards dash for girls, Mary Lambert of 75 Tremont street, first; Olive Miller, second; 75 yards dash for boys, Herbert Robbins of 88 Tyler park, first; Raymond Adams of 165 Lakeview avenue, second. Fifty-yard dash for boys under 15 years, Walter Kendall, first; Paul Merritt, second. Race for girls under 15 years, Gladys Cox of 2 Mt. Vernon street, first; Camille Hebert, second.

Charles MacReady was the director of the races. The judges were Chas. H. O'Neil, James E. Howe and Henry McCullough. Louis Turcotte acted as starter.

MIKE GIBBONS WANTS TO FIGHT EVERY NIGHT

BY ROY GROVE

So Mike Gibbons wants to fight 30 fights in 30 nights.

Out to splinter a record.

Boozefighters, in the old days, were like that. Just one battle after another. And you remember what they got?

Punished! Usually "thirty days."

Gibbons, too, will be punished if he carries out any such fool idea. Prizefighters, like baseball pitchers and race horses, need rest to keep in condition.

Even though Mike should not be physically wrecked by his strong-man stunt, and the possibility of that is great, he is certain to have to bear in the future the humiliation of having been beaten by second-raters who would have been easy picking for him had he been in shape.

YESTERDAYS

Morris Block, president of the San Antonio bay club, once let Tris Speaker get away in the yesterdays because he didnt think Spoke was worth $50 a month.

Block released Jeff Tesreau, also, because he didn't think Jeff was worth $85 a month.

Maybe they weren't. But Tesreau became a star with the Giants. And Speaker draws more salary every day in the year than Block figured he was worth in a month, some 15 years ago.

ADVICE

Abe Mitchell, the British golfer of long driving fame, has introduced a new slogan into the game.

It is—"Hit at the ball."

He says that the fault of the average golfer is that he pays more attention to his "follow through" than he does at walloping the ball.

Mitchell holds a record of driving for 314 yards.

He practices what he preaches. That's a good reason to believe he is right in his "Hit at the ball" slogan.

ENDURANCE!

Marion Gochel, student at George Washington High School, New York City, swam across Long Island Sound and back towing a canoe and three men.

FETTERMAN AVERAGED 99.8 MILES PER HOUR

FOOTBALL CROWDS INTO SUMMER SPORTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Old man football, the hardy veteran, whose cavorting for the public comes in the cool, crisp days of autumn, crowded into the scene of summer sports today and the dull thuds of his training stunts caused baseball, tennis and yachting fans to turn for a moment from thoughts of national championships and world series.

Candidates for Harvard's 1921 squad were ordered out today at Cambridge by Head Coach Bob Fisher. About 90 candidates were expected to attend the opening practice. John F. (Chick) Meehan, the youthful mentor of Syracuse, will greet the advance guard of 1921 candidates this afternoon. At State college, Pa., more than three score candidates are working for the Penn State squad today under the direction of Coach Hugo Bezdeck and his assistants.

Rutgers candidates gathered today at New Brunswick, N. J., for their first scrimmage. West Virginia university's squad is in training at Deer Park, Md., under the direction of "Fat" Spears, the former Dartmouth mentor. Local high's aspirants will report tomorrow or Thursday at Bethlehem, Pa., Minus Benny Boynton, last year's star quarterback, the Williams college squad is gathering at Williamstown, Mass. Brown university's football men will report at Quonset, L. I., next Monday.

Ohio State, without eight of her great team of 1919 and 1920, will report on Sept. 15; Trinity's squad will report at Hartford, Conn., Sept. 11; Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., on Sept. 17; Centre of Kentucky, Sept. 15, and many others in the same week. Army, Yale, Pittsburgh, Maine, Georgia Tech, Dartmouth and many other college teams will be hard at work on or before Sept. 20.

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 6.—Harvard's football season, under way today at the Stadium when several veterans of last year's team and a small army of other aspirants for crimson gridiron honors, reported to Head Coach Bob Fisher for first practice, found Fisher faced with the necessity of filling several holes caused by the loss of last year's stars.

He may receive several likely recruits from sources outside 1920 freshmen and second elevens, one of them L. B. McCagg, Jr., captain of the crew. McCagg is expected to become a candidate for the eleven by way of returning the courtesy of R. Keith Kane, football captain, who manned an oar in the 'varsity boat when it was short of good material last spring.

Coach Fisher's assistants in preparing the players for this fall's campaign will include Eddie Mahan, former crimson star, as a backfield coach.

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—Candidates for the Boston college football team were to hold their initial workout today under the direction of Head Coach Frank W. Cavanaugh. About 50 candidates, including nine of last year's 'varsity eleven, were expected to report. Several of the leading members of that team, including Captain-elect Jack Heaphy, crack roving center, will be absent, however. The opening game of the season will be against Boston university, Oct. 1.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Sept. 6.—Light practice was scheduled for the University of Pennsylvania football squad today, in training here. The men were to have a run on the beach and in the afternoon were to drill on the lawn of the hotel at which they are quartered.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR LOCAL K. OF C. TEAM

The Lowell K. of C. defeated the Malden K. of C. Saturday afternoon at Spalding park, score 8 to 5. Davidson, the Lowell pitcher, performed wonderfully throughout the game. In the last inning he slowed up somewhat but was never in danger. The local batsmen were there with the old wallop and they bunched their hits in a way that brought across the maximum number of runs.

In Lowell's half of the first inning the first runs came across. Harris walked, stole second and came home on Foye's hit to left centre. Daly hit to right and then Sullivan made a home run. Three runs had scored in the inning. In the second Lowell got another when Braxon walked, and Harris and Foye both singled. Three more registered for the home team in the sixth.

In the fourth a three-bagger by Leary sent Coughlin scampering home with the visitors' first run and in the seventh Queen came home when Lowell infielders erred. In the ninth Berube tripled. Cassell, the next man up, duplicated but was out at home when he tried to stretch it to a homer. The score:

SINGLE G. AND PETER MANNING IN RACE

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 6—A special race between Single G, the season's best pacer, and Peter Manning, the premier trotter of the Grand Circuit tracks, was the feature of today's card at the Charter Oak Park track meeting. Followers of harness racing were keyed up with anticipation of a battle royal. The only drawback early in the day was the dubious weather outlook. The morning skies were drab in color and the wind favored rain. The track, judging from yesterday's racing, is fast. The first of the two heats has been set for 4 p. m.

The other races on the card are to be the Whirlwind purse of $4000 for 2.04 pacers, three heats, with 10 entries; the Nutmeg purse of $2000, for two year old trotters, 18 entries, and the 2.14 trot for $1200, three heats, with 23 horses named.

SOME JOB TO FIGURE CUTS IN KILBANE-FRUSH BOUT

CLEVELAND, Sept. 6.—The bird that figures up income taxes for a living is a piker alongside the gent who'll divvy up the proceeds of the Kilbane-Frush fight here Sept. 17.

For the net gate is to be cut so many ways it'll make boarding house pie slices look like a whole bakery.

All because there's a Wall street vein somewhere under the gray hairs of Champ Johnny Kilbane. Said he to Sammy Harris, manager of Danny Frush:

"Find a promoter who will pay me fifty thousand bucks and I'll fight your man."

Sammy straightway went out to find a daddy who could figure in five numbers, the heaviest pile of coin ever offered outside the heavy class.

There was Sam Deutsch, who could count out of his money bags forty thousand smackers. Johnny was consulted and articles were drawn up. Frush signed. Kilbane stalled.

Then appeared Tommy McGinty, who could raise the ante. He said sixty thousand simoleans—and Johnny signed his articles. In a hurry.

The promoters, each with a one-man fight on his hands, got into a wrangle. The boxing commission ruled that Detuesch, first on the ground, should have first call. But McGinty stood aloof—and Kilbane's name was on his articles while Deutschs were blank.

A council of war was held at which Deutsch and his friends and McGinty and his friends agreed to stage the affair together.

So Johnny will fight for $60,000. Frush will fight for $2500, and the promoters will—well, who can tell what promoters will do, anyhow?

BOSTON ALL STARS DEFEAT ABBOTS

In an exciting game the Abbot Worsted team of Graniteville was defeated by the Boston All Stars yesterday afternoon at Abbot park, score 11 to 8. Dempsey and Connell of the Boston team covered themselves with glory by knocking out home runs. From the eighth inning until the 13th the score remained tie, but in the 13th the visitors succeeded in pushing three runs across, thereby winning the game.

SOCCER GAME

The Abbott Worsted Co. soccer team defeated the American Woolen company of Lawrence Sunday afternoon at Abbot field in Forge Village, score, 3 to 0. The lineup and summary of the game are as follows:

TOMMY GIBBONS DEFEATS O'DOWD

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 6—Tommy Gibbons, light-heavyweight of St. Paul, scored a technical knockout over Dan O'Dowd of New York in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout yesterday. Gibbons had the New Yorker out on his feet, when the police stopped the fight.

Gibbon's victory over O'Dowd yesterday marks the 13th consecutive knockout victory for the St. Paul boxer.

Both Wilson and Downey Claim Middleweight Championship

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Johnny Wilson of Boston and Bryan Downey of Cleveland, both still claimed the title of middleweight boxing champion of the world today, despite the fact they had their second fling at settling ownership of the crown in Tex Rickard's big arena at Jersey City, yesterday.

They fought 12 tame rounds, without an official decision, which is prohibited by the laws of New Jersey. Downey won the majority unofficial decision of the newspaper experts—but Wilson still holds the Rickard belt emblematic of the championship. Rickard previously had announced the belt would change hands only in case of a knockout. The fight did not even develop a knockdown.

Wilson, however, hasn't yet collected his share of the purse. The Jersey boxing commission instructed Rickard to withhould it pending an investigation of Wilson's ring tactics, which met with boos and cries of "Stalling" from the crowd. Downey forced the fighting most of the way, and was given the unofficial verdict in four of the 12 rounds. Wilson was credited with three and the others were declared even.

The argument over who was middleweight champion started recently in Cleveland, when the fighters met for the first time. In that battle Downey floored the titleholder twice, and claimed Wilson was down for 13 seconds but that the referee slowed the count to save Wilson. The referee later gave Wilson the decision on a foul, but the Cleveland boxing commission and the Ohio state body announced they recognized Downey as champion, supporting his knockout claim.

Downey entered the ring at 4.12 o'clock, his injured nose covered with a plaster. Wilson followed a minute later. Both were greeted with a ripple of applause. The referee ordered both fighters to take the tape off their hands for inspection. Both fighters were wearing adhesive tape instead of the required layer of bandages.

The men then wound their hands in the soft cotton bandages as required by the New Jersey boxing commission. The referee was Jim Savage of Newark.

The weights were announced as: Wilson, the champion, Boston, 159 pounds; and Bryan Downey of Cleveland, O., the challenger, 154½ pounds.

Thirty-eight thousand persons occupied seats in the great pine bowl to witness the fight.

All the rear seats in the arena were vacant and the crowd appeared but a handful compared to that which witnessed the Dempsey-Carpentier fray on July 2.

There were many women present.

The New Jersey boxing commission will decide next Thursday afternoon whether Wilson's guarantee of $35,000 will be held up further.

"Wilson's unsatisfactory work prompted our action," said Charles McNair, a member of the commission. "He led 11 times in 12 rounds."

GOLF RESULTS OVER THE WEEK-END

Prizes for the best net scores in the 54-hole tournament at the Mt. Pleasant golf links over the week-end to A. E. Howard, Benton Mills, Adam Myrick and F. D. Langevin. The tournament brought out an exceptionally large number of entries, but there were many no-cards.

At the Vesper Country club links, Thomas Southam was declared the winner in the best selected 18-hole competition.

FIRST CALL FOR FOOTBALL PRACTICE

First call for practice for the Indians seconds football team has been issued for 7.30 o'clock this evening at Fisher's field. The manager of the team reports that he expects a ripping season this year and that he will play any team in the Indians' class.

NEW LAKEVIEW PARK

The experiment of dancing instruction at Lakeview has been a very definite success. Under direction of Miss L. Isabelle Ferrin, classes have been conducted Wednesdays and Fridays. Pupils have been numerous, and they have been apt. Just how much progress has been made in their instruction will be made known tomorrow afternoon and evening when Miss Ferrin will conduct a pageant. To this the general public is cordially invited. Meanwhile, Lakeview's general attractions will continue through September.

HUDSON TEAM DEFEATED

Saturday afternoon at Abbott park, Grantieville, the Abbott Worsted company baseball team defeated the Hudson team, 8 to 5. The victory gave the Abbott team the series since it was the second straight win out of a possible three games. Senior, formerly of the Fitchburg New England league team, was in the box for the Hudson team. Ernest Williams twirled for the Abbott Worsted nine.

For National Unemployment Conference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Plans for the coming national unemployment conference to be held here this month, were understood today to be under consideration by administration officials.

Big Fire at Wentworth, N. H.

WENTWORTH, N. H., Sept. 6—Two stores and seven houses in the center of the town were destroyed by a fire which started here early today. The fire threatened to spread to other buildings and help was summoned from nearby towns. No one was reported injured. The cause of the fire, which started in the general store of H. F. Pero, has not been determined.

Barnes Defeats Hutchison

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—Annual competitions for a silver cup between the open golf champions of the United States and Great Britain will be suggested to the United States Golf Association by the Soundview Golf club where Jim Barnes, United States champion, yesterday defeated Jock Hutchison, holder of the British title by 5 and 4.

Officials of the club said today they hoped the trophy would be made as much of a fixture in golf as the Davis cup is in tennis.

World's Conference of Methodists

LONDON, Sept. 6. (By the Associated Press.)—The fifth world's conference of Methodists opened formally here this evening. The 500 delegates, 300 of whom are Americans, will hear the opening sermon by the Rev. S. P. Rose of Montreal.

espoused the cause of the struggling colonies and hastened to their support. He sought no selfish end and asked no pay; but found his reward in the thanks of congress and the undying affection of generations of American citizens whose gratitude has been and always will be suitably shown on all appropriate occasions. Not only did he render brilliant personal military service, but through his instrumentality much needed financial assistance and reinforcements of troops were obtained for the Americans. Our indebtedness to him is eternal.

Historic Mutual Service

"Similarly, nearly 150 years after, these United States, grown to a nation of more than one hundred million free men, women and children, disclaiming any material advantages for themselves, sent armies of their youth and gave largely of their wealth, that liberty and that freedom which Lafayette cherished and espoused should be assured to France. We are pleased to believe and we know that these armies took no mean part in securing that ultimate victory by which the integrity of France and human rights were preserved. By their prowess, their dauntless courage and their resolute valor, they checked the German advance at Chateau-Thierry and Belleau Wood in the second battle of the Marne and started that memorable retreat of the German hordes which a few months later ended in final defeat.

"The friendly and cordial relations which exist between the United States and France, do not therefore rest upon mere sentimentality or selfish interests; but rather are they built on the firm foundation of historic mutual service which cannot be shaken."

Secretary Hughes' Tribute

Secretary Hughes said:

"I deem it most fitting that there should be associated with this celebration the observance of the anniversary of the first battle of the Marne for through that battle, turning seemingly irretrievable retreat into a magnificent victory, the preservation of those great principles of human liberty and rights which Lafayette cherished was ultimately assured.

"It is further gratifying that in this celebration the friendship and good will which we entertain for France will be appropriately emphasized. The relations between the two countries are built on a solid foundation of service and of mutual helpfulness in the cause of free institutions."

Ambassador Herrick cabled:

"Lafayette and the Marne are names inscribed forever on our banner, on the banner of France and on the hearts of our citizens and hers.

"We rejoice that we stood beside France for liberty at the second Marne and gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness of Lafayette and to France, our ally in the war for our independence and the defender of liberty in the dark days of 1914."

From President Millerand of France came this message:

"In commemorating the double anniversary of the birth of Lafayette and of the battle of the Marne, the American people shows its attachment to the principles which have made its independence."

Premier Briand sent the following:

"In the schools of France the pages in which our history merges with yours are read to the children. They learn therein the gratitude which every Frenchman owes to the American heroes who died at St. Mihiel, at Belleau Wood, at Chateau-Thierry."

Ambassador Jusserand sent the following:

"The events of immense importance which Washington and Lafayette could never have foreseen, confirmed and made even safer for all time their life's work, which was American independence and Franco-American friendship."

Marshal Foch cabled that the double anniversary was "a reminder of the mighty bonds which will ever unite our two countries."

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 6.—The firefighters are drawing their first free breath since the forest fires in Milford, Bradley and Oldtown became a real menace on Saturday. Rains that vary from light to heavy showers, with a reversal of the winds have checked the fires and will extinguish them if they continue, with lack of strong winds to fan the embers again into flames.

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—The compromise agreement between the Mexican government and American oil interests, announced last week, resulted in buoyant advances of some Mexican oil shares at the opening of today's stock market session. The first quotation for Mexican Petroleum showed a gain of 4 points from last Friday's final price, this soon being increased to 6½ points. Pan-American Petroleum gained 2½ points. General Asphalt 1½ and other prominent oils, domestic and foreign, advanced from large fractions to one point. Further extensive short covering was noted in Bethlehem and Crucible Steels, Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker, Kelly-Springfield, American International, Sears Roebuck, Southern Pacific, Retail Stores and the coppers, all showing marked improvement.

Oils continued to dominate the market during the active forenoon. The Mexican group eased slightly, probably as a result of profit-taking, but secondary oils were brought forward. Baldwin, Bethlehem Harvester and Sears Roebuck were among the prominent stocks to strengthen their early position. Butte & Superior, Virginia Carolina Chemical, Kelsey Wheel and International Paper featured the less conspicuous issues at gains of two t ofour points. Rails, such as Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading and "Soo" were distinctly strong, but the demand for transportations was relatively limited. Call money opened at 5½ per cent.

Activity slackened visibly during the mid-session, but prices made further upward progress. Shippings, sugars and tobaccos were added to the strong issues of the morning. Rubbers and related specialties were benefitted by the increased strength of motors and equipments.

Oils, steels and chemicals led the list to higher levels in the afternoon, but profit-taking precipitated reaction of one to two points from best quotations. The closing was easy.

WILL PAY "EXTRAS"

City Council Takes Action on Central Bridge Matter

At its first regular meeting in more than a month, the municipal council voted this morning to pay the Engineering and Construction Co. of Boston $3500 of the $5078.51 which the company claims is owed it for "extras" on the Central bridge during the month of July.

The question of the right of the company to charge for several items included in this particular bill has been a source of contention for the past few weeks. Finally it was decided to appoint a special committee consisting of the city solicitor, the commissioner of streets and the city engineer to confer with representatives of the construction company in an attempt to settle the bill.

As a result of several conferences, this committee made a report to the municipal council this morning recommending the payment of $3500.

With the exception of the bridge matter, there was little business of importance at the meeting. A large amount of routine business, which had accumulated during the past month, was disposed of.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson was absent when it came time to call to order and Commissioner George E. Marchand presided.

After hearings, the following petitions were referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand: Lowell Electric Light corporation, pole locations; rear 37 Albert street, Locke street, Cushing street, A street, Austin street and Westchester street.

At the request of a representative of the company, the Massachusetts Oil Refining Co. was given leave to withdraw on its petition for a garage license at Tanner and Howard streets.

After hearings, the following garage petitions were referred to Commissioner Salmon: Charles T. Cunningham, 95-103 Boynton; William E. W. Brien, 32-34 Bellevue; Cyrus Fidler, 349 Beacon; Lowell Welding Co., 37 Branch; William Drapeau, 17 Mt. Washington; David Martineau, 79 Gershom avenue; J. E. Felton, 448 Gorham; Philip Mclaughlin, 38 Keene; Lowell Buick Co., East Merrimack and Davidson streets; Matilda W. Brien, 156 Chelmsford; Louis Bordeleau, rear 658 Broadway; Burnham & Davis Lumber Co., 156 Western ave.; Owen Queenan, 37 Merrill st.; Charles Sharf, 272 Pawtucket st.; Oswald Turcotte, Whiting st.; C. H. Peard, 8 Durant ave.; Patrick F. Mahoney, 19 West Fourth.

The petition of the Nowell Electric Light corporation for permission to abandon two poles in Fairfax street was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

The petition of Joseph M. Carroll, et al., for a sewer was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Hearings will be held Sept. 27 on the following petitions: Charles S. Winslow, garage, 135 Bellevue; Nellie Murphy, garage, 92 Baldwin; Merrimack Square garage, Amory street.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Telephone & Telegraph Co. to locate one pole in 11th street was referred for a hearing Sept. 20.

The quarterly report of the license commission was ordered placed on file.

City Solicitor William D. Regan was instructed to attend a hearing to be given by the state department of public utilities at the state house Sept. 22 on the matter of pending legislation having to do with traffic regulations.

At the request of Haven G. Hill it was voted to instruct the mayor to execute a new deed whereby George W. Healey becomes owner of the property formerly used as the Westford street fire house. The original deed, executed a year ago, has one section unsatisfactory to Mr. Hill.

Commissioner Marchand was authorized to issue a requisition on the purchasing agent for the sale of 13 old furnaces taken from the basement of the high school in Kirk street.

Adjourned at 11.02 until Friday at 10 a. m.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

INTEGRITY LODGE GIVES DEMONSTRATION

An excellent demonstration of degree work was given in this city Saturday evening, by the degree team of Loyal Integrity lodge of Fall River. The exhibition was held in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street, in the presence of members of the five local lodges of the Manchester Unity. Later in the evening, the doors were thrown open to members of Victoria lodge of Odd Ladies and a varied entertainment program was given, those taking part being John Nickerson of Merrimack Valley lodge, Lisle Sewell of Excelsior lodge, Clayton brothers, Herbert Colwell of Excelsior lodge, and A. W. Henderson of Integrity lodge.

Among the distinguished guests present were the present and past officers of the Grand lodge and Massachusetts district. Grand Secretary J. S. B. Clark of Fall River, Provincial Secretary George W. Emsley of Lowell, Deputy Provincial Grand Master Walter Thomas of New Bedford, Deputy Provincial Grand Lady Mary E. Siddell of Lowell, Provincial Correspondent Secretary Harold J. Wentzell, Provincial Treasurer George W. Rockett of Malden, Past Provincial Grand Master Colin McSulyre of North Adams, P.P.G.M. George Emsley, Sr., P.P.G.M. Edward Maclay, P.P.G.M. James Smith, all of Lowell.

A light repast was served by the members of Victoria lodge of Odd Ladies of Lowell, after which dancing was enjoyed. On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, a soccer football game between the members of Unity lodge staff of Fall River and Lowell lodge members resulted in the score of 5 to 2 in favor of the Lowell team.

The success of the affair was due to the following committee: P.G.M. George W. Emsley, P.G. Samuel Kershaw, P.G. Lisle Sewell of Excelsior lodge, P.G. John Everett, P.G. John Foster of Wamesit lodge, P.G. George Maclay P.G. Sidney Fryer, P.G. William Friend of Integrity lodge, P.G. Robert Patterson, P.G. Fred Walker and P.G. James Broadbent of Merrimack lodge.

LOWELL BOY WINS RACE AT VALLEY FALLS, R.I.

Albert Nebes of Lowell won the Sen. Reed Cup, by finishing first in the two-mile annual road race, held under the auspices of the K. of C. at Valley Falls, R. I., yesterday. There were 11 starters, including many prominent runners. Nebes was given three-fourths of a minute handicap, being third from scratch. He covered the distance in 1 minute, 61 and 1-2 seconds, which is considered good time for the course. The course is over a very rough and hilly road, with the final two laps within the park.

RING SPINNER FIXERS' HOLD FIELD DAY

Close to 1000 people attended the first annual field day of the Ring Spinner Fixers' union, which was held yesterday on the Aiken street grounds in West Centralville. The affair was successful in every way and proved very enjoyable to both children and adults. The day's program opened at 10 o'clock with a baseball game between the married and unmarried members of the union, and this proved a feature of the day. The contest was a keen one throughout and so close that ten innings had to be played, the single men winning by a score of 8 to 7.

In the course of the afternoon numerous sporting events, which included races for boys and girls, fat men, women and girls as well as interesting contests were carried out and suitable prizes were awarded the winners. At noon luncheon was served on the grounds by the committee in charge, which consisted of the following: Albert Couture, chairman; David Auclair, Frank Davis, Henri Fortier, Fred Labelle. John Mahoney had charge of the sporting events.

GRAND JURY HOLDS SESSION HERE

The grand jury held a session at the local courthouse this morning with Assistant District Attorney Frank Goldman acting as prosecuting officer. The jury will report next Friday at East Cambridge. Among the Lowell cases heard this morning were the following: John T. and Herbert C. Lough, breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny; James A. Grand, statutory offence; Bertram E. Clark, statutory offence and breaking and entering and larceny; John Pineault, breaking and entering and larceny; David Duchesne, breaking and entering and larceny; Harry Clappas, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon; Christos Nevuous, assault and battery; Edward Peredow, violation of motor law; Irving Leben and Samuel Dillinger, breaking and entering and larceny; Philip Deforest, breaking and entering and larceny; Alonzo Fadden, Cornelius O'Brien and James E. Murphy, robbery; Charles Dewires, non-support of wife.

BIG LABOR PARADE VIEWED BY 100,000

BOSTON, Sept. 6—About 4500 men and women, members of unions affiliated with the Boston Central Labor union, marched in yesterday's labor parade. More than 100,000 applauding spectators lined the route of the parade, along with the mayor of the city, the governor of the commonwealth and the representatives of the United States army and navy, who occupied reviewing stands.

The day was perfect for the marchers and while their number was not as large as in antebellum parades of organized labor, the lack was more than made up for by the beauty and originality of the floats which many of the unions had in line.

is left and marry her son to a wealthy society girl. Mary chafes under the parasitic conditions of her life and begs Phillip to leave. A child is born, however, and Mrs. Dominick, her motherly instincts aroused, begs them to stay on. Despite careful nursing, the child dies.

From this point on, the action becomes increasingly absorbing and the eventual happiness of Philip and Mary is the pleasing denouement. Miss Clayton seems more beautiful than ever in this production and her supporting cast is exceptionally capable.

"Footlights," the other big feature for the first half of the week, presents Elsie Ferguson in a most fascinating story of the stage. Miss Ferguson who has been termed the most beautifully dressed woman on the screen, considers this one of the most delightful roles of her career. She wears no less than 30 gowns in her role of an American girl impersonating a Russian actress. Dainty morning dresses, luxuriant gowns for afternoon and evening, filmy negligee and daring sport costumes constitute her wardrobe.

Other features of the Paramount week bill include a most entertaining comedy and the International News.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Lowell had its second "first night" of the season last evening, when the Opera House was the scene of the new stock company's opening. With Keith's already under way, the debut of the new players definitely completed the renewal of the city's theatrical life. The usual holiday audiences were present to greet the members of the stock company, and to find out "what they had." Apparently all were well pleased, both by the vehicle and by the manner in which it was handled by the cast.

"Adam and Eva," a comedy drama in three acts by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, had been selected as the initial attraction of the season. The piece is light and amusing, and was interpreted with success. Miss Grayce Scott and William Howard are leading woman and leading man respectively. Both are new to Lowell's playgoers, who testified yesterday to their approval of Manager J. W. Schaake's selections.

In order of their appearance, the cast was as follows:

James King, a rich man, Richard Castilla
Corinthia, his parlor maid, Marion Coogan
Clinton de Witt, his son-in-law, Clarence Chase
Julie de Witt, his eldest daughter, Mabel Griffith
Eva King, his youngest daughter, Grayce Scott
Dr. Jack Delamater, his neighbor, Jack Matthews
Uncle Horace Pilgrim, his cousin John Ravold
Adam Smith, his business manager William Howard
Lord Andrew Gordon, his would-be son-in-law ..... Kalman Matus

There is nothing very deep about "Adam and Eva." It is merely the customary fluffy comedy which gives an evening of relaxation and enjoyment, without imposing a tax upon the mental faculties. It is one of those pieces which depends for its success largely upon the dash and verve of the presenting company. Of course, Lowell's new stock company was on its mettle yesterday afternoon and evening, for first impressions are of importance in the theatre as elsewhere. Consequently, a pair of creditable performances were viewed.

Mr. Schaake addressed the audience last evening, between the second and third acts. He promised a well selected repertoire of plays, culled from the Broadway successes of the past season.

LEGAL NOTICES

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To Ella E. Lennon of Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, the principal on the bond, given to said Court by said Ella E. Lennon as administratrix of the estate of Thomas E. Lennon, late of Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, deceased, and to all persons interested in the estate of said deceased.

Whereas, Mary E. Lennon and Katherine L. Welch, sureties on said bond, have presented to said Court their petition praying that they may be discharged from all further responsibility as such surety and that said Ella E. Lennon may be ordered to furnish a new bond:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the thirteenth day of September, A. D., 1921, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to the said Ella E. Lennon, fourteen days, at least, before said Court, and by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of August in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Phillas Cote of Dracut in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to the Central Savings Bank, a Corporation established under the laws of said Commonwealth and located at Lowell in said County, dated May 4, 1920, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County, Book 624, Page 422, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, on the premises hereinafter described on Wednesday, the fourteenth day of September, A. D., 1921, at eleven thirty o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described substantially as follows: A certain piece or parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in said Dracut, on the northeasterly side of Lakeview avenue, and being Lots Four (4) and Five (5) on a plan of land entitled "Walbrook, Dracut, Mass., May, 1899, owned by Wm. J. Coughlin," recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County, Book of Plans 34, Plan 47, and bounded: Southwesterly by said Lakeview avenue fifty (50) feet; northwesterly by Lot 6 on said plan one hundred (100) feet; Northeasterly by Lot 95 on said plan fifty (50) feet; and Southwesterly by Lot 3 on said plan one hundred (100) feet. Containing five thousand (5000) square feet of land and the said contents and any or all of said measurements more or less. Being all and the same premises to said Phillas Cote conveyed by David S. Bellehumeur by deed dated March 1, 1917, and recorded in said Registry, Book 565, Page 138.

The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to any and all unpaid taxes, municipal or other assessments and tax sales which may be due or to become due thereon. The purchaser will be required to pay $300 in cash at the time and place of sale and the balance in 10 days from the day of sale at 12 o'clock noon at said Bank.

THE CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Middlesex, ss.

Lowell, Aug. 22, A. D., 1921.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday, the eighth day of October, A. D., 1921, at 10 o'clock a. m. at my office, 31 Central block, 53 Central street, in Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, all the right, title and interest that James Thomas of Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, had not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the eighteenth day of October, A. D., 1919, at 4 o'clock and five minutes in the afternoon, being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, bounded: commencing at the corner of a passageway fifteen feet wide on Lewis street, and running northerly on said Lewis street forty-five feet; thence running easterly on land now or late of Mary Davis fifty-five feet; thence running southerly by lot eleven about forty-five feet to the passage-way; thence running westerly by said passage-way about fifty-five feet to the point of beginning; be the said measurements more or less or however otherwise bounded or described, and right of passage over said passageway. Being the same premises conveyed to James Thomas and Charisola Thomas by Nickolas D. Spiropoulos, executor, by deed dated June 9, 1919, and recorded with Middlesex North District Registry Deeds, Book 610, Page 413.

BERNARD F. GATELY,

FIRST WEDDING IN NEW ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The first wedding to be performed in the new St. Andrew's church in North Billerica took place yesterday morning when Mr. Paul J. LeLacheur, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. LeLacheur and Miss Gertrude Rita Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Mahoney two very popular young people of the North village, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The marriage was solemnized at a nuptial mass celebrated at 9.45 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. David J. Murphy. As the bridal party entered the church, Miss Etta Hoar, the organist, played Lohengrin's wedding march and as a recessional she played Mendelssohn's wedding march. At the opening of the service Miss Kathleen Jennings sang "O Salutaris." At the close of the mass Miss Jennings and Mr. Cummings sang in a duet Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The bride wore ivory satin with court-en-train, trimmed with chantilly lace; a veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Hortense LeLacheur, a sister of the groom who wore pink silk organdie trimmed with tulle, and picture hat to match. The best man was Mr. Louis J. Mahoney, a brother of the bride. Little Miss Harriet Mahoney sister of the bride, who acted as flower girl, was attired in blue silk organdie with pink mallne hat and carried a basket of sweet peas.

At the close of the mass the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents in Wilson street, where a wedding breakfast was served by Caterer Lydon to immediate relatives of the couple. Later Mr. and Mrs. LeLacheur, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on an automobile honeymoon trip to the White mountains. Upon their return they will journey south and will make their home at West Palm Beach, Fla., where the groom expects to start in business. Mrs. LeLacheur has been prominent in social circles of North Billerica while Mr. LeLacheur is a popular member of Billerica Post 115, American Legion, having served in the navy aboard the U. S. S. Pennsylvania during the world war.

THEY SAID I WAS TOO OLD TO GET BACK BEAUTY BUT—

I FOOLED THEM ALL—

I Did It With Kijja—A Remarkable Beauty Secret of Old Egypt—It Will Increase the Beauty of Any Woman of Any Age—Girls or Grandmothers

One fortunate day I read about a remarkable beauty secret of old Egypt called Kijja and I told some of my friends I thought I would try it, but they laughed at me and said I was too old, that women of my age who were so wrinkled and had such bad complexions could not hope to do anything for themselves. But again I read the following:—

"The very hot, dry climate in which the Egyptians lived and the scorching windstorms from off the desert were very trying on a woman's skin and complexion and these unfortunate climatic conditions made it absolutely necessary for them to search diligently for products to protect the skin and beautify their complexions or run the risk of losing their beauty. The wonderful success of the Egyptians in this respect is proven by the fact that notwithstanding their unfavorable geographical location the women have always been noted for the marvelous beauty of their skin and complexions and Egypt's great success in the art of embalming (a lost art to us) shows that in some respects she reached scientific heights which have never been duplicated in modern times. Cleopatra, even up to the time of her death, appears to have been just as fascinating as in youth."

After reading the above I went out and bought a bottle of Kijja. The first night I applied it to my face I was delighted and astonished. I had never looked so well before; and after using Kijja for three weeks—well you ought to have seen me. I fixed myself up and went out to meet my old friends who had laughed at me, and you ought to have seen the look of astonishment on their faces, I certainly fooled them all. Then thye wanted to know how I did it, they had forgotten all about Kijja, and I left them guessing but now I feel I should tell the world so that others may benefit thereby.

By request the name of the writer of the above is withheld, but you can try Kijja, on an absolute guarantee, that if it does not produce sufficiently successful results in three days to prove absolutely that its continued use for a short time will marvelously enhance your beauty and make you look years younger, the manufacturers will refund your money.

Kijja (pronounced Ke-zzha) a remarkable Beauty secret of old Egypt, is for sale in Lowell by Green's and other drug stores and department stores.

LOWELL GAS COKE

"BEST BY TEST"

Keeps the House Warm
Keeps the Basement Clean

The popularity of Gas Coke is not due alone to its unequalled qualities as a heat producer. It may also be attributed to the fact that Gas Coke is by all odds the cleanest of all solid fuels.

Buy Heat—Not Waste

when you purchase fuel. You will get more heat and less waste in Gas Coke because Gas Coke is practically pure carbon, is smokeless and sootless, burns down to a clean white ash.
